Astronauts Feted With Coast-To-Coast Program

Moon Visitors Nixon's Guests At State Dinner

LOS ANGELES (AP) — America's lunar astronaut heroes receive unprecedented tribute tonight as President Nixon's guests of honor at a glittering formal state dinner.

The dinner begins at 8:30 p.m., with the entrance of Nixon and astronauts Neil Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., and Michael Collins.

It ends an estimated two hours later, in the flag-decked, rust-colored ballroom of the Century Plaza Hotel, with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Sharing the head table with the Apollo 11 crew will be the President and his wife, Vice President and Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew and the astronauts' wives.

A celebrity-only list of guests coming to dinner includes an array of government leaders including 44 of the 50 governors, diplomats from 86 nations, aviation and space pioneers such as Charles A. Lindbergh and Hollywood stars.

The Western White House in nearby San Clemente described the affair, to be televised internationally, as the largest formal state dinner ever held for guests from the general public.

Never has such a crowd of celebrities—1,440—gathered in Los Angeles at one time, said a Los Angeles police department spokesman. There was security to match.

The spokesman said men were being deployed around the hotel in the event of trouble during a planned march by a group calling itself the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam.

No trouble was expected, he said, "but there's always a chance of something going astray."

Nixon Asks Congress To Share Taxes With States

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) —President Nixon asked Congress today to start sharing income tax revenues with the states at a set amount each year with no strings attached.

The states could use the money as they see fit after passing on a fixed portion to city governments.

Nixon envisioned that most of the money would go to education.

And he saw the whole project as a means of "shifting the balance of political power from Washington back to the country and the people" and "narrowing the distance between the people and the government agencies dealing with their problems."

"Because of budget stringencies," Nixon said, the program would start out modestly with $500 million. But it would get up to $5 billion annually by mid-1975.

Nixon said he was keeping a campaign pledge with these proposals and also was expressing the feelings of the majority of Americans who, he declared, "no longer support the continued expansion of federal services."

The President said the revenue sharing proposal also would "provide encouragement and the necessary resources for local and state officials to exercise leadership in solving their own problems." He predicted it would "restore strength and vigor to local and state governments."

In the past three decades, Nixon said, there has been "enormous federal commitment in new men, new ideas and new dollars from Washington but the problems of the cities deepened rapidly into crisis."

The federal government promised so much and delivered so little, he said, that there has been a loss in faith in its efficiency.

He explained his revenue sharing plan as follows:

1.--The size of the total fund to be shared should be a stated percentage of personal taxable income each year. For fiscal 1971 it would be a one third of one per cent. And it would rise in future years to a regular constant figure.

2—The allocations of the total annual fund among the 50 states would be on the basis of each state's share of national population. As an incentive to expand its own tax resources, a state whose revenue effort is above the national average would get a bonus above its basic per capita portion of revenue sharing.

3—The amount the states must share with local government units would be established by a set formula. A local government's share would be based on its proportion of total local government revenue raised in the state.

Ticker Tape Parade Leads Off Festivities

NEW YORK (AP)—America's moon voyagers came to a tumultuous hero's welcome in New York today, touched down at the foot of Wall Street and began their triumphal and historic motorcade through the city as ticker tape swirled in the air.

Tugboats dotted the East River as the astronauts arrived in Manhattan by helicopter after landing at Kennedy Airport at 9:45 a.m., EDT, the start of a massive, cross-country day of celebration that would take them westward later to Chicago and Los Angeles.

This was no Sea of Tranquility they came to on this beautiful, warm and sunny day—it was New York at its fullest, its throngs hailing the moonmen whom earthbound Americans soared with in spirit on one of the epic adventures of the ages.

Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, 39; Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., 39, and Michael Collins, 38, were joined in their journey through the city and across the nation by their wives and children.

Great Moment

"This is one of New York City's great moments," said Mayor John V. Lindsay in a statement.

"We have honored many voyagers before—men who sailed around the world, men who flew alone across the ocean.

"But today we honor three men who forged the first link between earth and the stars. Today we honor three men who have affirmed the best we have within us.

"All that New York has given today—its cheers, its praise, its medals, its glory—is dwarfed by what you three men have done."

Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins climbed into a limousine with Lindsay and Dr. Thomas Paine, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, at the Wall Street Heliport for the ride to City Hall.

The astronauts waved to onlookers. Behind them, fireboats sprayed fountains of water into the air. The tugboats sounded their horns in welcome.

Oddly, there was silence at first, as the moonmen stepped onto the pad from their Marine Corps helicopter. Then the horns and whistles began. The silence turned to lusty cheering as the motorcade began moving slowly through Wall Street amid the traditional ticker tape.

Huge Banner

The arrival on Lower Manhattan was the first chance for the public to see the astronauts. Members of the public had been asked not to go to Kennedy Airport to see them and only 300 airport workers were on hand there to cheer.

A torrent of ticker tape came from windows along the parade route, becoming a flood of paper on the ground. Police stood up to their ankles in ticker tape and confetti along Broadway.

Line Streets

Cheering, shouting, happy New Yorkers lined the streets six, seven, eight deep on both sides to see the men who went to the moon. A blimp hovered overhead.

Thousands wearing Apollo 11 buttons, carrying cameras, waved American flags. The sounds of "This is My Country," by the U.S. Navy Band went into the air along with the ticker tape.

Rice and small dots of paper punchings floated down, and so did computer cards.

Just before 10:30 a.m., the motorcade picked up speed to keep to its tight schedule for the 3 hour, 15 minute trip through the city. The astronauts had arrived about 15 minutes early.

Policemen jogged alongside the motorcade as it pulled up to the City Hall area, where excited children, the children of city officials, lined gray police barricades.

Ladder Arch

Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins, sprinkled with confetti, stepped into City Hall, lined with a red carpet, leaving behind them littered limousines.

"How was the trip to the moon? shouted a spectator.

"It was wonderful," Arm-

China Reports Soviet Intrusion

TOKYO (AP) — Fighting broke out between Soviet and Chinese troops today on the frontier of Sinkiang Province, home of Peking's nuclear arsenal and missile-testing grounds.

Red China charged that several hundred Soviet troops under cover of two helicopters invaded Sinkiang and there were many Chinese casualties.

The Soviet government a little later charged that Chinese troops penetrated Russian territory and there were casualties. The nationality of these was not stated.

The official Soviet news agency Tass reported that the Chinese were thrown back into their own territory and two of their officers were detained. It said the clash occurred near Semipalatinsk in Kazakhstan across from Sinkiang.

A Chinese-language broadcast by Radio Peking said more than 10 tanks and armored cars were among the forces that penetrated more than a mile into Sinkiang, site of Red China's nuclear testing grounds.

Chinese border troops went into action and in the following skirmish several Chinese border patrolmen were killed or injured and several Chinese troops were encircled, the broadcast claimed.

Then the Russians sent in more troops, the broadcast continued, and further clashes were expected.

The fighting centered in the Tiehliekti area of Yumin County on Sinkiang's northwestern border with the Soviet Union, Radio Peking said.

The Foreign Ministry in Peking lodged a protest with the Soviet Embassy, denouncing the "intrusion" and demanding the immediate withdrawal of the Russian troops. Otherwise the Soviet union must face the consequences of the action, the note said.

Sinkiang Province, in the northwest corner of China, long has been a trouble spot. The Russians have accused the Chinese of initating border incidents there. The Red Chinese have leveled similar charges and accused the Russians of kidnaping residents in the province.

Lennon Sisters' Father Killed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William H. Lennon has been killed by a mysterious gunman only weeks from achieving his greatest ambition—to see his four singing daughters in their own television show.

The 54-year-old father of 11 was shot down Tuesday at the Marina Del Rey golf range, where he was an instructor.

Police investigators, who said they had no clues to the killer's motive or identity, received this account from witnesses:

Lennon was standing by his car when a man carrying a rifle approached. An argument took place, followed by a struggle for the gun.

A shot went wild. Lennon, shouting "Help!", started running across the parking lot. The killer, a tall, bearded white man about 35, fired twice and Lennon fell. The gunman walked closer and fired a third time.

The killer, wearing blue trousers and a green sweater, fled in a small blue and white car.

The new Lennon Sisters series, to be aired over ABC-TV Friday evenings starting Sept. 26, will be called "The Lennon Sisters' Hour." A spokesman said the first five episodes were already in tape.

News In Brief

SAIGON (AP)—Viet Cong attacks dropped off more than 90 per cent today after the heaciest fighting in three months left more than 1,500 of the enemy and more than 200 allied soldiers dead.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has pronounced the United States prepared to consider a ban on the testing of advanced multiple warhead missiles in arms control talks with the Soviet Union. Nixon made the statement in a July 9th letter to Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass.

DALLAS (AP) — The American Bar Association has adopted a new code of ethics for lawyers and proposed a coast-to-cost overhaul of the way automobile accident claims are settled in court.

Fair Skies And Crowds Favor Big State Fair

Moving into its third day, the U.P. State Fair will on Thursday bring to the free grandstand both afternoon and evening the LeRoy Van Dyke Show, while at the barns the Junior Show division judging will continue in competition for ribbons and premium awards.

Favored by fair weather so far in the week, the Fair's outstanding program has been rewarded with crowds throughout the grounds.

Judging schedule for the Junior Show starts at 8:30 in the morning on Thursday — even before the gates open to the public. Judging of Junior Dairy, Horse, and Beef will continue through the morning and afternoon.

Just as a reminder, here's the Fair's program highlights for the remainder of the week:

Thursday—Youth and Senior Citizen's Day; LeRoy Van Dyke show in front of the free grandstand afternoon and evening.

Friday — Governor's Day. Gov. William Milliken will be greeted at the Escanaba airport at 1:30, escorted to the Fair, where he will speak and then tour the grounds. Free grandstand: Sonny James and Connie Smith.

Saturday — Farmer's Day. Free grandstand at 1 p.m. and the horse pulling contest; stock car racing at 8 p.m., admission $1.50 general $2 reserved seats.

Sunday — Veteran's Day. Stock car races at 1 p.m., $1.50 general admission, $2 reserved; 8 p.m. free evening show with a grand finale of fireworks.

Satellite's Life Is 'Cliffhanger'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With its chances of survival rated "a real cliffhanger" for the next three to four weeks, a $12-million experimental satellite tumbled around earth today while engineers contemplated how to bring it under control.

Launched Tuesday, the 1,960-pound craft—called ATS 5 for fifth Applications Technology Satellite—ended up in the right orbit but on the wrong side of earth and began spinning end-over-end.

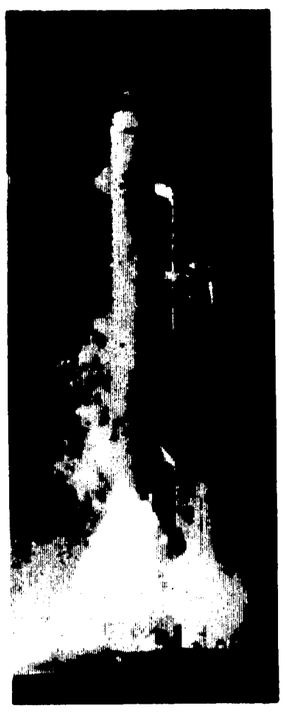

Despite the problems, Robert J. Darcey, chief of the ATS office at tte National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Goddard Space Flight Center, rated chances as "pretty damn good" that the spacecraft can be straightened out and shifted to its desired station over the Pacific 600 miles west of South America.

An attempt to regain control probably will not take place for two weeks, however, and another official predicted "it'll be a real cliffhanger" until then.

Packed with apparatus for 3 experiments including extendable booms nearly as long as a football field, the satellite was designed to test ideas for spacecraft of the future.

If successful, one of three communications experiments aboard the payload could pave the way for satellites to relay high-frequency radio signals between air traffic controllers and transocean jets and pinpoint the aircraft's location over areas out of range of ground-based radars.

The thin booms, which would make the spacecraft measure 253 feet long if fully extended, were to experiment with a theory that gravity can act on an appropriately shaped satellite to keep one side always toward earth, much as the same face of the moon always looks at this planet.

Registration For Autos Raised $1

LANSING (AP) — Michigan vehicle owners will be charged $2 for registration of ownership titles beginning Friday. Secretary of State James M. Hare estimated the $1 fee increase, authorized by the Legislature, would raise revenue for the State Highway Fund to some $5 million. Fee applications last year produced some $2.6 million Hare said.

Search On For Lansing Family

COPPER HARBOR (AP) — The Coast Guard today scoured a broad expanse of Lake Superior for three members of a Lansing family missing since Saturday in an 18-foot boat.

Missing were John Carver, 30; his wife, Elisa, 27, and their 6-year-old son, Christopher.

State Police said the Carvers were supposed to have ended a vacation trip Saturday and returned to Lansing. The family had taken the trip to isle Royale, located about 50 miles northwest of Copper Harbor in Lake Superior.

The family's fiber glass boat, which had a canopy and bore the name "Lady Elisa," was reported seen July 30 at Rock Harbor on the island. The Carvers had left for the island from Copper Harbor.

Authorities said the Carvers' automobile was found parked in Copper Harbor and that the car appeared to have been there for at least one week and possibly longer.

North Ireland Bans Parades

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Protestant government banned all marches and outdoor meetings today after a night of violence, but rioting continued in Londonderry.

Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark arranged a nationwide television address for tonight.

Casualties reached a total of 300 after a Protestant parade Tuesday touched off clashes between Roman Catholics and Protestants with police in the middle.

There was a brief lull this morning but then police faced charges from crowds in the xclusively Roman Catholic Bogside District who threw rocks and gasoline bombs.

Police replied with tear gas, using it for the first time in a civil disturbance here, but the rioters already were equipped with World War II gas masks dug out of attics. The crowds countered with ammonia and water jets from captured fire hoses.

Engineers Win Flower Award

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)— The Army Corps of Engineers, famous for building huge bridges, locks and other massive construction projects, got an award for flowers Tuesday at Sault Ste. Marie.

The city's Beautification Council presented its annual award to the gardeners at the Soo Locks Park, which is operated by the Corps of Engineers.

Sam Yorty To Welcome Heroes

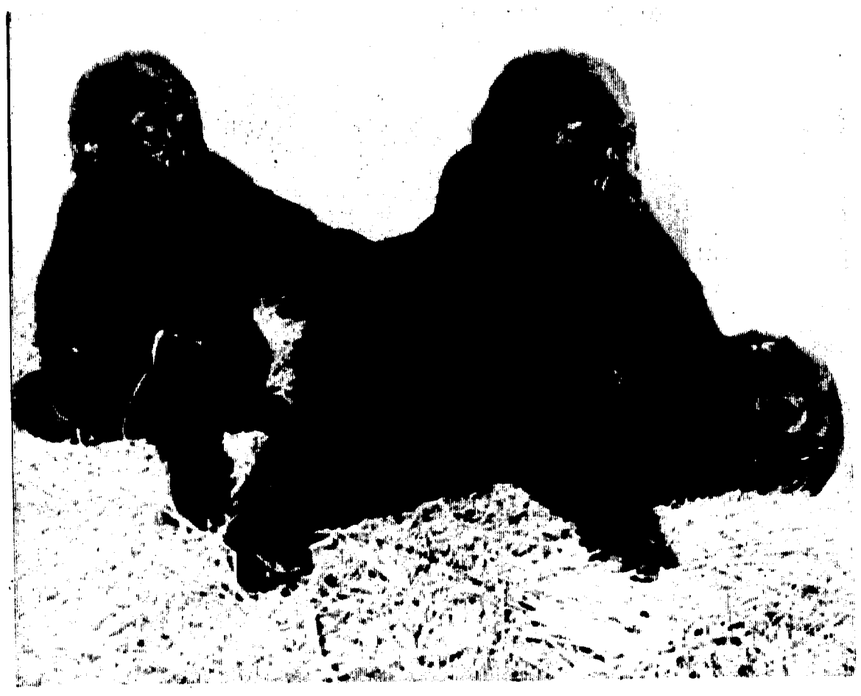

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Sam Yorty will welcome the Apollo 11 astronauts to Los Angeles on their scheduled arrival at international airport from Chicago at 9:30 p.m. EDT.

Space has been set aside for an audience of about 3,000 spectators at the airport. Each astronaut will be presented a city plaque by Yorty.

Helicopters will take the astronauts eight miles from the airport to the Century Plaza Hotel, site of the state dinner held in their honor.

Whistles Tooting

NEW YORK (AP) — The East River comes alive with the "hooting and tooting of whistles" from tugboats, Coast Guard craft and other vessels when the Apollo 11 astronauts touch down at the Wall Street heliport today. Fireboats spray streams of water into the air, too.

Search On For Lansing Family

COPPER HARBOR (AP) — The Coast Guard today scoured a broad expanse of Lake Superior for three members of a Lansing family missing since Saturday in an 18-foot boat.

Missing were John Carver, 30; his wife, Elisa, 27, and their 6-year-old son, Christopher.

State Police said the Carvers were supposed to have ended a vacation trip Saturday and returned to Lansing. The family had taken the trip to isle Royale, located about 50 miles northwest of Copper Harbor in Lake Superior.

The family's fiber glass boat, which had a canopy and bore the name "Lady Elisa," was reported seen July 30 at Rock Harbor on the island. The Carvers had left for the island from Copper Harbor.

Authorities said the Carvers' automobile was found parked in Copper Harbor and that the car appeared to have been there for at least one week and possibly longer.

North Ireland Bans Parades

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Protestant government banned all marches and outdoor meetings today after a night of violence, but rioting continued in Londonderry.

Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark arranged a nationwide television address for tonight.

Casualties reached a total of 300 after a Protestant parade Tuesday touched off clashes between Roman Catholics and Protestants with police in the middle.

There was a brief lull this morning but then police faced charges from crowds in the xclusively Roman Catholic Bogside District who threw rocks and gasoline bombs.

Police replied with tear gas, using it for the first time in a civil disturbance here, but the rioters already were equipped with World War II gas masks dug out of attics. The crowds countered with ammonia and water jets from captured fire hoses.

Engineers Win Flower Award

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—The Army Corps of Engineers, famous for building huge bridges, locks and other massive construction projects, got an award for flowers Tuesday at Sault Ste. Marie.

The city's Beautification Council presented its annual award to the gardeners at the Soo Locks Park, which is operated by the Corps of Engineers.

Sam Yorty To Welcome Heroes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Sam Yorty will welcome the Apollo 11 astronauts to Los Angeles on their scheduled arrival at international airport from Chicago at 9:30 p.m. EDT.

Space has been set aside for an audience of about 3,000 spectators at the airport. Each astronaut will be presented a city plaque by Yorty.

Helicopters will take the astronauts eight miles from the airport to the Century Plaza Hotel, site of the state dinner held in their honor.

Whistles Tooting

NEW YORK (AP) — The East River comes alive with the "hooting and tooting of whistles" from tugboats, Coast Guard craft and other vessels when the Apollo 11 astronauts touch down at the Wall Street heliport today. Fireboats spray streams of water into the air, too.

Beef Sale Tonight:

Junior Farmers In Keen Competition

By SALLY BARRETT

The beef steer sale at 8 tonight at the barns is getting top billing in this story of the junior livestock show at the Fair because of the interest of the young farmers and the public in the event.

All animals consigned to the sale will be sold at the auction, with the grand champion going up first for sale, reserve champion second, and the others to be sold after numbers are drawn to determine position.

Judging of the Junior Beef Division was completed Tuesday afternoon.

"The quality of the steers is pretty well standardized this year because we weeded out the poor ones last year," said Grey Knaus, Junior Beef Division superintendent.

List Winners

Light weight beef market steer winners, weighing 850 lbs. and under were:

Blue — Terri Solis, Delta; Mark Vesser, Menominee; Judy Mueller, Menominee; Douglas Houseman, Menominee; Roseanne Roochietti, Dickinson; Patti DeVooght, Marquette; Red—Paul Dietrich, Delta; Pat Benoit, Delta; Rodney Mueller, Menominee, Terri DeVooght, Marquette; White—Randy Volzka, Delta; Douglas Grosso, Dickinson; Paul Jaeger, Marquette, and Linda Jaeger, Marquette.

Mediumweight beef market steer winners, weighing over 850 lbs. were:

Grand Champions

Grand and reserve champion winners were Ronald Mueller of Carney and William Ray of Carney, respectively. These are the two outstanding steers of 31 entrees.

First prize in the rate of weight gain was awarded to Debbie Bramscheiber whose steer grew 2.83 lbs. per day.

CAROL MAGNUSON OF Vulcan, last year's senior all-breed champion showmanship award winner, is competing this year for the fifth consecutive time at the U.P. State Fair. Many other contestants are back again in the stiff competition that marks the Junior Show sections of the Fair.

Fitting and showmanship judging is based on fitness and training of the steer and on the ability of the exhibitor to show it.

Winners in the 10 to 12 year olds inclusive were, 1st place, Stanley Cousineau of Dickinson; 2nd, Mike Jaeger of Marquette; 3rd, Mike DeVooght of Marquette; 4th, Gary Mueller of Menominee.

Winners 13 years and older were, 1st place, Ronald Mueller of Menominee, 2nd, William Ray of Menominee; 3rd, Roseanne Roochietti of Dickinson; 4th, Rodney Mueller of Menominee; 5th, Mark Vesser, Menominee.

Variety of Talent

John Matthews, superintendent of the Junior Poultry and Rabbit Stock division reported that the number of entries has increased from last year and the quality is just as good. Judging in this division will be held Thursday.

The Junior Show, with displays divided according to the several counties participating, shows a variety of talent among its 4-H contestants. An assistant remarked that the quality of this year's entries is better than ever before.

Delta County is the only county with fewer entries, but this is due to its pre-judging procedures. Only those receiving blue ribbons in the pre-judging could enter into the Fair competition.

Exhibits will be judged Thursday on educational merit, workmanship, attractiveness and neatness, creativeness, and appropriate characteristics of their exhibits.

Dairy Division

Junior Dairy Division exhibitors will be busy until Thursday cleaning, brushing and bedding down their animals.

Charles Little, Junior Dairy Division superintendent, said that along with the regular judging there is a barn housekeeping contest. The various counties compete through Sunday to see who can keep the cleanest barn.

"There are approximately the same number of entries this year; but there are fewer small calves because the kids have been raising these animals from the preecding year," Little said.

There are about 175 registered cattle in the contest to be judged on Thursday morning with the majority being Holsteins.

Judging of the dairy animals is based with equal emphasis on condition and growthiness of animal, ability to show animal, and the type of animals.

U.P. Chambers To Meet Here

Plans are nearly complete for the September meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Upper Michigan set for Friday, Sept. 12, in Escanaba.

ACCUM President Jerry Pulliam of Marquette said today that the meeting will include the usual business sessions but also announced that special arrangements have been made to include a training program for local Chamber of Commerce Leaders.

"The principal aim of ACCUM is to provide a forum for the discussion of problems and achievement of goals in the common interest of improving the economy of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan," Pulliam stated. "In keeping with this object, I feel it is important to give local Chambers an opportunity to learn more about implementing their projects and programs."

"We are fortunate to have been able to get the cooperation of the Michigan State Chamber in a leadership conference and have tentatively scheduled three of the State Chamber's staff members for our program. We are also inviting the U. S. Chamber of Commerce to be represented.

"The program will follow up on the last ACCUM meeting held in Marquette to concentrate on local Chamber of Commerce and community problems and will stress the roles of the officers, directors, chairmen, members and the chamber executives in carrying out a meaningful, action-oriented program of work."

"The noon luncheon will be highlighted by a speaker from the U. S. Post Office Department, Walter Lager, postal service officer for the Upper Peninsula," Pulliam concluded.

The meeting will be an all day affair in Escanaba and will be held at the Chamber of Commerce Building and at the House of Ludington.

The original cost of Central Park came to $7 million. Today the assessed value exceeds $500 million; the actual real estate value is astronomical.

School Board Revives Lake Bluff Proposal

The Escanaba Area Board of Education revived a petition to have property of Lake Bluff estates, a recreational and residential development on the Gladstone bluff between Escanaba and Gladstone, transferred into the district after heated debate at Tuesday night's meeting.

A petition to the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate Board of Education approved at a recent meeting asking for a hearing on the transfer had been withdrawn after opposition was voiced by the Flat Rock Board of Education, in whose district the property now lies.

The Flat Rock board countered the petition on Lake Bluff by the Escanaba board with a petition asking transfer of property now in the Escanaba district which includes the Escanaba Paper Co. to the Flat Rock district.

"Our petition has not been withdrawn, but it does lie in a state of limbo," Charles Tooman told other board members. "I think we got ourselves into something we didn't expect. The Lake Bluff people only asked us for support, they didn't ask us to fight their battle for them."

Let Residents Choose

Ronald Lankford said that he thought the residents of Lake Bluff should be given the right to choose their own school system.

"The Lake Bluff people want to be in our district because we have a kindergarten through high school system and because our quality of education and service is superior," he said. Lankford added, however, that he thought the Lake Bluff group would have a difficult time getting a petition passed by the Intermediate School District.

"I don't think this board should go on record as trying to steal another school board's tax base," said Tooman, referring to the Flat Rock School District.

If after a public hearing the Intermediate School Board decided to approve transfer of the Lake Bluff property to the Escanaba District it would mean a tax loss to the Flat Rock District.

"A majority of the persons who will live at Lake Bluff Estates will be former Escanaba residents, and they should have the right to remain in the same school district they have been pouring their tax money into all these years," Lankford said.

Motion Approved

Luther Barrett, superintendent, said that he thought the board had already committed itself and should now follow through.

After over an hour of debate on the question, Lankford moved that the board re-affirm its position and call for a public hearing. The motion was passed by a vote of 5-1. Dr. Donald Alimenti was the only board member opposed to the motion. Albin Pearson Jr. was absent.

In other business, the board approved payments for the month of July, in the amounts of $33,219.22 from the General Fund for operation, $666.39 from General Fund for Title I Pre-School Programs, $366.30 from the General Fund for Title I Language Arts Programs, and $364.13 from the General Fund for State Aid Programs. Barrett informed the board that State Aid in the amount of $252,690 was received on the first of the month.

The board opened bids from fuel oil companies and accepted the recommendation of Tooman that the bids of Standard Oil and Citgo be accepted for No. 1 and No. 2 fuel. Standard's low bid on No. 1 was 13.24 cents-per-gallon. Citgo's low bid on No. 2 was 12.25 cents-per-gallon.

Contracts Issued

Board member Kenneth West moved that the board accept the low gasoline bid for 1969-70 needs made by Standard Oil in the amount of 12.49 cents-per-gallon. The board unanimously passed West's proposal.

The board issued contracts to three new teachers for the coming school year. Hired were Audrie Fields, Bonnie Hyde and William Hall. The board members expressed concern over the nine vacancies that are still to be filled.

Barrett made a recent recruiting trip to Chicago and reported to the board that although he did get a large list of names from placement offices, he was not able to interview a single potential teacher.

The board members approved the hiring of Cynthia Winters as public information director. She will seek to bring about a better understanding between the school district and the community, Barrett said.

The meeting was closed following a maintenance report by Barrett.

"Most of the school buildings are pretty much completed, the Administration Building included. The athletic field is coming along nicely and should be ready by the fall," he said.

Swiss Show Won By Ford

Dale Ford of Cornell swept the Brown Swiss competition at the U. P. State Fair Tuesday afternoon when he took Grand Champion, Senior Champion, and Reserve Champion categories along with seven other first place wins.

Ford also took Best Dairy Herd, Produce of Dam, 5-year-old cow, 2-year-old cow, Three Females, Junior Champion, and Junior Heifer.

The only other winner in the Brown Swiss competition was John Meyers of Bark River who won in two categories; Junior Yearling Heifer and 3-year-old cow.

Ford won a total of $119 in prize money. Meyers was awarded $50 in premium money. The event was judged by Ed Wright, MSU field agent.

Transfer Trooper To Marquette

EAST LANSING (AP) — An Ionia State Police trooper will be learning the fine points of flying a helicopter this fall after he is transferred to the East Lansing post.

Trooper Donald B. Langoni and Cpl. Chester Nottage, State Police chief pilot, will receive three weeks of helicopter training this fall at the Fairchild-Hiller helicopter factory school at Hagerstown, Md.

State Police also announced the transfer later this month of Trooper Richard E. Brantner from Iron Mountain to Marquette.

Rudyard Cheese Grand Champion

By GEORGE PETERSON

The Dairy Food Products scored with another big year at the U. P. State Fair. The exhibit, the only one left in the state, had a larger number of entries in cheese this year than last year. James Russell, superintendent of the department, and Harold Lauer of Green Bay, judge, were pleased with this year's display, they said.

Named as Grand Champion was the Rudyard Cheese Co., with its entry in the Aged Cheddar class. The sample scored 98½ points out of a possible 100. Second place went to Ontonagon Valley Cooperative Creamery Association with a 97 rating. Swift & Co., of Daggett, was third with 96.

In the Aged Colby Cheese competition Wilson Cheese Factory placed first with 98. Swift & Co., of Daggett second, 97, and Rapid River Cheese Cooperative was third with a 96 rating.

Swift & Co., Daggett, was tops in the Fresh Colby judging at 98. Rudyard Cheese Co., outplaced Copper Country Dairy 97 to 96.

Copper Country Dairy won the Fresh Cheddar division with a 98 rating bettering Ontonagon Valley Cooperative, 97, and Rapid River Cooperative, 95.

Best in the Cottage Cheese division was the Jilbert Dairy of Calumet with Bancroft Dairy Inc., second and Ontonagon Valley Cooperative third.

The Ontonagon Valley Cooperative took top honors in the Butter division with a rating of 98. They beat out A&P Tea Co., of Stephenson, 97 and Copper Country Dairy, 96.

Best in the Foreign Type Cheese was the Carney Milk Produce Co., a division of Frigo, with their sample of Romano cheese.

James Russell commented that each cheese is sampled with respect to flavor, body and texture, color and make-up, whereas butter is graded with regard to flavor, texture, color and salt.

Both Lauder and Russell congratulated the U. P. dairies for their cooperation and said it is because of their interest that this exhibit remains at the Fair.

Transfer Trooper To Marquette

EAST LANSING (AP) — An Ionia State Police trooper will be learning the fine points of flying a helicopter this fall after he is transferred to the East Lansing post.

Trooper Donald B. Langoni and Cpl. Chester Nottage, State Police chief pilot, will receive three weeks of helicopter training this fall at the Fairchild-Hiller helicopter factory school at Hagerstown, Md.

State Police also announced the transfer later this month of Trooper Richard E. Brantner from Iron Mountain to Marquette.

Rudyard Cheese Grand Champion

By GEORGE PETERSON

The Dairy Food Products scored with another big year at the U. P. State Fair. The exhibit, the only one left in the state, had a larger number of entries in cheese this year than last year. James Russell, superintendent of the department, and Harold Lauer of Green Bay, judge, were pleased with this year's display, they said.

Named as Grand Champion was the Rudyard Cheese Co., with its entry in the Aged Cheddar class. The sample scored 98½ points out of a possible 100. Second place went to Ontonagon Valley Cooperative Creamery Association with a 97 rating. Swift & Co., of Daggett, was third with 96.

In the Aged Colby Cheese competition Wilson Cheese Factory placed first with 98. Swift & Co., of Daggett second, 97, and Rapid River Cheese Cooperative was third with a 96 rating.

Swift & Co., Daggett, was tops in the Fresh Colby judging at 98. Rudyard Cheese Co., outplaced Copper Country Dairy 97 to 96.

Copper Country Dairy won the Fresh Cheddar division with a 98 rating bettering Ontonagon Valley Cooperative, 97, and Rapid River Cooperative, 95.

Best in the Cottage Cheese division was the Jilbert Dairy of Calumet with Bancroft Dairy Inc., second and Ontonagon Valley Cooperative third.

The Ontonagon Valley Cooperative took top honors in the Butter division with a rating of 98. They beat out A&P Tea Co., of Stephenson, 97 and Copper Country Dairy, 96.

Best in the Foreign Type Cheese was the Carney Milk Produce Co., a division of Frigo, with their sample of Romano cheese.

James Russell commented that each cheese is sampled with respect to flavor, body and texture, color and make-up, whereas butter is graded with regard to flavor, texture, color and salt.

Both Lauder and Russell congratulated the U. P. dairies for their cooperation and said it is because of their interest that this exhibit remains at the Fair.

The Rock of Gibraltar, 1400 ft. high, is located on a 2½-mile peninsula and has been at the crossroads of history since earliest times.

Deloria Offers New Merchandise At U. P. State Fair

Would you like to see merchandise — new-colorful-stylish-things that you would be proud to own in your home? Then take a few hours off and see the Deloria Sales three booths at the U. P. State Fair, Aug. 12 through 17. It will be one of the most colorful displays in the history of the Exhibition building. There's always something new and exciting to see when you visit the Deloria Sales booths, each year at the Fair — it's never a dull visit. It will be something different to your friends or relatives who may be visiting you at this time of the year. The colorful display will excite even the youngest. Everyone thinks of Deloria Sales as the "Fireplace Center of the North." But wait until you see this year's booths—you will see that they handle other types of merchandise — you may find that certain something you have been looking for. Deloria Sales has so many different types of merchandise that they cannot display it all at the Fair. So come to the Fair, Aug. 12 through 17, and also come and see our attractive store in downtown Escanaba.

Guards Join In Pursuit, Arrested

DETROIT (AP) — Two off-duty private guards, arrested late Monday night as they chased a thief, were cleared and released Tuesday by Detroit police.

Bernard Cook, 31, and Lonzo Burke, 27, had offered to help Astor Motel clerk Abraham Saad, 23, as he chased the thief who had taken $192 from him.

The three pursued the bandit, who was fleeing in a car.

But police, told Saad had been kidnaped by two men, forced the car to the curb and took all three to the station, despite Saad's own protests at the time.

The two guards were released, although police kept their handguns for a laboratory check.

Hellman Named To Capitol Panel

LANSING (AP)—The legislator who led a revolt in the ranks of the Michigan House against proposed blueprints for a new State Capitol complex has been left off a 20-member panel that is to meet with Gov. William Milliken to review further action on the project.

House Speaker William A. Ryan, D-Datroit, Tuesday named five legislators to meet with Milliken, five senators and 10 private citizens.

Rep. Jack Faxon, D-Detroit, who opposed architectural plans drawn by the firm of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, succeeded for a time in holding up allocation of some $4 million for completion of planning and initial construction. Faxon called fgr competitive bidding and an international design contest.

Named by Ryan to meet with Milliken's committee were Democratic Reps. William A. Copeland, Wyandotte, House Appropriations committee chairman: Russell R. Hellman, Dollar Bay; J. Robert Traxler, Bay City, and Republican Reps. James Farnsworth, Plainwell, and Thomas Ford, Grand Rapids.

QUESTION:

According to a statement by the Mead Corporation in the Escanaba Daily Press, May 26th, the Swedish air pollution equipment that is to be installed in the new Mead mill is now being installed in the new International Paper Company mill at Ticonderoga, New York. Do they think it will stop the smell at Ticonderoga?

ANSWER:

According to the New York Times July 13th, the mill director, Perry Harding, says that there "shouldn't be any odor in Ticonderoga" three miles from the new plant "but we can't guarantee anything until we start up."

Nixon's Welfare

President Richard Nixon, who last fall in presidential campaign criticized the present welfare system, last week came up with his own plan.

The president, in a national television address, called for sweeping reforms in the government's program to remove the "blatant inequities, injustices and indignities" of the present system. He urged replacement of the present aid to dependent children program with "family assistance" programs which would guarantee a family of four an annual income of $1,600. Families with a working head of the household would be eligible for the first time, encouraging a family to stay together rather than separate so mother and family can get welfare money.

Nixon also proposed sharing federal money with state governments and transfer of federal manpower training programs to the states. Expanded job training and day care centers to help welfare mothers find and hold jobs also were proposed.

There would be strong work requirements and incentives to encourage people to be self-sufficient. Heads of families who refused to take training or work when "suitable employment" was offered, for example, would forfeit their benefits and payments for dependents would be made through a "trustee" named by the government. For people who work, family assistance payments would boost meager incomes.

Nixon freely admitted the proposals would be "controversial" and said he deliberated long and hard over whether or not the United States could afford the program.

"I decided in favor of it for two reasons," the president said. "Because the costs would not begin until fiscal 1971, when I expect the funds to be available, and because I concluded that this is a reform we cannot afford not to undertake. The cost of continuing the present system, in financial as well as human terms, is staggering if projected into the 1970's."

Nixon's proposals would cost an estimated $4 billion in the first year and put federal money into the pockets of some 22.4 million low-income Americans — about 10 percent of the nation's population — and about twice as many as are now receiving U. S. welfare aid.

"I propose that the federal government build a foundation under the income of every American family with dependent children that cannot care for itself — wherever in America that family may live," the president said.

* * *

Nixon's welfare reform movement is certain to meet heavy opposition in Congress, but it should be examined carefully.

Some of the ideas — like job training and day care centers — are not new. Others are major departures from the present program and his sugestion of requiring work and providing work incentives have strong appeal with the people who are paying the bill.

But Congress should be wary of another gigantic federal giveaway show for once the program gets started it is increasingly difficult to get rid of it. If "family assistance" means $1,600 today, it might mean $3,000 tomorrow and $5,000 next year.

Dr. George A. Wiley, director of the National Welfare Rights Organization (a national organization of welfare recipients, believe it or not), says that $1,600 in annual payments is far too low to provide the basic necessities for a family of four. He said it costs at least $5,500 for four people to live.

It would be very easy to get into a system of spiraling payments. Once the first step is taken, the second is infinitely easier.

* * *

The real welfare problem, of course, is with children who have no control over their own plight. Without some form of government assistance the youngsters simply wouldn't eat or have clothes on their backs.

But outright handouts to parents haven't done the job and encouraging a man to work to support his family might not be the solution, either. Who, for example, is to determine what is "suitable employment." If a person with a job now can walk away and draw unemployment benefits because someone made a small change in his job requirement, the Nixon administration will need more than "work incentives" to make progress.

The president is right in his postion that welfare reforms are needed, both to make the system more equitable and to encourage self-sufficiency, but asking for such reforms and designing a program which will actually work the way it was designed is another proposition.

Somewhere, too many people in the United States have gotten the idea that the government owes them a living.

It's time for that thought to be stopped.

Peninsula Potpourri

Plans for an early restoration of old Fort Drummond on Drummond Island have hit a snag. Mrs. Marie Gunther of Cleveland, a summer resident of the island and owner of the 67-acre site, has refused to sell the property to the Drummond Township Park and Historical Commission. Mrs. Gunther told the group she feared that development of the fort would ruin her privacy at her summer home, which adjoins the site of the fort. She has subdivided the 67 acres into 15 lots for sale to prospective summer home builders.

Bellhops who spend the summer on Mackinac Island bicycling luggage from the main dock to island hotels will compete Sat., Aug. 23, in a race to determine who is the fastest. Cyclists will be required to load six pieces of luggage on their bikes, pedal the length of the course, and unload the luggage in a designated area. If an entrant drops a piece of luggage, he must retrieve it before continuing, according to the race rules.

RATIONING

Appalachian Region Trouble To Deepen?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

What price regulation? The so-called non-gassy coal mines of the Appalachian region, as represented by the Coal Industry Committee on Mine Safety, are very much exercised by the mine safety bill currently before Congress.

According to the non-gassy mine spokesmen, an indiscriminate application of identical safety measures to all mines, regardless of whether they are obviously plagued with methane gas or not, will wreak terrible economic havoc in the mountainous areas of Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee. Predictions are being made that the new legislation, if passed, would "put 4,000 small drift mines out of business, destroy 40,000 mining jobs and severely affect the economic base of a half million people in Appalachia and cost the U. S. the production of 150 million tons of coal annually."

* * *

The layman, trapped between the claims of "safety" people such as Ralph Nader and the owners of mines which have always been put in the non-gassy category, is at a singular disadvantage. For coal mining is a tricky business on which even the experts disagree.

Generally speaking, there is apparently no great gas menace in small hillside drift mines. The Federal Bureau of Mines has traditionally classified mines as non-gassy when they have less than 25 hundredths of one per cent of methane in the air (it takes five to 15 per cent of the methane to cause an explosion).

But, regardless of what the original classification may indicate, mines have "gone bad" without warning. Methane gas can be formed at any place where the vegetable matter changes into energy sources.

A mine can be "safe" for 15 to 20 years, but underground miners can suddenly strike an impervious pocket formed by a clay vein that will trap methane in unusual quantities. There have been 53 explosions in supposedly non-gassy mines in the last 16 years. Only recently five men were severely burned in a "non-gassy" explosion in the Morgantown area of West Virginia.

* * *

The quarrel over removing the classical distinction between gassy and non-gassy mines is represented as one between the claims of human life and the claims of economic profit. Naturally no sensitive person wants to say that money is more important than the safety of human beings. So the "safety" people usually get the better public relations deal when they argue that all mines should be compelled to adopt identical rules of precaution.

However, death can come to a coal mine community in different ways. The 40,000 miners who would be put out of work if the non-gassy mines were to close down represent a payroll of $280 million a year. If small mine owners went out of business because they can't afford expensive non-sparking cutting machinery, the chronic economic distress in Appalachia would be greatly magnified. The average per capita income in Appalachia is already far below the national average (it's $2,468 compared to $3,137).

The Federal government is pouring millions of dollars into poverty programs in the mountain areas of West Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee. If the 40,000 men now working in small mines which employ fewer than 15 men each are thrown on the labor market in the mountain states, it could mean death by slow economic strangulation for scores of communities.

* * *

So the "safety" people, in forcing legislation that will put the small mine out of business because it can't afford new cutting machines, are not so humane, either. They could be accused of promoting death from hidden hunger. This is not so spectacular as death from a mine explosion, but it is extinction nonetheless.

The Senate safety bill, as shaped up in committee, tries to make things easy for the "non-gassy" mine owner by giving him four years to replace his big machines and 16 months to take care of his small equipment. The Small Business Administration is authorized to make loans to cover the cost of reconverting to safety machinery.

But the cost of equipping an eight-man mine section with non-sparking machinery has been estimated as running to $220,000 and up. Inevitably a lot of drift mines will go out of business when the proposed new safety rules have become law.

Good or bad for the country? It depends on one's taste in catastrophe. Without "permissible" safety equipment there will be occasional disasters in drift mine areas. With strict enforcement of a "permissible" equipment law there will be more decay in an already stricken region. Who is to say which is the more deplorable?

Letters To The Press

ELECTRICIANS REPLY

We, American people working as electricians on the Mead Paper Mill expansion project, have read the article in the Escanaba Daily Press dated August 5th, which was written by a former editor of the Press. We were shocked by some of the remarks in this article and we feel it is time to speak for ourselves.

It is understandable that not enough Journeyman Wireman and other classifications of electricians from the Local Union could be found to supply the Harnischfeger Corp. expansion, the Chicago Northwestern Ore Terminal construction, and the Mead Paper Co. expansion project which were all under construction at the same time. Escanaba is simply not that large and normally would not need this many skilled electricians. Therefore other help was needed to complete the projects. Many Journeyman electricians from other parts of the country did come to this area to work but, in at least six cases were refused a job at Mead Paper Co. while Canadian electricians were being hired. Also it is difficult to get a man to travel several hundred miles from his home for the same amount of money. We feel had the paper mill job been on overtime sooner the jobs could have been filled by Journeyman electricians from the United States.

The article goes on to state that public animosity has been aroused by the hiring of Canadian electricians. We feel the reason for this is that many of the jobs can be filled by so called unskilled workers many of whom have worked on construction projects before and most of whom have some electrical experience. But most important is the fact that these people are from the Upper Peninsula.

The writer of that article must be aware that the Upper Peninsula is considered a distressed area and we need every job we can get. We say let us take care of our own people first. Does the writer realize that the 50 Canadian electricians represent $15,000 per week which could be going to the families of our own people right here in this area.

The article also states that the Canadians are highly skilled and are necessary to the completion of the project but the truth is that most of them are doing the jobs which could be done by unskilled workers. Therefore this raises the question why are they necessary.

In item three of the article it is stated that "No American has been replaced by a Canadian" yet the fact is that some 30 Americans were layed off and the Canadians remained doing the work that these so called unskilled people could have been doing.

The $40 million lock at Sault Ste. Marie was just completed with all American labor. The Canadian Expo was built without American labor. The Canadians didn't need our help why do we need theirs. We take the present conditions as an insult that we, as Americans, can't get the job done. We know better.

Should we not attempt to put our own people to work first? Should we not attempt to help our local economy? Should we resent the importing of non citizens of the United States to do the work which we so badly need? We say yes we should.

James Featherston, Courtney R. Mackie, Thomas Lang, Earl Ansell, Michael Soper, Eugene Layman, Leon Gendron, Gerald Sundquist, Glen LaChappelle, Mark Reidy, Bill Roberts, Bill Carter, Bill Maki, Bill Swenson, Floyd St. Cyr, Dale Gibson and 22 other electricians.

RUPPE REPORTS

Last week, the House of Representatives passed the first major piece of tax reform legislation in three decades. I strongly supported the measure, because the bill furthers several important causes for which I have been working.

First, the bill helps to provide greater equality for all American citizens under our tax system. Formerly, certain individuals and organizations were able to escape their share of responsibility, by employing certain tax loopholes. This practice, of course, increased the tax burden of the average citizen. Under the tax reform bill, these loopholes have been eliminated . . . and greater tax equity provided.

Also, the bill attempts to bring a measure of tax relief to lower and middle income families. The tax rates were reduced somewhat, and the standard deduction was increased from $1,000 or 10 per cent of income, to $2,000 or 15 per cent of taxable income. Furthermore, single people and surviving spouses were granted head-of-the-household status, in line with the responsibilities they assume as homeowners. I think tax law changes like these are quite necessary in this time of rising prices, when the average citizen is finding it increasingly difficult to maintain his standard of living.

I do not feel, however, that the bill was a perfect piece of legislation. I had hoped for further tax breaks for the middle income citizen. Specifically, I was keenly disappointed that the personal tax exemption was not increased from $600 to $1,000.

I am presently asking my friends in the Senate to include the increased personal exemption measure in the Tax Reform Bill when it is considered by that body. I will continue to work for this provision, and for other responsible tax legislation of benefit to the average American citizen.

Opening lead—king of hearts.

The bidding by the opponents often points the way to declarer's best method of play. For example, take this case where South can take full advantage of West's overcall to bring home the slam.

West leads the king of hearts and South must play very carefully to make the contract. His first test comes at trick one when he has to decide whether to play the ace of dummy or ruff in his hand instead.

This may not appear to be an important decision, but, actually, the hand stands or falls upon this one play. If South takes the ace, he must eventually go down one; if he ruffs the heart, he cannot be stopped from making the slam.

The trouble with the ace play is that it forces South to make a discard before he is in position to know what to discard, and whether he chooses a spade or a diamond discard, he cannot avoid losing two tricks later to go down one.

But if South ruffs the heart, he is in command of the situation. He plays the ace of clubs at trick two and then leads the six of spades.

What can West do? He is on the horns of a dilemma. If he plays the nine, dummy's queen wins and South sheds the king of spades on the ace of hearts to leave himself with only one loser—a diamond.

And if West goes up with the ace, his play is equally fruitless. Dummy's ace of hearts and queen of spades take care of two of declarer's diamonds, and the only trick South loses is a spade.

As happens so often, the key play occurs at trick one. South concludes that West, who overcalled, is likely to have the ace of spades, and takes advantage of this knowledge by tailoring his play to the circumstances.

Pregnancy Surprise To Unmarried Man

Dear Ann: The guy I love is on pot. It's making a vegetable out of him and a nervous wreck out of me.

When we first met, Steve was a top student. He had a magnetic personality and a thousand friends. About eight months ago he became sloppy in his appearance and seemed to lose his sense of humor. He turned into an argumentative bully and got into trouble with everyone. I knew something was wrong when he started to skip class and forget where we were supposed to meet. One night he fell asleep during a play which I found fascinating. The following day he confessed he had been on grass for nearly a year.

Nixon's Welfare

President Richard Nixon, who last fall in presidential campaign criticized the present welfare system, last week came up with his own plan.

The president, in a national television address, called for sweeping reforms in the government's program to remove the "blatant inequities, injustices and indignities" of the present system. He urged replacement of the present aid to dependent children program with "family assistance" programs which would guarantee a family of four an annual income of $1,600. Families with a working head of the household would be eligible for the first time, encouraging a family to stay together rather than separate so mother and family can get welfare money.

Nixon also proposed sharing federal money with state governments and transfer of federal manpower training programs to the states. Expanded job training and day care centers to help welfare mothers find and hold jobs also were proposed.

There would be strong work requirements and incentives to encourage people to be self-sufficient. Heads of families who refused to take training or work when "suitable employment" was offered, for example, would forfeit their benefits and payments for dependents would be made through a "trustee" named by the government. For people who work, family assistance payments would boost meager incomes.

Nixon freely admitted the proposals would be "controversial" and said he deliberated long and hard over whether or not the United States could afford the program.

"I decided in favor of it for two reasons," the president said. "Because the costs would not begin until fiscal 1971, when I expect the funds to be available, and because I concluded that this is a reform we cannot afford not to undertake. The cost of continuing the present system, in financial as well as human terms, is staggering if projected into the 1970's."

Nixon's proposals would cost an estimated $4 billion in the first year and put federal money into the pockets of some 22.4 million low-income Americans — about 10 percent of the nation's population — and about twice as many as are now receiving U. S. welfare aid.

"I propose that the federal government build a foundation under the income of every American family with dependent children that cannot care for itself — wherever in America that family may live," the president said.

Nixon's welfare reform movement is certain to meet heavy opposition in Congress, but it should be examined carefully.

Some of the ideas — like job training and day care centers — are not new. Others are major departures from the present program and his sugestion of requiring work and providing work incentives have strong appeal with the people who are paying the bill.

But Congress should be wary of another gigantic federal giveaway show for once the program gets started it is increasingly difficult to get rid of it. If "family assistance" means $1,600 today, it might mean $3,000 tomorrow and $5,000 next year.

Dr. George A. Wiley, director of the National Welfare Rights Organization (a national organization of welfare recipients, believe it or not), says that $1,600 in annual payments is far too low to provide the basic necessities for a family of four. He said it costs at least $5,500 for four people to live.

It would be very easy to get into a system of spiraling payments. Once the first step is taken, the second is infinitely easier.

The real welfare problem, of course, is with children who have no control over their own plight. Without some form of government assistance the youngsters simply wouldn't eat or have clothes on their backs.

But outright handouts to parents haven't done the job and encouraging a man to work to support his family might not be the solution, either. Who, for example, is to determine what is "suitable employment." If a person with a job now can walk away and draw unemployment benefits because someone made a small change in his job requirement, the Nixon administration will need more than "work incentives" to make progress.

The president is right in his postion that welfare reforms are needed, both to make the system more equitable and to encourage self-sufficiency, but asking for such reforms and designing a program which will actually work the way it was designed is another proposition.

Somewhere, too many people in the United States have gotten the idea that the government owes them a living.

It's time for that thought to be stopped.

Plans for an early restoration of old Fort Drummond on Drummond Island have hit a snag. Mrs. Marie Gunther of Cleveland, a summer resident of the island and owner of the 67-acre site, has refused to sell the property to the Drummond Township Park and Historical Commission. Mrs. Gunther told the group she feared that development of the fort would ruin her privacy at her summer home, which adjoins the site of the fort. She has subdivided the 67 acres into 15 lots for sale to prospective summer home builders.

Bellhops who spend the summer on Mackinac Island bicycling luggage from the main dock to island hotels will compete Sat., Aug. 23, in a race to determine who is the fastest. Cyclists will be required to load six pieces of luggage on their bikes, pedal the length of the course, and unload the luggage in a designated area. If an entrant drops a piece of luggage, he must retrieve it before continuing, according to the race rules.

Appalachian Region Trouble To Deepen?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

What price regulation? The so-called non-gassy coal mines of the Appalachian region, as represented by the Coal Industry Committee on Mine Safety, are very much exercised by the mine safety bill currently before Congress.

According to the non-gassy mine spokesmen, an indiscriminate application of identical safety measures to all mines, regardless of whether they are obviously plagued with methane gas or not, will wreak terrible economic havoc in the mountainous areas of Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee. Predictions are being made that the new legislation, if passed, would "put 4,000 small drift mines out of business, destroy 40,000 mining jobs and severely affect the economic base of a half million people in Appalachia and cost the U. S. the production of 150 million tons of coal annually."

The layman, trapped between the claims of "safety" people such as Ralph Nader and the owners of mines which have always been put in the non-gassy category, is at a singular disadvantage. For coal mining is a tricky business on which even the experts disagree.

Generally speaking, there is apparently no great gas menace in small hillside drift mines. The Federal Bureau of Mines has traditionally classified mines as non-gassy when they have less than 25 hundredths of one per cent of methane in the air (it takes five to 15 per cent of the methane to cause an explosion).

But, regardless of what the original classification may indicate, mines have "gone bad" without warning. Methane gas can be formed at any place where the vegetable matter changes into energy sources.

A mine can be "safe" for 15 to 20 years, but underground miners can suddenly strike an impervious pocket formed by a clay vein that will trap methane in unusual quantities. There have been 53 explosions in supposedly non-gassy mines in the last 16 years. Only recently five men were severely burned in a "non-gassy" explosion in the Morgantown area of West Virginia.

The quarrel over removing the classical distinction between gassy and non-gassy mines is represented as one between the claims of human life and the claims of economic profit. Naturally no sensitive person wants to say that money is more important than the safety of human beings. So the "safety" people usually get the better public relations deal when they argue that all mines should be compelled to adopt identical rules of precaution.

However, death can come to a coal mine community in different ways. The 40,000 miners who would be put out of work if the non-gassy mines were to close down represent a payroll of $280 million a year. If small mine owners went out of business because they can't afford expensive non-sparking cutting machinery, the chronic economic distress in Appalachia would be greatly magnified. The average per capita income in Appalachia is already far below the national average (it's $2,468 compared to $3,137).

The Federal government is pouring millions of dollars into poverty programs in the mountain areas of West Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee. If the 40,000 men now working in small mines which employ fewer than 15 men each are thrown on the labor market in the mountain states, it could mean death by slow economic strangulation for scores of communities.

So the "safety" people, in forcing legislation that will put the small mine out of business because it can't afford new cutting machines, are not so humane, either. They could be accused of promoting death from hidden hunger. This is not so spectacular as death from a mine explosion, but it is extinction nonetheless.

The Senate safety bill, as shaped up in committee, tries to make things easy for the "non-gassy" mine owner by giving him four years to replace his big machines and 16 months to take care of his small equipment. The Small Business Administration is authorized to make loans to cover the cost of reconverting to safety machinery.

But the cost of equipping an eight-man mine section with non-sparking machinery has been estimated as running to $220,000 and up. Inevitably a lot of drift mines will go out of business when the proposed new safety rules have become law.

Good or bad for the country? It depends on one's taste in catastrophe. Without "permissible" safety equipment there will be occasional disasters in drift mine areas. With strict enforcement of a "permissible" equipment law there will be more decay in an already stricken region. Who is to say which is the more deplorable?

Letters To The Press

ELECTRICIANS REPLY

We, American people working as electricians on the Mead Paper Mill expansion project, have read the article in the Escanaba Daily Press dated August 5th, which was written by a former editor of the Press. We were shocked by some of the remarks in this article and we feel it is time to speak for ourselves.

It is understandable that not enough Journeyman Wireman and other classifications of electricians from the Local Union could be found to supply the Harnischfeger Corp. expansion, the Chicago Northwestern Ore Terminal construction, and the Mead Paper Co. expansion project which were all under construction at the same time. Escanaba is simply not that large and normally would not need this many skilled electricians. Therefore other help was needed to complete the projects. Many Journeyman electricians from other parts of the country did come to this area to work but, in at least six cases were refused a job at Mead Paper Co. while Canadian electricians were being hired. Also it is difficult to get a man to travel several hundred miles from his home for the same amount of money. We feel had the paper mill job been on overtime sooner the jobs could have been filled by Journeyman electricians from the United States.

The article goes on to state that public animosity has been aroused by the hiring of Canadian electricians. We feel the reason for this is that many of the jobs can be filled by so called unskilled workers many of whom have worked on construction projects before and most of whom have some electrical experience. But most important is the fact that these people are from the Upper Peninsula.

The writer of that article must be aware that the Upper Peninsula is considered a distressed area and we need every job we can get. We say let us take care of our own people first. Does the writer realize that the 50 Canadian electricians represent $15,000 per week which could be going to the families of our own people right here in this area.

The article also states that the Canadians are highly skilled and are necessary to the completion of the project but the truth is that most of them are doing the jobs which could be done by unskilled workers. Therefore this raises the question why are they necessary.

In item three of the article it is stated that "No American has been replaced by a Canadian" yet the fact is that some 30 Americans were layed off and the Canadians remained doing the work that these so called unskilled people could have been doing.

The $40 million lock at Sault Ste. Marie was just completed with all American labor. The Canadian Expo was built without American labor. The Canadians didn't need our help why do we need theirs. We take the present conditions as an insult that we, as Americans, can't get the job done. We know better.

Should we not attempt to put our own people to work first? Should we not attempt to help our local economy? Should we resent the importing of non citizens of the United States to do the work which we so badly need? We say yes we should.

RUPPE REPORTS

Last week, the House of Representatives passed the first major piece of tax reform legislation in three decades. I strongly supported the measure, because the bill furthers several important causes for which I have been working.

First, the bill helps to provide greater equality for all American citizens under our tax system. Formerly, certain individuals and organizations were able to escape their share of responsibility, by employing certain tax loopholes. This practice, of course, increased the tax burden of the average citizen. Under the tax reform bill, these loopholes have been eliminated . . . and greater tax equity provided.

Also, the bill attempts to bring a measure of tax relief to lower and middle income families. The tax rates were reduced somewhat, and the standard deduction was increased from $1,000 or 10 per cent of income, to $2,000 or 15 per cent of taxable income. Furthermore, single people and surviving spouses were granted head-of-the-household status, in line with the responsibilities they assume as homeowners. I think tax law changes like these are quite necessary in this time of rising prices, when the average citizen is finding it increasingly difficult to maintain his standard of living.

I do not feel, however, that the bill was a perfect piece of legislation. I had hoped for further tax breaks for the middle income citizen. Specifically, I was keenly disappointed that the personal tax exemption was not increased from $600 to $1,000.

I am presently asking my friends in the Senate to include the increased personal exemption measure in the Tax Reform Bill when it is considered by that body. I will continue to work for this provision, and for other responsible tax legislation of benefit to the average American citizen.

'Friendly' Competition Spurs Dairy Champs

A "friendly" dairy herd competition between a pair of Menominee County farmers has produced championship results for the second year in a row.

Charles Menke of Stephenson was awarded top honors Tuesday night for large herd production at the Upper Peninsula Dairyman's Banquet at the Upper Peninsula State Fair.

Menke, who won the title last year when his herd of 36 cows produced an average of 15,895 pounds of milk of 3.6 butterfat test and 570 pounds of butterfat, improved on his performance in taking home 1969 honors. His herd of 38 cows produced an average of 16,537 pounds of milk of 3.5 butterfat test and 573 pounds of butterfat.

Gail Bowers, Menominee County extension agent, also recognized Bertil Gidlof of Stephenson, a neighbor of Menke's, as his herd of 45 cows produced an average of 16,179 pounds of milk of 3.5 butterfat test and 568 pounds of butterfat.

The production records were the top two reported in the Upper Peninsula.

Best Small Herd

Wilho Laurila of Limestone took home top honors for small herds. He had 22 cows produce an average of 12,611 pounds of milk of 3.8 butterfat test and 475 pounds of butterfat.

About 70 dairy farmers, extension agents and others turned out at the 4-H Dining Hall for the Dairyman's Banquet.

Jean Worth, retired editor of the Daily Press, was presented a citation by John Calkins, chief deputy director of the Michigan Dept. of Agriculture, on behalf of the department for his "lengthy career of dedicated service to Michigan and especially the Upper Peninsula." Calkins said Worth has been a "faithful friend" of agriculture and the Agriculture Commission sincerely appreciates his interest.

Worth Speaks

Jack Little of Chatham, superintendent of the dairy department at the Fair, said the banquet was attended by "more farmers from farther away" than ever before.

Worth, who was the speaker for the program, said dairying in the Upper Peninsula is "shrinking" in terms of the number of farms, but growing in the size of the farms.

"Farming has got to be pretty big or be dead," he told the farmers.

Worth also said that today's farmer has to learn to live with debt in the same way that a businessman learns to live with debt. He said a farmer must go into debt to purchase the modern equipment needed and then should be concerned with paying the interest, making a good living and retiring a little on the principal each year.

Awards Presented

Certificates of merit for dairy herd production were awarded to the following farmers, by county:

Alger: Large Herd — Edgar Williams, Trenary, 30 cows, 15,488 pounds of milk, 547 pounds butterfat, 3.5 test; Small herd — Wilho Laurila, Limestone, 22 cows, 12,611, 475 and 3.8;

Baraga: Large Herd — Melvin Myllyla, Arnheim, 42 cows, 13,119, 466 and 3.6; Small herd — Wayne Heikkinen, Baraga, 22 cows, 10,499, 462, 4.4;

Fees Due For Book Rentals

Robert Micensky, high school principal, announced today that students of the Escanaba Area High School are to pick up their schedules beginning with the seniors on Thursday, juniors on Friday, sophomores on Monday, and Freshmen on Tuesday.

Micensky said that the same fee as last year, $9.75, must be paid before schedules are handed out. He said that any students unable to get to the school on their appointed day may do so at a later date.

The school will be open on the scheduled days from 8 a. m., to 12 noon, and from 12:30 to 3:30 p. m.

Micensky said that the 1969 school yearbook "Eskypades" has arrived and is available for students who have already ordered one but have yet to pick it up.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

Chamber Slate Is Announced

Estimate 50 Miles Of Ticker Tape

CHICAGO (AP) — City officials estimate more than 50 miles of ticker tape would tumble from office windows during the parade today honoring the men who landed on the moon.

Police officials said they expect the motorcade to have the largest turnout of spectators since Britain's Queen Elizabeth II came to Chicago in 1959. Estimates on the number of spectators then ranged up to 2 million.

More than one sixth of the city's police force, 1,600 men, was assigned to handle today's crowds.

Rare shells have frequently brought astronomical prices. The Emperor Francis I of Austria supposedly paid the equivalent of $20,000 for a precious wentletrap.

Band Concerts

The Escanaba City Band will play two concerts this week. The first will be a concert at the Karas Memorial Band Shell Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. followed by another concert Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the fairgrounds. (East end of the grandstand).

They will play marches, some modern and semi-modern music for young and old. The band will be under the direction of Assistant Director Pat Henderson.

Set Fines For Plumbing Firms

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Three large plumbing companies were fined $50,000 each and three of their executives were given fines and jail sentences today for conspiring to fix prices on $1 billion worth of plumbing fixtures.

Borg-Warner Corp. of Chicago, American Standard Corp. of New York and Kohler Co. of Kohler, Wis., said they would appeal the sentences handed down by federal Judge Louis Rosenberg.

The companies and the executives were convicted by a jury May 4 after a 72-day trial. They had pleaded innocent.

Fined and sentenced were Joseph P. Decker, former president of American Standard's plumbing and heating division; Daniel J. Quinn, retired American Standard vice president; and Norman R. Held, Kohler vice president.

Rosenberg fined Decker $40,000 plus costs and sentenced him to 60 days in prison and three years' probation. Quinn was fined $30,000, ordered to serve one day in the custody of a U.S. Marshal and placed on a year's probation. Held drew a $30,000 fine, and a 50-day jail term and was placed on probation for one year.

They were the last of 15 corporations and eight executives indicted Oct. 6, 1966. The others pleaded no contest last fall.

Set Fines For Plumbing Firms

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Three large plumbing companies were fined $50,000 each and three of their executives were given fines and jail sentences today for conspiring to fix prices on $1 billion worth of plumbing fixtures.

Borg-Warner Corp. of Chicago, American Standard Corp. of New York and Kohler Co. of Kohler, Wis., said they would appeal the sentences handed down by federal Judge Louis Rosenberg.

The companies and the executives were convicted by a jury May 4 after a 72-day trial. They had pleaded innocent.

Fined and sentenced were Joseph P. Decker, former president of American Standard's plumbing and heating division; Daniel J. Quinn, retired American Standard vice president; and Norman R. Held, Kohler vice president.

Rosenberg fined Decker $40,000 plus costs and sentenced him to 60 days in prison and three years' probation. Quinn was fined $30,000, ordered to serve one day in the custody of a U.S. Marshal and placed on a year's probation. Held drew a $30,000 fine, and a 50-day jail term and was placed on probation for one year.

They were the last of 15 corporations and eight executives indicted Oct. 6, 1966. The others pleaded no contest last fall.

Schoolgirl Look Means Blazers, Tweed Skirts

Want to earn A's in the fashion scene as well as in school? Then, it's the Schoolgirl Look for you! And that means, jackets or blazers, tweed skirts, man - tailored shirts, big goggle eye glasses an deven neckties — just like in an English boarding school.

The only difference is that this year's All - American girl will do it with pizzazz, so that the whole look becomes earth-shaking, mind-bending and definitely chic.

Instead of a severe, straight-cut blazer choose a warm, natty Norfolk jacket — right out of Sherlock Holmes, my dear Watson! — with matching herringbone skirt. Then try a tailored shirt of a striped, sheer cotton voile, and add a wild paisley scarf tied like a necktie.

For the perfect finishing touch — slip on a big crocheted tam and a pair of shades with bookworm frames and smoke-tinted lenses for that look of knowledge.

Or, if suits don't suit you, jumpers are staging a comeback this fall. They come in straight school girl shapes, but the colors are wild, as are the fabrics, and the smart school-shades that go with them are big, bold and where it's at.

Schoolgirl shirtdresses are on the scene, too — but in 1969 they're in soft, sweet, prints or loud, gigantic plaids.

Some do's and don't's for smart school girls to remember: Don't buy fashions that are too far out —everyone gets tired of fads. Do buy versatile, interchangeable clothes, and do learn how to accessorize them to create a variety of great looks. And finally, don't spend all your time on your clothes — nothing is less appealing than a well-dressed girl who's flunking out.

AMVETS Meet Opens Today

DETROIT (AP)—The 25th annual national convention of AMVETS — American Veterans of World War II—was expected to draw 6,000 veterans to its Wednesday opening.

Among the speakers slated for today and Thursday are U. S. Rep. W. J. Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., vice chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, Richard G. Capen Jr., deputy assistant secretary of defense, Dr. H. Martin Engle and Donald E. Johnson of the Veterans Administration and Brig.Gen. William J. Weinstein of the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve.

On Thursday the delegates will vote on position statements on such issues as the war in Vietnam, the anti-ballistic missile system, and space exploration.

The finals of the 1969 Miss National AMVET beauty contest will be held Friday evening, with a three-mile parade down Detroit's main street, Woodward Ave., slated for 1:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

Art May Relieve Student Tension

The brush and palette may be a teen-ager's best remedy for tension and pent-up feelings, according to Stewart Klonis, Director of the Art Student's League of New York.

"In a world where he often fels buffeted and manipulated," Klonis says, "a youngster can find outlets in creative pursuits, particularly in which he can truly "be himself."

"To express yourself in art," he says, "you don't need a great variety of supplies, nor do the supplies, have to be traditional. Make do with what you have at hand — wrapping paper and water paints if that's all that's available. The main thing is to go to it!

"I think youngsters interested in entering art competitions should aim for a complete statement in their work. By that I mean all the factors in the painting-composition, color, technique, approach — should share one viewpoint. This is tricky for beginners to learn, but it can be done if they 'think out' the painting first and try to have an overall idea of what you want to say in the work."

Repeatedly facing these creative problems, he believes, can help a young person find himself. "Being constantly challenged to express his own ideas, thoughts and outlook in painting wil help him know himself. Knowing himself and what he really wants out of life is the route to real maturity."

Klonis says he has found that young peopl can be oddly conservative in art, and urges them to work at getting rid of inhibitions.

The snail, an unusually hardy animal, survives temperatures from 48 to 110 degrees Fahrenheit, and can tolerate highly polluted water.

GLADSTONE

Agnes Gegnea Weds Donald R. Erickson

Miss Agnes H. Gagnea, Powers, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gagnea, and Donald R. Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ellwood Erickson, Sr., 810 Dakota Avenue, were united in marriage at a 3 o'clock ceremony on Saturday, August 9, at the First Lutheran Church. The Rev. Reuben L. Carlson officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, who was presented in marriage by her brother, John Gagnea, wore an empire "A" line gown of angelmist taffeta detailed with re-embroidered alencon pearl trimmed lace motifs on the bodice, skirt, sleeves and flowing chapel train. Her veil of re-embroidered alencon lace and pearl crown secured to a bouffant veil of imported silk illusion. She wore pearl necklace and earrings and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and pink roses.

Pink Lace

The maid of honor, Mrs. Philip N. Gagnon, sister of the bridegroom, wore an Empire "A" line gown of pink lace over taffeta, a shoulder length veil was secured to pink cluster trimmed with pearls. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings and her flowers were a cascade bouquet of pink carnations.

Philip N. Gagnon, brother-in-law of the groom was best man and Ellis Movalson, Jr., and Robert Gagnea, nephew of the bride, were ushers.

Mrs. Michael Creten played the traditional bridal music.

The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Reception

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Log Cabin Supper Club, on Friday evening.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Philip N. Gagnon. The guest book was in charge of Sherry Erickson, niece of the bridegroom and the wedding cake was cut by Mrs. J. Elwood Erickson Jr., sister-in-law of the groom.

The bride's going-away costume was an aqua dress of acetate trimmed with white taffeta. Following a wedding trip to the Wisconsin Dells the couple will make their home at 1204 Lake Shore Drive.

The bride graduated from Iron River High School in 1967 and the bridegroom graduated from Gladstone High School in 1963. He is employed by Eaton, Yale and Towne.

Books Cannot Keep Pace With Changes In World

The book, as we know it, simply cannot keep pace with today's onrushing world changes and developments, according to educator and publishing authority Dr. E. W. Grieshaber.

It takes too long to produce a book. Events are history before they can recorded says Grieshaber in the current issue of "Education Age" a bi-monthly magazine.

For instance, a book containing maps of Africa, published a year ago, is hopelessly out of date today. Describing Venus as a "distant little-known planet" is a bit passe now that we have sent a space probe swinging past it and the Russians have reported landing a probe on its hostile surface.

And recent developments in the DNA-RNA relationship involves the study of heredity. Chromosomes, the structure of life based on the passing of genetic material from one generation to the next.

In short, books are beginning to be viewed now in a different context, Grieshaber said. No longer, in some school systems, are they considered the dominant, controlling instruments of instruction. Rather, they are considered tools — tools that should be used in conjunction with other tools.

Reasons for this changing approach to books are four-fold, Greishaber states:

- The pace of development generally in the world today.
- Growing popularity of and interest in concept teaching — based on a rational arrangement of behavioral objectives from the earliest school years until final graduation.
- Increasing heterogeneity of student background. We have long passed the comfortable time when classrooms were filled with children from common backgrounds. The great mobility of our population has brought together in one classroom children who respond and react in altogether different ways. The teacher, therefore, must have available a variety of approaches and methods in hopes one will prove effective.
- Technology's influence on instructional materials such as audio-visual aids, i.e. the use of overhead projectors and coordinated teaching materials.

The problem is failing to cope with these winds of educational change boils down to one of conception, Greishaber sums up. Too many school systems still consider a book is a book, a device (i.e. overhead projectors) a device. The device is no good unless it is accompanied by materials that are timely, appropriate and up-to-date and flexible enough to fit into school systems of great variety.

The goal of educational publishing, Greishaber concludes, is not the production of published works alone, but rather an overall service to education.

Briefly Told

Gladstone Masonic Temple No. 396 F&AM will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m., for work in the entered apprentice degree. Lunch will be served.

Dartball

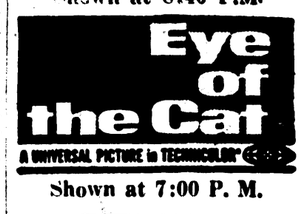

The Gladstone Men's Tavern Dartball League will hold its first organizational meeting tonight at the Arcadia at 7:30. All teams planning to compete this year must have a representative at the meeting.

Agnes Gegnea Weds Donald R. Erickson

Miss Agnes H. Gagnea, Powers, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gagnea, and Donald R. Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ellwood Erickson, Sr., 810 Dakota Avenue, were united in marriage at a 3 o'clock ceremony on Saturday, August 9, at the First Lutheran Church. The Rev. Reuben L. Carlson officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, who was presented in marriage by her brother, John Gagnea, wore an empire "A" line gown of angelmist taffeta detailed with re-embroidered alencon pearl trimmed lace motifs on the bodice, skirt, sleeves and flowing chapel train. Her veil of re-embroidered alencon lace and pearl crown secured to a bouffant veil of imported silk illusion. She wore pearl necklace and earrings and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and pink roses.

Pink Lace

The maid of honor, Mrs. Philip N. Gagnon, sister of the bridegroom, wore an Empire "A" line gown of pink lace over taffeta, a shoulder length veil was secured to pink cluster trimmed with pearls. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings and her flowers were a cascade bouquet of pink carnations.

Philip N. Gagnon, brother-in-law of the groom was best man and Ellis Movalson, Jr., and Robert Gagnea, nephew of the bride, were ushers.

Mrs. Michael Creten played the traditional bridal music.

The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Reception

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Log Cabin Supper Club, on Friday evening.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Philip N. Gagnon. The guest book was in charge of Sherry Erickson, niece of the bridegroom and the wedding cake was cut by Mrs. J. Elwood Erickson Jr., sister-in-law of the groom.

College Educator Offers Study Tips

The U. S. Office of Education estimates that 1,059,000 students will be enrolled in college this fall.

But the number of those students who successfully finish the year depends on how well they have learned to study.

Studying is not the difficult and boring task it often appears to be, according to William B. Crafts, Dean of Students at Monmouth College, a coeducational liberal arts college in Monmouth, Ill., — if it is approached in the proper manner.

Each year Crafts teaches a course to Monmouth freshmen, entitled "How To Study." From that course, Crafts offers the following tips to all students who wish to be successful on the ladder of learning.

Place Important

First, the place where you study is important because it determines how much you will accomplish. Pick a place with good lighting and ventilation, and also one where your friends won't interrupt you.

Secondly, don't study too long at one time. Your attention span is limited at first, but it will expand. Limit yourself to no more than 1 to 1½ hours at one time. Get up, take a break, then begin again. You'll find you get more accomplished.

Your approach, or frame of mind, is the third point. How ready are you to study? This includes the appearance of your desk, your room and other factors that may distract you. Psychological readiness is also important. Don't study immediately after dinner or when overtired, First, get some exercise, then begin to study.

Stay With It

And last, once you find a place where you can concentrate and accomplish your work, stay with it. You will get used to studying there. Often, your dormitory room is not the best place. Try a study carrel or a room in the library where you can obtain a business-like atmosphere at all times.

Crafts also encourages students to learn to listen, take notes and read. These are priceless qualities that will last throughout your life. But the ability to study is one of the greates assets a college student can possess.

Education and knowledge will not fall into your lap. You must go out and work to acquire them. And learning to study will definitely help.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

Mini Misses Get 'Mini' Look Of Own

What are the mini misses gathering for back-to-school wardrobes this year?

From the first graders up, they looked into big sister's closet, liked what they saw, and this year have their own "mini" look.

There's no indecision on hems, since the brightest designers say pint-size skirts should be a brief five inches above the knees. Mini hems on checkered and plaid skirts are accented with contrasting binding, or edged with embroidery or ruffles.

And although mother lets the mini miss make her own selections from season - spanning checks, plaids, old fashioned granny prints and wild floral designs, she reads the labels and insists upon fabrics that are machine-washable, with a durable press finish.

Another style the little girls do like is the "layered look." This important fashion has a special appeal in mini versions with miniature pants suits that combine pants with turtle neck sweaters, blouses and sleeveless jumpers. Pants suits seem to fit the chameleon-like character of little girls, too. One minute they're all woman, neat, tidy and demure. The next minute the "tomboy" takes over and they're running, jumping and hopping hedges just like their little brothers.

Carefree gypsy fashions fit this pattern, too, and full-circle skirts that swing easily from one season to another will report for class. In fact, back-to-school fashions are so appealing, big sisters also may find inspiration from them.

Mystery Ship Found At Sault

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP) — Skindivers report discovery of a hull which appears to be about 100 years old in the St. Mary's River near Sault Ste. Marie.

The hull of the 250-foot sailing vessel was located by five skin divers with the use of navigational charts. They know nothing of the cargo of the ship or of its history. The name of the vessel is also unknown, but the men plan to make another dive to gather more information.

The divers who found it are Paul Pellerin, Ric Robinson and John Paul Bregon of Sault Ste. Marie, along with Lawrence Robinson and Larry Peterson of Bruce Mines.

Pre-Schoolers Want To Learn

As older children troop back to classrooms this fall, preschoolers whi are left behind will probably wish they too could go to school.

Apart from the status of 'being old enough" and the fun of seeing one's friends every day, there's another more fundamental reason: Preschoolers are eager to learn.

Studies have shown that during the first four years of life, a child reaches one-half of his general intelligence. He is learning more, growing faster, encountering more new experiences, meeting and solving more problems than at any other perod in his lifetime.

For the preschooler, learning takes place chiefly through playing. His building blocks, his pounding tools, his drawing materials and other toys are the forerunners of older children's verbal and written tools of learning.

For information about how to create a creative play and learn environment in the home, write for a free booklet, "Playtools to Shape a Child's World," 221 North LaSalle Street, Chicago, Illinois 60601.

Arthur Marvin (Tonto) Coleman is in his fourth year as commissioner of the Southeastern Conference.

New Fair Queen To Be Selected Tonight

BY JANET MARTIN

Today is Queen's Day at the Upper Peninsula State Fair and 15 young beauty queens from all over the Upper Peninsula are in Escanaba to compete for the coveted title.

The girls began a full day of activities at 9 a.m. today with registration in the Queen's Rooms, which are located under the stage in front of the grandstand. At this time they received their name banners, ribbons and flowers which they are wearing throughout the day.

After receiving instructions from Mrs. Robert Winchester, director of the Fair Queen contest, the girls then spent most of the morning rehearsing for the afternoon grandstand show.

During the show, each girl wears the costume depicting her particular title and is interviewed by Tom Elegreet of Gladstone, this year's Master of Ceremonies.

Host Queen

Music for the grandstand shows and various other queen events will be furnished by Bill VanEffen Jr. Cindy Rahoi, the reigning Miss Delta County will also be introduced as the host queen of the pageant

At noon the candidates and guests enjoyed luncheon at the Pioneer Motor Inn. During the luncheon the queens were introduced by the Miss Upper Peninsula State Fair Queen for the Day, Miss Linda Schinderele of Iron River, Miss Iron County of 1968 and the first runner-up last year.

The 1968 U. P. Fair Queen, Miss Nancy Weldum of Rock, is unable to attend the Fair this year as she is presently on a student-stay in Spain.

Queen's Banquet

The Queen's banquet will be served at 6 p. m., today at Marco's Starlite Room. Wearing evening gowns, the girls will exhibit the charm and poise that has brought them to the Fair as queen contestants.

Serving as escorts for the girls are David Maskart and Tom Cretens, both of Gladstone. Pages are Trudy and Kailie Hagman, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hagman of Gladstone.

Following the banquet, the girls will return to the Fairgrounds for the climax to a very exciting and busy day. After a last minute check of appearance, they will be ready to face the judges for a final time and await the announcement as to who among them is the new queen.

Evening Highlight

The coronation of the 1959 Fair Queen is the highlight of the evening grandstand show and also featured will be Miss Yvonne Van Roeyan of Loretto, the 1968 American Legion Queen, who will sing a selection of songs pertaining to the 15 lovely queen candidates.

Judges for this year's queen contest are: Mrs. John Greis of Escanaba, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wicklund of Iron River, Thomas Gibbs of Perkins and Dale Teinert of Masonville.

They will judge the candidates in these four categories: personality, poise and grooming; natural beauty; costume and theme; speech and intelligence.

Mink Capelet

The new queen will receive a $100 United States Savings Bond, a mink capelet donated by the Upper Peninsula Mink Breeders Association, to be presented by William Schoen; a full tuition scholarship to Bay de Noc Community College, Escanaba, to be presented by President Richard Rinehart; the queen's crown, and trophy, a dozen roses, donated by Miller's Florists of Gladstone and an orchid corsage, courtesy of Wickert Floral of Escanaba.

The first and second runners-up will receive $50 and $25 savings bonds, respectively and a trophy and each girl will also receive a pearl necklace and a single long temmed red rose.

"Miss Congeniality," will also be selected this year and will receive a trophy and a gift. Miss Schinderle will also be presented a gift, compliments of the pageant director. Clifford Perras, manager of the Fair will make the trophy presentation.

Gift Certificates

Each queen contestant will receive a gift certificate from the following Gladstone merchants: The Regal Bridal Salon, J. C. Penney Co., Shaw Cleaners, Gamble's, Lewis', Swanson's, Dehlin Drugs, The Gift Nook, Hansen's, Butch's Hardware, Mathison's Radio and TV, Ivory Drugs, Vera's Variety, Mr. Jeff's and The Lite House.

Assisting Mrs. Winchester with her many duties is Miss Diane Maskart of Gladstone.

Candidates

The queen candidates are: Miss Alger County, Debra Jean Pawielski; Miss American Legion Post 438, Bette Lee Krause; Miss Baraga Township Centennial, Patricia Ellen Shanahan; Miss Chatham Homecoming, Deboratt Paulette Piippo; Miss Copper Country Strawberry Festival, Joan Lyn Swanson; Miss Delta County 4-H, Kathryn Ann Madden; Miss Gogebic County, Karen Kinnunen; Miss Honorary Cadet Major, Betsy Boyer; Miss Iron County, Nancy Ann Hronkin; Miss Laurium, Janet Marie Asselin; Miss Luce County Fall Harvest, Rose Marie Lackey; Miss Menominee Fun-O-Rama, Sandra Lee Carlson; Miss Rock Harvest Lions Queen, Diane Lynn Kivekas; Miss Schoolcraft County, Pamela Jean Putvin; and Miss Checkered Flag, PSA, Mary Charlebois.

New Fair Queen To Be Selected Tonight

BY JANET MARTIN

Today is Queen's Day at the Upper Peninsula State Fair and 15 young beauty queens from all over the Upper Peninsula are in Escanaba to compete for the coveted title.

The girls began a full day of activities at 9 a.m. today with registration in the Queen's Rooms, which are located under the stage in front of the grandstand. At this time they received their name banners, ribbons and flowers which they are wearing throughout the day.

After receiving instructions from Mrs. Robert Winchester, director of the Fair Queen contest, the girls then spent most of the morning rehearsing for the afternoon grandstand show.

During the show, each girl wears the costume depicting her particular title and is interviewed by Tom Elegreet of Gladstone, this year's Master of Ceremonies.

Host Queen

Music for the grandstand shows and various other queen events will be furnished by Bill VanEffen Jr. Cindy Rahoi, the reigning Miss Delta County will also be introduced as the host queen of the pageant

At noon the candidates and guests enjoyed luncheon at the Pioneer Motor Inn. During the luncheon the queens were introduced by the Miss Upper Peninsula State Fair Queen for the Day, Miss Linda Schinderele of Iron River, Miss Iron County of 1968 and the first runner-up last year.

The 1968 U. P. Fair Queen, Miss Nancy Weldum of Rock, is unable to attend the Fair this year as she is presently on a student-stay in Spain.

Queen's Banquet

The Queen's banquet will be served at 6 p. m., today at Marco's Starlite Room. Wearing evening gowns, the girls will exhibit the charm and poise that has brought them to the Fair as queen contestants.

Serving as escorts for the girls are David Maskart and Tom Cretens, both of Gladstone. Pages are Trudy and Kailie Hagman, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hagman of Gladstone.

Following the banquet, the girls will return to the Fairgrounds for the climax to a very exciting and busy day. After a last minute check of appearance, they will be ready to face the judges for a final time and await the announcement as to who among them is the new queen.

Evening Highlight

The coronation of the 1959 Fair Queen is the highlight of the evening grandstand show and also featured will be Miss Yvonne Van Roeyan of Loretto, the 1968 American Legion Queen, who will sing a selection of songs pertaining to the 15 lovely queen candidates.

Judges for this year's queen contest are: Mrs. John Greis of Escanaba, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wicklund of Iron River, Thomas Gibbs of Perkins and Dale Teinert of Masonville.

They will judge the candidates in these four categories: personality, poise and grooming; natural beauty; costume and theme; speech and intelligence.

Mink Capelet

The new queen will receive a $100 United States Savings Bond, a mink capelet donated by the Upper Peninsula Mink Breeders Association, to be presented by William Schoen; a full tuition scholarship to Bay de Noc Community College, Escanaba, to be presented by President Richard Rinehart; the queen's crown, and trophy, a dozen roses, donated by Miller's Florists of Gladstone and an orchid corsage, courtesy of Wickert Floral of Escanaba.

The first and second runners-up will receive $50 and $25 savings bonds, respectively and a trophy and each girl will also receive a pearl necklace and a single long temmed red rose.

"Miss Congeniality," will also be selected this year and will receive a trophy and a gift. Miss Schinderle will also be presented a gift, compliments of the pageant director. Clifford Perras, manager of the Fair will make the trophy presentation.

Gift Certificates

Each queen contestant will receive a gift certificate from the following Gladstone merchants: The Regal Bridal Salon, J. C. Penney Co., Shaw Cleaners, Gamble's, Lewis', Swanson's, Dehlin Drugs, The Gift Nook, Hansen's, Butch's Hardware, Mathison's Radio and TV, Ivory Drugs, Vera's Variety, Mr. Jeff's and The Lite House.

Assisting Mrs. Winchester with her many duties is Miss Diane Maskart of Gladstone.

Candidates

The queen candidates are: Miss Alger County, Debra Jean Pawielski; Miss American Legion Post 438, Bette Lee Krause; Miss Baraga Township Centennial, Patricia Ellen Shanahan; Miss Chatham Homecoming, Deboratt Paulette Piippo; Miss Copper Country Strawberry Festival, Joan Lyn Swanson; Miss Delta County 4-H, Kathryn Ann Madden; Miss Gogebic County, Karen Kinnunen; Miss Honorary Cadet Major, Betsy Boyer; Miss Iron County, Nancy Ann Hronkin; Miss Laurium, Janet Marie Asselin; Miss Luce County Fall Harvest, Rose Marie Lackey; Miss Menominee Fun-O-Rama, Sandra Lee Carlson; Miss Rock Harvest Lions Queen, Diane Lynn Kivekas; Miss Schoolcraft County, Pamela Jean Putvin; and Miss Checkered Flag, PSA, Mary Charlebois.

Menominee Intermediate School Office To Move

The office of Floyd Paronto, superintendent of the Menominee County Intermediate School District, will be moved to a new location at the Evergreen School on U. S. 41, north of the city of Menominee Thursday.

One of the classrooms has been redecorated and partioned into three private offices and a general business office. Marjorie Fredriksen will be in charge of the general business office as secretary and bookkeeper.

Since the passage of .75 mill for special education on June 10, 1968, and with the added responsibilities placed upon Intermediate School Districts by the Michigan Department of Education, the Menominee County Intermediate School District has been growing at a rapid pace, Paronto said.

Four new employes have been added to the staff for the coming school year. Ronald Peltier will take over the duties as supervisor of mentally handicapped programs. James Wenger, Mrs. Kathy Hauswerth, and Mrs. Junia Sarvela, speech therapists, will be working throughout the county with children that have speech problems.

In addition to the four new employes in the Special Education Services Section of the Menominee Intermediate School District, there will be Mark Simpson, Diagnostician (school psychologist) and coordinator of special education programs; Judith Sauve and Mr. C. J. Tamblin, special education teachers of the mentally handicapped, and Sue [illegible] teacher of the Trainable program. Richard Be[illegible]

Last year the School District leased the Evergreen School from the Menominee Area Public Schools for special education purposes. Two classrooms for the mentally handicapped (County Trainable) were started and only half of the building was used. Another room of the building has been redecorated, and will be used as a therapy and recreation room.

Plans are now being made for transportation and a hot lunch program.

The Menominee County Intermediate School District will continue to maintain an office in the Bank of Stephenson for employes working in the north and mid-county areas, Paronto said. This office will also be used by Title III educational consultants and task force members when they are called into the area to work on special school projects.

The address and phone numbers to be used in contacting the Intermediate School District are: Menominee County Intermediate School District, Evergreen School, Hwy. 41, Menominee, Michigan 49858. The phone number for the Superintendent will remain the same 863-5665. For Special Education Services, the number to call is 963-2493. Office hours are from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m., Monday through Friday, year around.

Deputy Marshall Fired From Job

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) —A deputy U. S. marshal who accepted former Teamster boss Jimmy Hoffa's recommendation of a "good place to eat" in Detroit, has been fired by the U.S. Justice Department.

The deputy marshal, William E. Lavin, 56, of Dunmore, Pa., who also recently had a prisoner escape and hijack a jet to Cuba, said he will appeal.

The Justice Department accused Lavin, a 17-year veteran with the department, of removing Hoffa's handcuffs more often than necessary and spending more for a meal in a Detroit restaurant than the government allows.

Lavin denied he spent more than the $1.50 per meal allowed by the government. He said he paid for the meals himself.

A waitress recognized Hoffa and tipped off Detroit news media.

French Official At NATO Held

PARIS (AP) — A French official working for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has been arrested and charged with "a grave breach of security," official sources said today.

The unidentified official was being questioned by the French counterespionage service and will be tried by the State Security Court, the sources said.

Good Lamp Helps Study

The last thing a student needs in the midst of final exams and term papers is to see dark spots before his eyes. The business of learning has enough built-in headaches without adding unnecessary eyestrain.

A good study lamp can combat the common enemies of good vision—glare, contrast, shadows and inadequate lighting.

Most glare problems can be solved by a lamp shade with white or near-white lining which covers the bulb from any viewing angle. A good lampshade also prevents harsh contrasts between lighted and unlighted portions of the room, because it throws light upward and downward over a wide area. A refractor at the bottom of the shade and a diffusing disc at the top alleviate shadows and help reduce glare and contrast.

Shadows also may be softened by proper placement of the study lamp—15 inches from the desk top, on the left side of a right-handed person, or on the right side of a student who writes left-handed.

Right winger John McKenzie of the Boston Bruins was the National Hockey League's most accurate shooter last season.

Save Memories Of School Days In Photographs

School memories can be kept forever with an album of school photographs.

Instead of letting a child leave all of the school photographs she collects from her friends in a drawer, give her an album to put them in. She will have a lot of fun putting it together, and in years to come it will remind her of all the wonderful times she had at school.

Let her be creative and arrange them anyway she wants. For instance she might want to use colored construction paper to make some more than others stand out from the page. Or she might like to arrange them by size and color. No matter how she does it, it will be all hers when she is finished.

Next year she will probably want to make another album with all of the new pictures she gets. Then she will have a good time pouring over the two albums to see how everyone has changed. If she does this every year, by the time she graduates, she will have an invaluable collection of photographs.

Draft Files Tampered With

ALLEGAN (AP) — Investigators probing the ruins of a building housing the Allegan County Draft Board have found evidence the board's files were tampered with before the blaze began, Police Chief Howard Falk said.

Falk said Tuesday that two State Police fire marshals told him they have definite evidence the files were tampered with. He said the marshals did not elaborate.

Monday's fire gutted the two-story building housing the draft board and a news stand. The building's owner estimated damage totaled $50,000.

Menominee Intermediate School Office To Move

The office of Floyd Paronto, superintendent of the Menominee County Intermediate School District, will be moved to a new location at the Evergreen School on U. S. 41, north of the city of Menominee Thursday.

One of the classrooms has been redecorated and partioned into three private offices and a general business office. Marjorie Fredriksen will be in charge of the general business office as secretary and bookkeeper.

Since the passage of .75 mill for special education on June 10, 1968, and with the added responsibilities placed upon Intermediate School Districts by the Michigan Department of Education, the Menominee County Intermediate School District has been growing at a rapid pace, Paronto said.

Four new employes have been added to the staff for the coming school year. Ronald Peltier will take over the duties as supervisor of mentally handicapped programs. James Wenger, Mrs. Kathy Hauswerth, and Mrs. Junia Sarvela, speech therapists, will be working throughout the county with children that have speech problems.

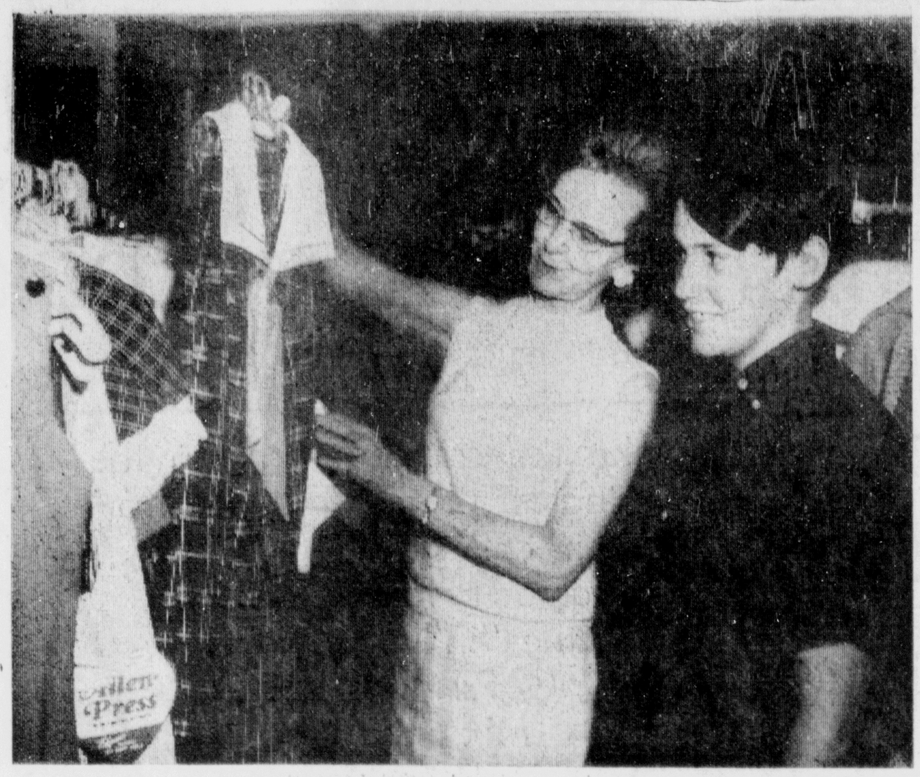

In addition to the four new employes in the Special Education Services Section of the Menominee Intermediate School District, there will be Mark Simpson, Diagnostician (school psychologist) and coordinator of special education programs; Judith Sauve and Mr. C. J. Tamblin, special education teachers of the mentally handicapped, and Susan [illegible] teacher of the Trainable program. Richard Bu[illegible]

Last year [illegible] School District leased the Evergreen School from the Menominee Area Public Schools for special education purposes. Two classrooms for the mentally handicapped (County Trainable) were started and only half of the building was used. Another room of the building has been redecorated, and will be used as a therapy and recreation room.

Plans are now being made for transportation and a hot lunch program.

The Menominee County Intermediate School District will continue to maintain an office in the Bank of Stephenson for employes working in the north and mid-county areas, Paronto said. This office will also be used by Title III educational consultants and task force [illegible]embers when they are call[illegible] into the area to work on [illegible]cial school projects.

The address and phone numbers to be used in contacting the Intermediate School District are: Menominee County Intermediate School District, Evergreen School, Hwy. 41, Menominee, Michigan 49858. The phone number for the Superintendent will remain the same 863-5665. For Special Education Services, the number to call is 963-2493. Office hours are from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m., Monday through Friday, year around.

Deputy Marshall Fired From Job

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) —A deputy U. S. marshal who accepted former Teamster boss Jimmy Hoffa's recommendation of a "good place to eat" in Detroit, has been fired by the U.S. Justice Department.

The deputy marshal, William E. Lavin, 56, of Dunmore, Pa., who also recently had a prisoner escape and hijack a jet to Cuba, said he will appeal.

The Justice Department accused Lavin, a 17-year veteran with the department, of removing Hoffa's handcuffs more often than necessary and spending more for a meal in a Detroit restaurant than the government allows.

Lavin denied he spent more than the $1.50 per meal allowed by the government. He said he paid for the meals himself.

A waitress recognized Hoffa and tipped off Detroit news media.

French Official At NATO Held

PARIS (AP) — A French official working for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has been arrested and charged with "a grave breach of security," official sources said today.

The unidentified official was being questioned by the French counterespionage service and will be tried by the State Security Court, the sources said.

THE MIDWAY RIDES AND shows of the Fair's midway are the center of attraction for crowds of young people who thrill to the carnival sights and sounds. Many of the rides are new and some are seen only in the Peninsula at the State Fair. Tuesday's Safety Patrol Day brought 3,000 youngsters to the Fair as guests in recognition of their traffic safety work. (Daily Press Photo)

Escanaba Area's Crime Rate Low, Rotarians Told

Escanaba has its crime problems, particularly in the area of offenses by youth, but it has little major crime compared to cities of about the same population near metropolitan centers, Police Chief Richard Frederick told the Rotary Club Tuesday noon.

The city's police chief was introduced by Isadore Stein of the club's program committee, and the meeting was conducted by Frank Bourke, Rotary vice president.

Chief Frederick reported to the club on his experiences as chief and in particular his role as a student at the Federal Bureau of Investigation School in Washington, D. C.

He praised the FBI training given the officers (there have been 4,800 graduates with three from the Upper Peninsula) since the school was founded by J. Edgar Hoover in 1935. Guardianship of civil rights, protection of the weak, with "fidelity, bravery, and intelligence" by officers of the law were standards set by Hoover and continued to the present.

Chief Frederick and the other 99 graduates received their diplomas on May 28 from President Richard Nixon at ceremonies in Washington attended by Hoover and other federal officials. A reception for the graduates and their families was hosted by the President and Mrs. Nixon at the White House.

Stressing sociology, psychology and criminal law, the course also gave the trainees instruction in use of weapons and modern criminal investigation techniques.

The valuable training has helped communities throughout the United States and its possessions, said Chief Frederick, who heads Escanaba's 22-man police force. He said Escanaba's officers are well equipped and there is not a high turnover in personnel.

Replying to questions, the chief said he believes there is a need for traffic study; that so far there has been no solution to the problem of "racing" of young drivers on Ludington St.; and that in most instances of offenses by youth the parents "do not cooperate in discipline."

Weather Effect Seen In Crops

One of the U.P. State Fair's weakest showings this year is in the agriculture department, where the effects of the cold weather last spring are all too evident.

Joseph Heirman, Escanaba, judge of the department pointed these out — but also noted that some crops made a good growth. These he termed "cold weather crops" such as carrots, beans and onions.

"They came through well," he noted.

The region had unsually chill weather in May and June, with good growing weather not starting until July. The growth on all crops was retarded.

"The Fair is a little bit earlier this year too, and if we had been given a couple more weeks there would have been improvement in the cabbage, squash, tomatoes and cucumbers, to name a few," said Heirman.

"There's no lack of interest on the part of the gardeners and growers for the number of entries is just as high as last year, but the weather was against them."

For instance, there was but one sample of table corn, and that not yet ripe enough to eat. It was entered by Mike Derkos, 320 N. 20th St., Escanaba. "Another week and it would have been ripe," said Heirman.

One sample of ripe tomatoes was on display, entered by Mrs. Lydia Cowell of Masonville.

There were some good samples of early potatoes, with blue ribbons going to Russell Beauchamp and Lou Ann Winling of Escanaba Rte. 1.

Youth Finds Fun And Excitement At U.P. Fair

By JANET VERTREES

Bright lights, thousands of exhibits, people, young and old, cotton candy and foot-long hot dogs, stuffed animals and prizes galore, rides, rides, rides — all await you at the 41st annual Upper Peninsula State Fair at Escanaba.

Beginning Tuesday morning at 9 a. m., the crowds started to flock into the Fairgrounds. Many young people seeking jobs were standing around the booths while the younger ones looked in awe at the sights and sounds of the W. G. Wade Shows on the Midway.

Busses started rolling into the parking lots filled with safety patrol children from all over the U. P., to celebrate the 17th annual Safety Patrol Day. These boys and girls have worked many hours to promote school safety.

Safety Patrol's 3,000

For this, they were given a free ticket to each of the Merry-Go-Round, Ferris Wheel and the Octopus, a button which entitled them to reduced rates on the other rides and a ticket to the picnic lunch at 4 p. m.

After a day in the sun and fun, the children gathered around the 4-H barns and stood in line to devour ice cream, hot dogs, soft drinks and fruits by the case. The picnic was sponsored by the Michigan Automobile Club, State Police, W. G. Wade Shows, Northwest Fruit Co., Volwerth's Meat, Our Own Bakeries, Escanaba Bottling Works and Bancroft Dairy.

A luncheon for the supervisors of the boys and girls was held at noon yesterday at the House of Ludington and was sponsored by the Michigan Auto Club of Detroit.

An estimated 3,000 children attended the Safety Patrol Day.

Fiddlin' Farmer Pleases

Yee! Ha! Give me some of that good old foot stompin' music. The Fiddlin' Farmer, performing in his little red Barn, was Tuesday's free grandstand attraction. Five men and one woman made up the Country and Western Band which brought large crowds off the midway Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Among the many colorful aspects of the Fair — and one popular with the teenagers — is the "dance tent" near the main gate. Here, under a tent 40 feet wide and 60 feet long, there is dancing for young people that began on Tuesday and will continue tonight and Thursday.

Three local dance combos — "The Prophets of Doom" on Tuesday, "Porridge" today and "The Riot Squad" on Thursday — supply music for dancing.

The square dancers will get their turn at the dance floor tent on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Ticker Tape Parade Leads Off Festivities

strong said, pausing and waving, "wonderful."

Just two minutes before 11 a.m., the astronauts appeared at the door of City Hall to a thunderous, rolling cheer from the more than 10,000 persons massed around City Hall Plaza. Automobile horns blared.

With their hands placed over their hearts, the astronauts listened, with all the others, to the U.S. Army Band playing the national anthem.

Terence Cardinal Cooke, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, prayed: "Oh Lord of the universe we thank You for the safe return of these three courageous men . . . who went to the moon for peace for all mankind."

The ladders from two aerial fire trucks formed an arch of triumph near City Hall, and on it was draped a banner with the words "Welcome Astronauts" and a picture of a huge bald eagle, its wings spread, touching down to the moon.

Lindsay gave the astronauts the gold medals of the City of New York, hanging the medal and ribbon first around Armstrong's neck.

"On behalf of the thousands of people of the Apollo program across this country," Armstrong said, "it is a privilege for me to accept the medal.

The ticker tape parade went on from City Hall.

Across from City Hall, students at Pace College unfurled a huge banner from third-floor windows reading: "Pace College Salutes the Men of Apollo 11."

The flags of the United States, New York State and New York City fluttered from lamp poles around City Hall Park and at the Battery. Red, white and blue Apollo 11 decals adorned the windshields of police motorcycles.

"That's certainly the last thing we're prepared for," Armstrong told a news conference in Houston Tuesday, when asked about the celebrations.

The entire coast-to-coast program of frenzied tribute will consume far less than the 21½ hours the Apollo 11 lunar module spent July 20-21 on the surface of the moon.

Barbara Guilty Of Extortion

PONTIAC (AP) — A jury of six men and six women today convicted Joseph Barbara Jr., alleged Mafia leader, of extorting $4,000 from the wife of a self-styled former member of the crime syndicate.

The verdict was returned after the jury resumed deliberations today for the second day. It met for 2½ hours Tuesday, then recessed for the night.

Barbara was accused of extorting the money from Mrs. Peter Lazaros while her husband was serving time in Southern Michigan Prison for a fraud conviction.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick Zeim set sentencing for Sept. 16. Maximum sentence on the charge is 20 years in prison.

Barbara was identified as a Mafia chief in 1963 testimony before a U.S. Senate investigating committee.

The governing board of Bay de Noc Community College will will meet in Room 10 at the College at 7:30 tonight. The agenda includes ratification of faculty and student organization policies.

Leo Brunelle, Bark River, reported to State Police the breaking and entering of the Flat Rock School. Officers said that someone forced open a window and took an undetermined amount of money. Troopers are investigating.

Escanaba police are investigating a report of a purse snatching, received from Caron Cartwright, 105 S. 10th St., at 10:35 a.m. today. Police said the thief snatched the purse, containing about $10, at 1st Ave. S. and 14th St.

Traffic court notices have been issued by Escanaba police to Duane Bucklund, Escanaba Rte. 1 and Sandra L. Green, Gladstone, both for failing to exercise due care; and to Edward A. Polka, Bark River, Rte. 2, disobeying a railroad crossing signal.

Featured as Picture of the Day in the art department at the U. P. State Fair today is "Blue Flowers" a water color by Mrs. Joseph Vogt, Escanaba. For Thursday, workers in the department have singled out "Beyond The Road" by Mrs. Herbert Nicholson, Escanaba, for special treatment.

Two young men charged with reckless driving have been sentenced in District court to pay fines and fees and to serve terms in jail. They are Arnold S. Anderson, 19, Wells, and Terrence Harrison, 21, Cornell Rte. 1. They are each to pay fines of $50, $21 costs, $3 fees. In addition Anderson is to serve 3 days in jail and take driver training at his expense; Harrison is to serve 1 day in jail.

Theft Of Copper Brings Jail And Fines To 2 Men

The theft of copper tubing from a construction project in Escanaba will prove costly to two Escanaba young men who were sentenced in District Court on Monday.

Steven C. Larson, 17, Old State Road, is to serve 7 days in jail, 18 months probation, pay $25 fine $3 fees and one-half of $1,695 in restitution.

William Spaulding, 21, of 318 1st Ave. S., is to serve 10 days in jail, two years probation, pay $25 fine and $3 fees, and one-half of the restitution of $1,695.

They were arrested by Escanaba police, who said the youths had broken off and removed copper tubing from the Four Seasons Nursing Home building project on 5th Ave. S.

Astronauts Get N. Y.'s Medals

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay presents the Apollo 11 astronauts with the city's Medal of Honor at City Hall today.

City Council leaders present the moonmen with a Proud City Award. Mrs. Lindsay gives city medallions to the astronauts wives and daughters and tie clasps and belt buckles with the city seal to their sons.

Dorothy Vogt Is Top Art Winner

Dorothy Vogt of Escanaba won the senior grand champion rosette for her entry of three works in the art department at the U. P. State Fair. The winning paintings were "Escanaba River," "Blue Flowers" and "Susan."

Housed in the Industrial Exhibit Building, the art department was so swamped with entries that there was not wall space to hang them all.

"Seagulls" won the blue ribbon in the strong senior oils division for John Schwalbach, Escanaba. Other ribbon winners in order were "Onions" by Mrs. Jerome DeBaker, Cornell; "Poppies," Anne Malone, Munising; "Falling Petals," Lois Nordin, Manistique and "Heavy Load," Lila Bischel, Limestone.

In senior watercolors the top award went to "Low Country" by Tom Beauchamp, Escanaba. Mrs. Arthur Pope of Gladstone was a double winner with a second and a third for "Scene From Window" and "Marquette." "White Birch" won third for Ann Carlson, also from Gladstone and Clara Mosenfelder, Escanaba, won a ribbon for "Freight Depot."

Alice Powers' "Anthony House" topped the miscellaneous division. Following in order were "Contemplation" by Walter Hamilton, Escanaba, "Still Life," Mrs. Arthur Pope; "Horse," Ray Maurin, Ironwood and "Tommy" by Donna Stiglitz, Escanaba.

In the Junior division, housed on the west wall of the same exhibit building, Barbara Ablett, Escanaba, won the sweepstakes emblem for her collection. Yvonne Gayeff's "Windmills" won the blue ribbon in oils. Barbara Ablett's "Madonna" was second and Kathy Olson's "Misty" was third. All three girls are Escanabans. Next was "Still Life" by Lynn Lu Oman, Gladstone and "Springtime" by Laurie Brayak, Bark River.

Betty Pierson, Escanaba, was a double winner in junior watercolors with "Harbor Shadows" first and "Cool Serenity" second. "Bottles" by Terry Anderson, Escanaba, was third. Laurie Brayak had another ribbon winner with "Autumn Day" and Cindy Carlson, Escanaba, won fifth with "Spring Flowers."

Miscellaneous clash winners for the juniors in order were: "Clown," Debra Trombley, Rock; "Fall Docking," Terry Anderson; "Lonely Gull," Kathy Olson; "Covered Bridge," Barbara Ablett and "Linc" Barbara Pierson.

Bensons Win Jersey Honors

A father and son combination from Powers swept the Jersey competition at the U. P. State Fair Tuesday afternoon. Kenneth Benson and his son, Larry, took 23 of the 24 blue ribbons awarded in the purebred Jersey judging.

Kenneth Benson won a total of $338 in premium award money in taking 14 first-place ribbons. Larry won $95 in taking nine championships, including Grand Champion Jersey. The only other winner was Gerald Benson of Carney who took first place in the 2-year-old cow category.

Dr. Peter Spike judged the event.

"Each breed has a different ideal size and characteristics," Dr. Spike said. "When I judge Jerseys, I try to look for a good straight-lined animal. One with a lean neck, and not one carrying a lot of flesh around the hips and pin bones," he explained. Pin bones are located near the cows tail.

Udders are also important in judging.

"A good, strongly attached, long udder is the sign of a good Jersey. The udder doesn't have to be deep, but it should have a large dairy capacity," Dr. Spike said.

THE MIDWAY RIDES AND shows of the Fair's midway are the center of attraction for crowds of young people who thrill to the carnival sights and sounds. Many of the rides are new and some are seen only in the Peninsula at the State Fair. Tuesday's Safety Patrol Day brought 3,000 youngsters to the Fair as guests in recognition of their traffic safety work. (Daily Press Photo)

Youth Finds Fun And Excitement At U.P. Fair

By JANET VERTREES

Bright lights, thousands of exhibits, people, young and old, cotton candy and foot-long hot dogs, stuffed animals and prizes galore, rides, rides, rides — all await you at the 41st annual Upper Peninsula State Fair at Escanaba.

Beginning Tuesday morning at 9 a. m., the crowds started to flock into the Fairgrounds. Many young people seeking jobs were standing around the booths while the younger ones looked in awe at the sights and sounds of the W. G. Wade Shows on the Midway.

Busses started rolling into the parking lots filled with safety patrol children from all over the U. P., to celebrate the 17th annual Safety Patrol Day. These boys and girls have worked many hours to promote school safety.

Safety Patrol's 3,000

For this, they were given a free ticket to each of the Merry-Go-Round, Ferris Wheel and the Octopus, a button which entitled them to reduced rates on the other rides and a ticket to the picnic lunch at 4 p. m.

After a day in the sun and fun, the children gathered around the 4-H barns and stood in line to devour ice cream, hot dogs, soft drinks and fruits by the case. The picnic was sponsored by the Michigan Automobile Club, State Police, W. G. Wade Shows, Northwest Fruit Co., Volwerth's Meat, Our Own Bakeries, Escanaba Bottling Works and Bancroft Dairy.

A luncheon for the supervisors of the boys and girls was held at noon yesterday at the House of Ludington and was sponsored by the Michigan Auto Club of Detroit.

An estimated 3,000 children attended the Safety Patrol Day.

Fiddlin' Farmer Pleases

Yee! Ha! Give me some of that good old foot stompin' music. The Fiddlin' Farmer, performing in his little red Barn, was Tuesday's free grandstand attraction. Five men and one woman made up the Country and Western Band which brought large crowds off the midway Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Among the many colorful aspects of the Fair — and one popular with the teenagers — is the "dance tent" near the main gate. Here, under a tent 40 feet wide and 60 feet long, there is dancing for young people that began on Tuesday and will continue tonight and Thursday.

Three local dance combos — "The Prophets of Doom" on Tuesday, "Porridge" today and "The Riot Squad" on Thursday — supply music for dancing.

The square dancers will get their turn at the dance floor tent on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Ticker Tape Parade Leads Off Festivities

strong said, pausing and waving, "wonderful."

Just two minutes before 11 a.m., the astronauts appeared at the door of City Hall to a thunderous, rolling cheer from the more than 10,000 persons massed around City Hall Plaza. Automobile horns blared.

With their hands placed over their hearts, the astronauts listened, with all the others, to the U.S. Army Band playing the national anthem.

Terence Cardinal Cooke, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, prayed: "Oh Lord of the universe we thank You for the safe return of these three courageous men . . . who went to the moon for peace for all mankind."

The ladders from two aerial fire trucks formed an arch of triumph near City Hall, and on it was draped a banner with the words "Welcome Astronauts" and a picture of a huge bald eagle, its wings spread, touching down to the moon.

Lindsay gave the astronauts the gold medals of the City of New York, hanging the medal and ribbon first around Armstrong's neck.

"On behalf of the thousands of people of the Apollo program across this country," Armstrong said, "it is a privilege for me to accept the medal.

The ticker tape parade went on from City Hall.

Across from City Hall, students at Pace College unfurled a huge banner from third-floor windows reading: "Pace College Salutes the Men of Apollo 11."

The flags of the United States, New York State and New York City fluttered from lamp poles around City Hall Park and at the Battery. Red, white and blue Apollo 11 decals adorned the windshields of police motorcycles.

"That's certainly the last thing we're prepared for," Armstrong told a news conference in Houston Tuesday, when asked about the celebrations.

The entire coast-to-coast program of frenzied tribute will consume far less than the 21½ hours the Apollo 11 lunar module spent July 20-21 on the surface of the moon.

Theft Of Copper Brings Jail And Fines To 2 Men

The theft of copper tubing from a construction project in Escanaba will prove costly to two Escanaba young men who were sentenced in District Court on Monday.

Steven C. Larson, 17, Old State Road, is to serve 7 days in jail, 18 months probation, pay $25 fine $3 fees and one-half of $1,695 in restitution.

William Spaulding, 21, of 318 1st Ave. S., is to serve 10 days in jail, two years probation, pay $25 fine and $3 fees, and one-half of the restitution of $1,695.

They were arrested by Escanaba police, who said the youths had broken off and removed copper tubing from the Four Seasons Nursing Home building project on 5th Ave. S.

Escanaba Area's Crime Rate Low, Rotarians Told

Escanaba has its crime problems, particularly in the area of offenses by youth, but it has little major crime compared to cities of about the same population near metropolitan centers, Police Chief Richard Frederick told the Rotary Club Tuesday noon.

The city's police chief was introduced by Isadore Stein of the club's program committee, and the meeting was conducted by Frank Bourke, Rotary vice president.

Chief Frederick reported to the club on his experiences as chief and in particular his role as a student at the Federal Bureau of Investigation School in Washington, D. C.

He praised the FBI training given the officers (there have been 4,800 graduates with three from the Upper Peninsula) since the school was founded by J. Edgar Hoover in 1935. Guardianship of civil rights, protection of the weak, with "fidelity, bravery, and intelligence" by officers of the law were standards set by Hoover and continued to the present.

Chief Frederick and the other 99 graduates received their diplomas on May 28 from President Richard Nixon at ceremonies in Washington attended by Hoover and other federal officials. A reception for the graduates and their families was hosted by the President and Mrs. Nixon at the White House.

Stressing sociology, psychology and criminal law, the course also gave the trainees instruction in use of weapons and modern criminal investigation techniques.

The valuable training has helped communities throughout the United States and its possessions, said Chief Frederick, who heads Escanaba's 22-man police force. He said Escanaba's officers are well equipped and there is not a high turnover in personnel.

Replying to questions, the chief said he believes there is a need for traffic study; that so far there has been no solution to the problem of "racing" of young drivers on Ludington St.; and that in most instances of offenses by youth the parents "do not cooperate in discipline."

Weather Effect Seen In Crops

One of the U.P. State Fair's weakest showings this year is in the agriculture department, where the effects of the cold weather last spring are all too evident.

Joseph Heirman, Escanaba, judge of the department pointed these out — but also noted that some crops made a good growth. These he termed "cold weather crops" such as carrots, beans and onions.

"They came through well," he noted.

The region had unsually chill weather in May and June, with good growing weather not starting until July. The growth on all crops was retarded.

"The Fair is a little bit earlier this year too, and if we had been given a couple more weeks there would have been improvement in the cabbage, squash, tomatoes and cucumbers, to name a few," said Heirman.

"There's no lack of interest on the part of the gardeners and growers for the number of entries is just as high as last year, but the weather was against them."

For instance, there was but one sample of table corn, and that not yet ripe enough to eat. It was entered by Mike Derkos, 320 N. 20th St., Escanaba. "Another week and it would have been ripe," said Heirman.

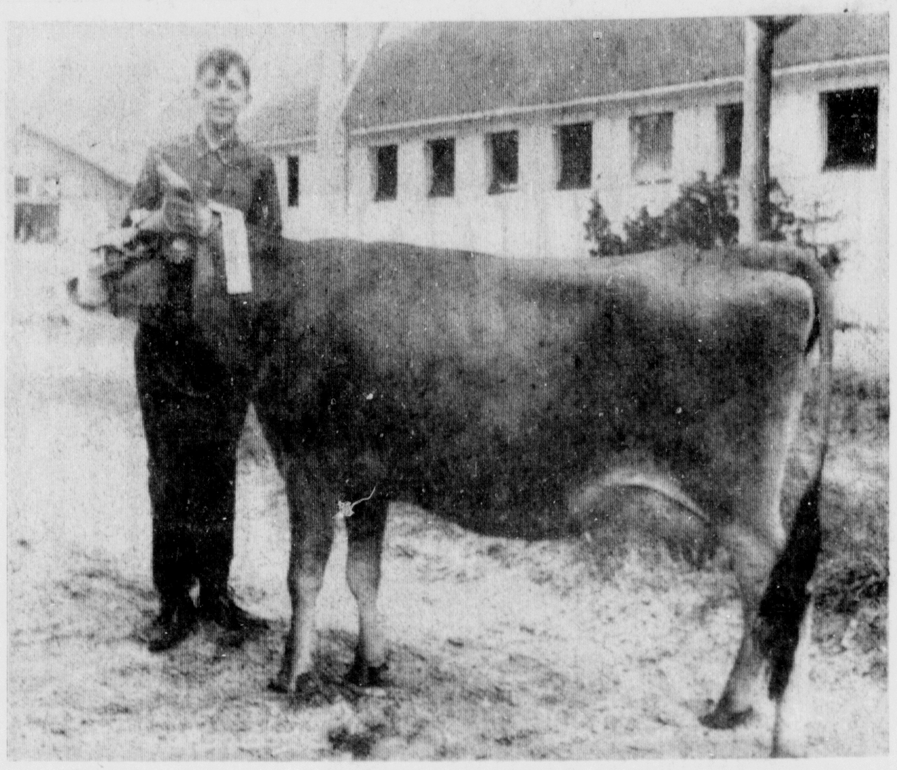

One sample of ripe tomatoes was on display, entered by Mrs. Lydia Cowell of Masonville.

Mrs. Caroline Zeoli (Lee's Studio)

Kathleen Ann Pepin, Carmine Zeoli Wed

St. Thomas the Apostle Church in Escanaba was the setting Saturday, Aug. 9 for the wedding of Kathleen Ann Pepin and Carmine Zeoli.

The Rev. Arnold Thompson officiated at the nuptials at 1 p. m. Vases of yellow flowers adorned the church altar for the service. During the ceremony, the bride placed a red rose at the altar of the Virgin Mary.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose J. Pepin, 529 N. 19th St. and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Zeoli, 700 Fulton St., Farmington, N. Y.

Matron of honor for her sister was Janis Wyatt of Watson and bridesmaids were Janice Pietrowski of Perronville, Carol Gyorki of Allen Park, Mich. and Geri Berthiaume, West Bend, Wis.

Organasa, Lace

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length silk organza gown styled with lace appliques on the skirt front, long sleeves and chapel train.

Organza flowers and petals with pearl trim secured her tripled tiered veil and she carried a single red rose.

Yellow, Green

The bridal aides wore floor length frocks of lace over taffeta with matching bow headpieces. The honor matron wore yellow and the maids, mint green. They carried yellow rose bouquets.

Little Lynn Hurkman of Arnold was flower girl for her cousin and carrying the rings was Jay Gravelle of Escanaba.

Serving as bestman was Michael Armatti of Arnold and performing ushering duties were Norbert DeGroot of Northland and Charles Couwels of West Bend.

Brocade Ensemble

Mrs. Pepin wore for her daughter's wedding a green and beige brocade ensemble with matching accessories and Mrs. Zeoli chose a coco brown silk ensemble. Both mothers were presented corsages of green cymbilium orchids.

Mrs. Mary Sakal, grandmother of the bride, was presented a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

The wedding reception was held at the Dells Supper Club. The couple will honeymoon enroute to Tulsa, Okla. where the bridegroom will be attending the Spartan School of Aeronautics.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Northern Michigan University where she was affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta Sorority and her husband has spent two years with the U. S. Army stationed at Fort Richardson, Anchorage, Alaska.

Nurse Refresher Course Is Planned

The Michigan Nurses Association and Michigan Employment Security Commission have announced plans for a 240-hour refresher course for registered nurses in Escanaba.

Inactive registered nurses licensed from other states or foreign countries are eligible for the course, providing they are willing and able to return to nursing.

Providing sufficient nurses are interested, the refresher course will be offered by Bay de Noc Community College with clinical practice at St. Francis Hospital, reports Ruth E. Blakeley of East Lansing, coordinator of the program for the Michigan Nurses Association.

Plans are that the course will be offered from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. four days a week for eight weeks beginning about Sept. 15.

Persons interested should register with the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

The refresher program has been funded by the federal government. The MESC and Michigan Nurses Association are seeking 500 inactive registered nurses for refresher courses in 10 cities. By 1970, Michigan will need 7,000 more RNs than were available in 1964 and in recent years the flow of new graduates from Michigan nursing schools has not been sufficient to replace nurses who retired or became inactive.

Be Saucy With Sausage In Casserole

Saucy is defined as being smart and trim. You can be saucy in making a meal by using cans of Vienna-style sausage with a white sauce and frozen vegetables for a speedy, tasty casserole.

These canned sausages are a convenience food. They can be used right from the can as snacks, for sandwiches or a meal in a dish as this one.

Vienna Sausage Casserole

2 cans (4 ounces each) Vienna-style sausages
1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
¼ cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1 package (10 ounces) frozen broccoli, cooked
2 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
¼ cup bread crumbs

Cook onion in butter until tender. Stir in flour and salt. Add milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in cheese. Cut broccoli in 1-inch pieces and place in bottom of a greased, 1½-quart casserole. Sprinkle ½ of the chopped eggs over broccoli. Cover with a layer of Vienna-style sausages and then the remaining chopped eggs. Pour cheese sauce over top. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. 4 servings.

Dear Heloise:

I like to use copper pot scrubbers and this is what I do to keep them from soiling!

I use a pint-size plastic container and a double square of foil paper. I hold the foil over the container and punch holes in the foil with a large kitchen fork. Then I press the foil paper halfway down into the container.

This acts like a strainer for my scrubber and allows the water to drain off.

For those of you who own cats and find them clawing your furniture (they do this to sharpen their claws)!

A good way to prevent damage to furniture is to cover a cement block or a short log with some thick cloth or a piece of old rug.

When you catch your cat clawing on the furniture, pick her up and take her to where you have the "clawing block."

The cat will soon catch on to what you want her to do! Saves your furniture and your nerves.

Expos Win Doubleheader To Tighten League Race

By The Associated Press

The rain that fell on Phil Niekro and the Braves in Atlanta Tuesdaynnight was nothing compared to the unexpected storm the Cincinnati Reds encountered in Montreal.

And when the skies had cleared and the dust had settled, the crowded race in the National League West was as muddied as ever.

By sweeping a twi-nighter from Cincinnati 8-3 and 5-2, the lowly Expos sliced the Reds' lead in the NL West to two games over Atlanta, 2½ over Los Angeles and San Francisco and three over Houston.

Meanwhile, for the second time in two weeks, the Braves and Niekro were rained out a big lead—this time 5-0—in the fourth inning of a game with Philadelphia.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles shocked St. Louie 5-2, San Francisco beat Pittsburgh 6-3, Houston shaded New York 8-7 and the Chicago Cubs blanked San Diego 4-0, stretching their lead in the NL East to 8½ games over the Mets and Cardinals.

The Reds, who outlasted a 2½-hour tornado to beat Philadelphia Saturday night, invaded Montreal with a five-game winning streak while the Expos had lost six in a row. But the Expos, led by Coco Laboy, started their thunder in the first inning of the opener and never let up.

Laboy drove in five runs, three in the first game, and pitcher Steve Renko, who won the opener with a seven-hitter, Rusty Staub and Adolfo Phillips belted solo homers, while the homer-happy Reds settled for two-run shots by Alex Johnson in the opener and Johnny Bench in the nightcap.

Laboy singled in two runs in the very first inning of the evening and added another with a grounder in the third as the Expos grabbed a 6-0 lead. He had a run-scoring single in the first inning of the nightcap and doubled home the final run in the seventh.

Renko went the route in the first game and Bill Stoneman worked into the eighth of the finale, when the Reds loaded the bases. Elroy Face got Pete Rose on a grounder for the final out of the inning and retired the side in order in the ninth.

Niekro, seeking to become the NL's first 17-game winner, was breezing along when the rains came in Atlanta. It was exactly two weeks to the night after Niekro had an 8-0 lead washed out in Philadelphia.

Another loser was Henry Aaron, whose 30th home run went down the drain.

Manny Mota tied the score with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the eighth inning and Jim Lefebvre followed with a three-run homer as the Dodgers turned back St. Louis and prevented the Cards from moving past the Mets into second place in the East. The four-run uprising came against reliever Joe Hoerner.

Bill Sudakis homered for the Dodgers in the sixth as they started their comeback from a 2-0 deficit.

Jim Davenport drove in three runs with two singles and a double as the Giants tripped the Pirates and Gaylord Perry, 15-8, struggled to a 10-hit triumph and survived homers by Willie Stargell and Jose Pagan.

The Astros continued to plague the Mets, whipping them for the eighth straight time. Curt Blefary put Houston ahead 6-5 in the sixth with a three-run homer and prevented the tying run from scoring in the eighth with a fine defensive play.

Ferguson Jenkins hurled the Cubs past the Padres with a six-hitter. He struck out 10 and protected his shutout after Nate Colbert opened the ninth with a triple by fanning Al Ferrara and Ivan Murrell and getting Chris Cannizzaro on a tap to third.

The Cubs took a 2-0 lead in the third on singles by Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Billy Williams and Ron Santo's double play grounder. Ernie Banks doubled and Randy Hundley singled for another run in the eighth and Jim Hickman walloped his 10th homer in the ninth.

Kuhn Expected To Become Top Man Full Time

SEATTLE (AP) — Bowie Kuhn, protem commissioner of baseball since last February, was expected to become the game's full fledged boss today at the formal session of the annual summer meeting of the major leagues.

Owners of the National and American League teams met behind closed doors Tuesday, but it war learned both groups have Kuhn unanimous approval.

The New York attorney, who was the National League's legal representative for 10 years, received the temporary appointment last February as successor to William Eckert under a $100,000 one-year contract. The terms and length of his new contract were not learned.

There had been reports a contract would cover four years but one owner said this belief stemmed from a discussion at last winter's meeting and was not official. Previous commissioners have served under seven-year pacts.

The leagues decided each will hold a best three of five championship series to decide the pennant winners, which will meet in the World Series.

These playoffs are to start Oct. 4 in the home city of the American League's East Division winner and the home park of the West Division leader in the National League. After two games at the opening site the teams will switch to the opposition park to complete the series. There will be no idle day for travel.

Simpson Held Out Of Contact Because Bills Forgot Helmet

By The Associated Press

The Buffalo Bills shelled out a reported $350,000 to nail O. J. Simpson's signature to an American Football League contract but forgot one minor detail —a helmet.

Even before the heralded Heisman Trophy winning halfback from Southern California trotted out to make his pro debut in a scrimmage Tuesday at the Bills' training camp in Niagara Falls, N.Y., it was revealed that Buffalo didn't have a helmet which would fit the elongated face of Simpson.

So until a specially-made helmet is airlifted in from California, the highest paid rookie since the merger of the AFL-National League in 1966, who signed a four-year pact Saturday after holding out four weeks, will not be able to join in any contact drills.

However, the 22-year-old Simpson did work out in a two-hour drill wearing uniform No. 36. Simpson wore No. 32 in college but that number is worn by veteran running back Gary McDermott.

The Bills, 1-1 in exhibition play, will face the NFL Detroit Lions Friday in an exhibition game.

"I'll be ready to play Friday. Mentally though it may be difficult because this is a difficult system to learn here," Simpson said.

Elsewhere in the AFL, the champion New York Jets, 1-1, worked out in preparation for their Sunday game with their arch-rivals of the NFL, the New York Giants, 0-1.

And Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets said Joe Namath will play at least half of the game in the Yale Bowl at New Haven, Conn.

"He wants to play and he needs to play," Ewbank said. "But we also have to find a No. 2 quarterback. So Babe Parilli and Al Woodall also will play."

Meanwhile, Allie Sherman, coach of the Giants, said that Fran Tarkenton will play as long as the Giants have a chance of winning this first ever battle between the two New York teams.

"We're going to play our best football players. We want to get an idea of just how good we are. We're going to play to win," Sherman said.

Elsewhere, Marlin "The Magician" Briscoe, first Negro quarterback to pilot a major pro football team for an extended time, was made a free agent by the AFL Denver Broncos.

Lou Saban, coach and general manager of the Broncos, said that none of the other nine AFL clubs claimed Briscoe for the $100 waiver price.

The Broncos had placed Briscoe on the injured list last week but Briscoe told reporters he was not injured. He claimed the Broncos just wanted to get rid of him.

A statement from the Denver office said that Briscoe left camp voluntarily and would have had an opportunity to show what he could do had he stayed.

The AFL Boston Patriots cut four players, including the team's No. 1 draft choice of four years ago, offensive lineman Karl Singer.

Others released were tight end Barry Gallup from Boston College and receivers Bill Murphy Jr., and Tom Whittier.

Cincinnati of the AFL let three players go—tight end Ken Herok, back Bob Currington and receiver Alvin Scott. Meanwhile, former Bengal quarterback Dewey Warren, just recently released, was signed by the Las Vegas club of the Continental League.

The Bills cut veteran fullback Bob Cappadona and rookie linebacker Mark Proskine of Northwestern.

Over in the Chicago Bears' NFL camp offensive guard George Seals walked out, and owner George Halas said Seals would be fined $200 for every practice day he misses.

Seals left camp Monday night but would not discuss the reason. Reportedly, it was a contract dispute.

Halas added that Seals will be fined an additional $1,000 for each pre-season game he misses. The Bears face Green Bay in Milwaukee Saturday night.

Detroit pitcher Joe Sparma was out of action Tuesday with a virus problem which has been making the rounds of the team. Tom Matchick returned Tuesday after a night off with the ailment Monday and collected three hits in three times at bat.

Incidental intelligence from Michigan: Norm Cash has surpassed Hank Greenberg in eighth place in times at bat for the Tigers.

Willie Horton and Bill Freehan have now hit safely in their last eight games.

Rookie Mike Kilkenny, who completed his first major league game Tuesday night, for the Tigers, attributed his three-hit pitching success to various speeds and curves. "I change speeds once in awhile to make them think about it for future reference. It's like picking a guy off first. Once you've done it to a team, they won't steal on you so much."

Jackson Snaps Slump; Orioles Notch Victory

By The Associated Press

Reggie Jackson of Oakland snapped a home run slump with his 42nd roundtripper, ending a string of scoreless relief appearances by Baltimore's Pete Richert.

But Richert wound up with a victory instead of a save and Jackson's two-run ninth inning blast was wasted as the Orioles won 4-3 Tuesday night on Paul Blair's run-producing single in the bottom of the ninth.

Despite the loss, Oakland remained only one game behind the first-place Minnesota Twins in the American League's Western Division, and things could be looking up if Jackson is ready to go on another homer binge.

New York routed the Twins, 10-3.

The home run, after Baltimore starter Tom Phoebus had walked Jose Tartabull, was Jackson's first in 56 plate appearances and 39 official times at bat, and only his second off Oriole pitching this year. In 14 previous games, he had been walked 21 times.

Richert came out of the bullpen with a record of two victories and four saves in his last eight relief appearances dating back to July 16, during which time he had pitched shutout ball while allowing four hits in 8 2-3 innings.

In other games, the Chicago White Sox blasted erring Boston 10-5, Cleveland edged Seattle 6-5 and Kansas City beat Washington 6-3.

The Yankees, winning their ninth game in 10 starts, scored eight runs in the seventh inning —their biggest inning since July 2, 1965—to overcome a 3-2 deficit. Gene Michael tripled in the tying run and reliever Al Worthington walked in two runs. After Len Beehmer's run-scoring hit, Bill Robinson singled in two runs and Horace Clarke tripled for the final two.

A two-run homer by loser Jim Kaat, 11-9, and a solo shot by Leo Cardenas had put the Twins ahead before they lost their fifth in a row.

The White Sox scored five unearned runs on three errors and a passed ball and Bill Melton and Ken Berry hit solo homers, snapping a six-game losing streak, despite homers by Russ Gibson and Tony Conigliaro of the Red Sox.

Ken Harrelson and Duke Sims stroke consecutive homers, climaxing a tie-breaking five-run fifth inning for Cleveland's victory.

Kansas City overcame Lee Maye's two-run homer in the first inning when Ellie Rodriguez singled home one run and two more scored on consecutive squeeze bunts by Jackie Hernandez and winner Wailly Bunker, 7-9, in the second. Rodriguez then singled in the decisive run in the third for a 4-2 lead.

Expos Win Doubleheader To Tighten League Race

By The Associated Press

The rain that fell on Phil Niekro and the Braves in Atlanta Tuesdaynnight was nothing compared to the unexpected storm the Cincinnati Reds encountered in Montreal.

And when the skies had cleared and the dust had settled, the crowded race in the National League West was as muddied as ever.

By sweeping a twi-nighter from Cincinnati 8-3 and 5-2, the lowly Expos sliced the Reds' lead in the NL West to two games over Atlanta, 2½ over Los Angeles and San Francisco and three over Houston.

Meanwhile, for the second time in two weeks, the Braves and Niekro were rained out a big lead—this time 5-0—in the fourth inning of a game with Philadelphia.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles shocked St. Louie 5-2, San Francisco beat Pittsburgh 6-3. Houston shaded New York 8-7 and the Chicago Cubs blanked San Diego 4-0, stretching their lead in the NL East to 8½ games over the Mets and Cardinals.

The Reds, who outlasted a 2½-hour tornado to beat Philadelphia Saturday night, invaded Montreal with a five-game winning streak while the Expos had lost six in a row. But the Expos, led by Coco Laboy, started their thunder in the first inning of the opener and never let up.

Laboy drove in five runs, three in the first game, and pitcher Steve Renko, who won the opener with a seven-hitter, Rusty Staub and Adolfo Phillips belted solo homers, while the homer-happy Reds settled for two-run shots by Alex Johnson in the opener and Johnny Bench in the nightcap.

Laboy singled in two runs in the very first inning of the evening and added another with a grounder in the third as the Expos grabbed a 6-0 lead. He had a run-scoring single in the first inning of the nightcap and doubled home the final run in the seventh.

Renko went the route in the first game and Bill Stoneman worked into the eighth of the finale, when the Reds loaded the bases. Elroy Face got Pete Rose on a grounder for the final out of the inning and retired the side in order in the ninth.

Niekro, seeking to become the NL's first 17-game winner, was breezing along when the rains came in Atlanta. It was exactly two weeks to the night after Niekro had an 8-0 lead washed out in Philadelphia.

Another loser was Henry Aaron, whose 30th home run went down the drain.

Manny Mota tied the score with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the eighth inning and Jim Lefebvre followed with a three-run homer as the Dodgers turned back St. Louis and prevented the Cards from moving past the Mets into second place in the East. The four-run uprising came against reliever Joe Hoerner.

Bill Sudakis homered for the Dodgers in the sixth as they started their comeback from a 2-0 deficit.

Jim Davenport drove in three runs with two singles and a double as the Giants tripped the Pirates and Gaylord Perry, 15-8, struggled to a 10-hit triumph and survived homers by Willie Stargell and Jose Pagan.

The Astros continued to plague the Mets, whipping them for the eighth straight time. Curt Blefary put Houston ahead 6-5 in the sixth with a three-run homer and prevented the tying run from scoring in the eighth with a fine defensive play.

Ferguson Jenkins hurled the Cubs past the Padres with a six-hitter. He struck out 10 and protected his shutout after Nate Colbert opened the ninth with a triple by fanning Al Ferrara and Ivan Murrell and getting Chris Cannizzaro on a tap to third.

The Cubs took a 2-0 lead in the third on singles by Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Billy Williams and Ron Santo's double play grounder. Ernie Banks doubled and Randy Hundley singled for another run in the eighth and Jim Hickman walloped his 10th homer in the ninth.

Kuhn Expected To Become Top Man Full Time

SEATTLE (AP) — Bowie Kuhn, protem commissioner of baseball since last February, was expected to become the game's full fledged boss today at the formal session of the annual summer meeting of the major leagues.

Owners of the National and American League teams met behind closed doors Tuesday, but it war learned both groups have Kuhn unanimous approval.

The New York attorney, who was the National League's legal representative for 10 years, received the temporary appointment last February as successor to William Eckert under a $100,000 one-year contract. The terms and length of his new contract were not learned.

There had been reports a contract would cover four years but one owner said this belief stemmed from a discussion at last winter's meeting and was not official. Previous commissioners have served under seven-year pacts.

The leagues decided each will hold a best three of five championship series to decide the pennant winners, which will meet in the World Series.

These playoffs are to start Oct. 4 in the home city of the American League's East Division winner and the home park of the West Division leader in the National League. After two games at the opening site the teams will switch to the opposition park to complete the series. There will be no idle day for travel.

Simpson Held Out Of Contact Because Bills Forgot Helmet

By The Associated Press

The Buffalo Bills shelled out a reported $350,000 to nail O. J. Simpson's signature to an American Football League contract but forgot one minor detail —a helmet.

Even before the heralded Heisman Trophy winning halfback from Southern California trotted out to make his pro debut in a scrimmage Tuesday at the Bills' training camp in Niagara Falls, N.Y., it was revealed that Buffalo didn't have a helmet which would fit the elongated face of Simpson.

So until a specially-made helmet is airlifted in from California, the highest paid rookie since the merger of the AFL-National League in 1966, who signed a four-year pact Saturday after holding out four weeks, will not be able to join in any contact drills.

However, the 22-year-old Simpson did work out in a two-hour drill wearing uniform No. 36. Simpson wore No. 32 in college but that number is worn by veteran running back Gary McDermott.

The Bills, 1-1 in exhibition play, will face the NFL Detroit Lions Friday in an exhibition game.

"I'll be ready to play Friday. Mentally though it may be difficult because this is a difficult system to learn here," Simpson said.

Elsewhere in the AFL, the champion New York Jets, 1-1, worked out in preparation for their Sunday game with their arch-rivals of the NFL, the New York Giants, 0-1.

And Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets said Joe Namath will play at least half of the game in the Yale Bowl at New Haven, Conn.

"He wants to play and he needs to play," Ewbank said. "But we also have to find a No. 2 quarterback. So Babe Parilli and Al Woodall also will play."

Meanwhile, Allie Sherman, coach of the Giants, said that Fran Tarkenton will play as long as the Giants have a chance of winning this first ever battle between the two New York teams.

"We're going to play our best football players. We want to get an idea of just how good we are. We're going to play to win," Sherman said.

Elsewhere, Marlin "The Magician" Briscoe, first Negro quarterback to pilot a major pro football team for an extended time, was made a free agent by the AFL Denver Broncos.

Lou Saban, coach and general manager of the Broncos, said that none of the other nine AFL clubs claimed Briscoe for the $100 waiver price.

The Broncos had placed Briscoe on the injured list last week but Briscoe told reporters he was not injured. He claimed the Broncos just wanted to get rid of him.

A statement from the Denver office said that Briscoe left camp voluntarily and would have had an opportunity to show what he could do had he stayed.

The AFL Boston Patriots cut four players, including the team's No. 1 draft choice of four years ago, offensive lineman Karl Singer.

Others released were tight end Barry Gallup from Boston College and receivers Bill Murphy Jr., and Tom Whittier.

Cincinnati of the AFL let three players go—tight end Ken Herok, back Bob Currington and receiver Alvin Scott. Meanwhile, former Bengal quarterback Dewey Warren, just recently released, was signed by the Las Vegas club of the Continental League.

The Bills cut veteran fullback Bob Cappadona and rookie linebacker Mark Proskine of Northwestern.

Over in the Chicago Bears' NFL camp offensive guard George Seals walked out, and owner George Halas said Seals would be fined $200 for every practice day he misses.

Seals left camp Monday night but would not discuss the reason. Reportedly, it was a contract dispute.

Halas added that Seals will be fined an additional $1,000 for each pre-season game he misses. The Bears face Green Bay in Milwaukee Saturday night.

Tiger Tales

By The Associated Press

The Tigers 7-1 victory Tuesday night over the California Angels was their sixth win in the last seven starts.

★ ★ ★

Detroit pitcher Joe Sparma was out of action Tuesday with a virus problem which has been making the rounds of the team. Tom Matchick returned Tuesday after a night off with the ailment Monday and collected three hits in three times at bat.

Incidental intelligence from California: "The Angels are 8-8 on Tuesdays."

★ ★ ★

Incidental intelligence from Michigan: Norm Cash has surpassed Hank Greenberg in eighth place in times at bat for the Tigers.

Willie Horton and Bill Freehan have now hit safely in their last eight games.

Rookie Mike Kilkenny, who completed his first major league game Tuesday night, for the Tigers, attributed his three-hit pitching success to various speeds and curves. "I change speeds once in awhile to make them think about it for future reference. It's like picking a guy off first. Once you've done it to a team, they won't steal on you so much."

★ ★ ★

The Major Leagues' winningest pitcher last year, Dennis McLain, goes after victory No. 18 tonight at Tiger Stadium against the California Angels. McLain, who leads the American League in victories this season, has lost six games. He won 31 games last year.

Jackson Snaps Slump; Orioles Notch Victory

By The Associated Press

Reggie Jackson of Oakland snapped a home run slump with his 42nd roundtripper, ending a string of scoreless relief appearances by Baltimore's Pete Richert.

But Richert wound up with a victory instead of a save and Jackson's two-run ninth inning blast was wasted as the Orioles won 4-3 Tuesday night on Paul Blair's run-producing single in the bottom of the ninth.

Despite the loss, Oakland remained only one game behind the first-place Minnesota Twins in the American League's Western Division, and things could be looking up if Jackson is ready to go on another homer binge.

New York routed the Twins, 10-3.

The home run, after Baltimore starter Tom Phoebus had walked Jose Tartabull, was Jackson's first in 56 plate appearances and 39 official times at bat, and only his second off Oriole pitching this year. In 14 previous games, he had been walked 21 times.

Richert came out of the bullpen with a record of two victories and four saves in his last eight relief appearances dating back to July 16, during which time he had pitched shutout ball while allowing four hits in 8 2-3 innings.

In other games, the Chicago White Sox blasted erring Boston 10-5, Cleveland edged Seattle 6-5 and Kansas City beat Washington 6-3.

The Yankees, winning their ninth game in 10 starts, scored eight runs in the seventh inning—their biggest inning since July 2, 1965—to overcome a 3-2 deficit. Gene Michael tripled in the tying run and reliever Al Worthington walked in two runs. After Len Beehmer's run-scoring hit, Bill Robinson singled in two runs and Horace Clarke tripled for the final two.

A two-run homer by loser Jim Kaat, 11-9, and a solo shot by Leo Cardenas had put the Twins ahead before they lost their fifth in a row.

The White Sox scored five unearned runs on three errors and a passed ball and Bill Melton and Ken Berry hit solo homers, snapping a six-game losing streak, despite homers by Russ Gibson and Tony Conigliaro of the Red Sox.

Ken Harrelson and Duke Sims stroke consecutive homers, climaxing a tie-breaking five-run fifth inning for Cleveland's victory.

Kansas City overcame Lee Maye's two-run homer in the first inning when Ellie Rodriguez singled home one run and two more scored on consecutive squeeze bunts by Jackie Hernandez and winner Wailly Bunker, 7-9, in the second. Rodriguez then singled in the decisive run in the third for a 4-2 lead.

Highland Race Remains Tight

Smitty's Smackers retained their slim lead in the Highland Golf Club's Twilight League race following last night's action. With only two more weeks of regular league action left to go, the race remains tight with the W. R.'s just a point and half back and Jerry's Jets within striking distance, just four and a half points behind.

Jack Smith and Wayne Wood set the scoring pace last night, as each shot a 35. Wood also had a 39 on the back nine. Following were Dave Friets 37-39, Bob Olson and Jerry Sundquist 38's, Bob Heymen, Barney Barnhart and Paul DeBen 39's, Con Pratt and pair of 39's, Ward Steimert 39-40 and Ron Koth, Jim Schultz, Bill Thomas, Jack Keane, Jim Douglas and Bill McCarthy with 40's.

Golf ball winners were John Duca, Ben Douglas, Norm Niquette, Ed Land, Bob Snow, Mike Utt and Dave Friets.

League Leaders Stay Bunched

Following play in the Escanaba Country Club's Twi-Light League last night, the standings showed the Finishers in the top spot holding a narrow half point lead over the Acers and the Ice Boxes in third place, just a point behind the leader.

Wendell Green and Jack Magnuson paced all scorers for the evening with 38's while Bill Eis Sr., Bob Turner, Harold VanEffen and Ed Gravelle came in with 39's and Jim Fitzharris, Al Taylor, Tom Gregoire and Ken Turner had 40's.

In Best Ball play, Bill Perron and Dr. Gary Bradley took first place honors with a net 29 and Jim Emerson and Tom Neuman placed second with a net 30. John Chown and George Shomin, Cliff Reno and Jim Moore, Jack Magnuson and H. T. Olson, George Shomin and Ben Shomin, and Dr. John LeMire and Walt Nelson all finished in a tie for third place with net 32's. Jean Cote' was closest to the pin on No. 7.

Country Club pro Jim Crichton also announced that couples golf on Friday night will be a Best-Ball, draw for partners.

Team standings: Finishers 18½, Acers 18, Ice Boxes 17½, Chown's Clowns 16½, Hush Puppies 16, No-No's 15½, Has Beens and Pixies 15, Green Berets and Pea Soups 14½, Iron Men and Pro-Five 14, Big O's and Show-Men 11½, Tim's Tigers and Tornados 11, Jack's Pack 10½ and Gravel Gerties 10.

FLAG DEDICATION — The new flag pole at the Highland Golf Club was dedicated last night before play in the Tuesday night Twilight League in an impressive ceremony conducted by Leo Knauf and Henry Boyle, representing the Rheaume-Knauf American Legion Post 438 of Bark River. The flag was presented to club president Hazen Hengesh, center, by Boyle, right, and was donated to the Highland by the family of the late Robert Boucher, who was one of the club's most ardent members. The pole was donated by Runar Beck and was raised chiefly through the efforts of Einar Beck and Joe Langlois. Knauf is shown at the left watching the presentation. (Dialy Press Photo).

Celtics Bought For $6 Million

BOSTON (AP) — "The Celtics are synonomous with championships. Red Auerbach is synonymous with championships. We think it's a privelege to pay $6 million for the team."

Thus the president of a New York holding company explains his group's thinking in paying what he believes to be the highest price ever for a basketball franchise—topping the $5 million spent by Jack Kent Cooke to bring the Lakers to Los Angeles several years ago.

"Our confidence is based on the market location, the historical support of the franchise and the management team," E. E. "Woody" Erdman, board chairman and president of Trans National Communications Inc. added at a news conference announcing the transaction Tuesday.

Erdman and his associates said they couldn't understand anyone even thinking in terms of moving the team from the city where it has flourished over the past dozen years or so as probably the greatest dynasty in pro sports history.

"We'll keep them here, of course," said George Kokines, another official of the company. "Where else would be put them? The tradition is here."

Kokines also expressed the hope that the change in ownership might be a factor in influencing Bill Russell to reconsider his recently announced retirement as player-coach.

"I like to think that there's a greater chance of his coming back now," he said. "Our company has a lot of things to offer to a man in his position."

Auerbach was described by Erdman as a key to the firm's interest.

"Players come and go, but Red is always there and he's always been successful," Erdman said.

He added that his firm wants to lengthen the current contracts of both Auerbach, who holds the title of general manager and executive vice president of the Celtics, and Jack Waldron, president of the team, and to make both men vice presidents of the parent company.

Trans National is a relatively new firm which owns the Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League. It has various other holdings and has indicated it is in the market for more major league sports franchises.

The acquisition of the Celtics involves a complicated financial transaction with cash, stock and chases, and no one was commenting on the actual amount of cash involved.

The deal became possible when P. Ballantine & Sons Brewery Co., which bought the Celtics about a year ago, was taken over as a wholly owned subsidiary by Investors Funding Corp.

Investors Funding was anxious to sell the basketball team, while Ballantine wanted to remain in the sports picture and even step up its sports promotional activities.

Essentially, Trans National has acquired 100 per cent ownership of the Celtics, turning over cash and stock plus stock warrants to Ballantine and also agreeing to provide various sports films and other services to the brewery.

Martin Claims Brawl Is 'A Closed Matter'

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Martin, fiery manager of Minnesota's embattled Twins, said Tuesday night his brawl with pitcher Dave Boswell was a "closed matter" and denied a published report that All-Star second baseman Rod Carew took himself out of a recent game without permission.

Martin, who knocked out Boswell with a flurry of punches outside a Detroit tavern last Wednesday night after the pitcher flattened outfielder Bob Allison, said he had not suspended the pitcher, who was sent home from Baltimore over the weekend with 20 stitches in his battered face.

"It's a closed matter as far as I am concerned," said the manager, who discussed the incident with his players in a closed clubhouse meeting before Tuesday night's game against the New York Yankees.

Martin said a determination of Boswell's status with the club was in the hands of Twins president Calvin Griffith. Griffith was in Seattle for an owners meeting.

"I've just been waiting to hear from Calvin," Martin said. "There's been no word yet. I'll probably try to reach him tomorrow. I hope we'll all be able to sit down like men and straighten this out. I want to get it over with as soon as possible. When he (Boswell) is ready to pitch again, to help the club, then I don't see why he shouldn't."

The St. Paul Dispatch reported that Carew, who rejoined the Twins Tuesday night after spending the weekend on Army Reserve duty, pulled himself out of the lineup last Thursday in Detroit because he was reportedly upset over his parents' marital problem.

"He didn't take himself out of the ballgame," Martin said. "I did. He does have personal problems, but this had nothing to do with them.

"He hurt himself the night before—pulled something under his right shoulder swinging the bat—and asked to come out. He played the next day but hurt himself again in the same place. He was hurting, so I told him to go ahead."

Carew, who leads the American League in batting with a .356 average and has been a major force in the Twins rise to first place in the West Division, confirmed Martin's explanation but appeared disconsolate.

"If that's what he (Martin) says, that's the way it was," the infielder said. "Yes, I hurt myself swinging.

"It seems like everybody has me jumping the club all the time."

Martin, however, said he didn't expect the Boswell incident to have an adverse affect on the performance of the Twins, who have lost four in a row going into Tuesday night's game. "I think the morale on this club was always great," he said. "Remember, this was just one guy, and it isn't the first time he's been involved in something this year. This time it just came out in the open."

Two Local Teams Enter Tournament

Two local slow pitch softball teams have entered the first U. P. Slow Pitch Tournament, which will be played at Iron Mountain Aug. 14 through 17.

Lombardi's Bar drew Niagara Skylark in the opening round and will play Thursday at 9 p. m. on the North Side Field on Third Ave. The Independents have been paired against Iron Mountain Jiffy Carpet Cleaners, also on Thursday night at 9 at the West Side Field on Crystal Lake Boulevard.

Fourteen teams are entered in the double elimination tourney.

Civic Boosters Record Victory

The Civic Boosters blasted Tom's Foodland 30-11 last night in a Girls' Softball League game that had been postponed from an earlier date.

Gina VanEnkevort picked up the victory on the mound for the Civic Boosters while Barb Kleiman was tagged with the defeat. Gina and Pat Anderson also had home runs for the winners.

Toledo Upends Buffalo Again

By The Associated Press

Two unearned runs and a third which scored on a pop fly which fell for a double enabled Toledo to whip Buffalo for the 13th time in 18 1969 meetings Tuesday night, 6-4.

The win left Toledo just two games behind International League leader Columbus and a half game back of second-place Louisville.

In other action, Tidewater beat Richmond 3-2, Columbus topped Louisville 7-4 and Syracuse and Rochester split a double header, Syracuse taking the first game 2-1 and Rochester the second 5-4.

Kilkenny Goes Distance As Tigers Trim Angels

DETROIT (AP) — Mike Kilkenny completed his first major league game as a Detroit pitcher and then rushed to the hospital to tell wife Carolyn about his first major league hit.

While he was there he took another look at his first born, son Rory Erin, a five-pounder who arrived six weeks early and left Tiger Manager Mayo Smith a good bit more nervous than the new father. It all happened within 10 hours.

"It happened too quick," said Kilkenny after holding the California Angels to three hits and posting a 7-1 victory for the Tigers. "There wasn't time to get nerouvs. The baby arrived nine minutes after we got to the hospital."

Manager Smith said he let Kilkenny take the mound after the 23-year-old new father showed up at Tiger Stadium "very cool and confident."

The native of Bradford, Ont., said immediately after the game that he couldn't decide whether he valued most the complete game, the fourth-inning single which drove in a run or the new baby.

"In half an hour," he conceded, "it'll be that boy."

He gave batting coach Wally Moses credit for the unusual style which turned the tight pitch into a sharp hit past the third baseman.

"I was going away and when I hit it I was almost down on all fours," Kilkenny said. Moses joked that he wouldn't advocate that style for most players.

The Tigers gave Kilkenny an important three-run lead in the first inning when Mickey Stanley, who walked and advanced on Tom Tresh's single scored on Jim Northrup's single to right center. Tresh then scored on a Norm Cash single and Northrup crossed the plate on a sacrifice fly lofted by Tom Matchick.

Kilkenny, now 2-2, gave up the only California run in the fourth inning when Bubba Morton slapped his fifth home run of the season into the lower left field stands.

The Tigers responded in the bottom of the fourth with two runs on singles by Matchick, Freehan, Kilkenny and Tresh. Kilkenny's single scored Matchich and Freehan scored on Tresh's single. Matchick finished the night with three hits in three times at bat while Tresh went three for four includeng a home run. In all the Tigers rapped four Angel pitchers for 11 hits including seven off loser Andy Messersmith, now 10-8.

The Tigers completed the scoring in the seventh on Tresh's homer which banged off the upper deck rails in right center field and hits by Willie Horton and Matchick.

Kilkenny, who said the early three-run cushion helped a great deal, struck out 10 in the victory.

He attributed his strikeout sucess to more nerve in throwing for bigger portions of the plate.

Highland Race Remains Tight

Smitty's Smackers retained their slim lead in the Highland Golf Club's Twilight League race following last night's action. With only two more weeks of regular league action left to go, the race remains tight with the W. R.'s just a point and half back and Jerry's Jets within striking distance, just four and a half points behind.

Jack Smith and Wayne Wood set the scoring pace last night, as each shot a 35. Wood also had a 39 on the back nine. Following were Dave Friets 37-39, Bob Olson and Jerry Sundquist 38's, Bob Heymen, Barney Barnhart and Paul DeBen 39's, Con Pratt and pair of 39's, Ward Steimert 39-40 and Ron Koth, Jim Schultz, Bill Thomas, Jack Keane, Jim Douglas and Bill McCarthy with 40's.

Golf ball winners were John Duca, Ben Douglas, Norm Niquette, Ed Land, Bob Snow, Mike Utt and Dave Friets.

League Leaders Stay Bunched

Following play in the Escanaba Country Club's Twi-Light League last night, the standings showed the Finishers in the top spot holding a narrow half point lead over the Acers and the Ice Boxes in third place, just a point behind the leader.

Wendell Green and Jack Magnuson paced all scorers for the evening with 38's while Bill Eis Sr., Bob Turner, Harold VanEffen and Ed Gravelle came in with 39's and Jim Fitzharris, Al Taylor, Tom Gregoire and Ken Turner had 40's.

In Best Ball play, Bill Perron and Dr. Gary Bradley took first place honors with a net 29 and Jim Emerson and Tom Neuman placed second with a net 30. John Chown and George Shomin, Cliff Reno and Jim Moore, Jack Magnuson and H. T. Olson, George Shomin and Ben Shomin, and Dr. John LeMire and Walt Nelson all finished in a tie for third place with net 32's. Jean Cote' was closest to the pin on No. 7.

Country Club pro Jim Crichton also announced that couples golf on Friday night will be a Best-Ball, draw for partners.

Team standings: Finishers 18½, Acers 18, Ice Boxes 17½, Chown's Clowns 16½, Hush Puppies 16, No-No's 15½, Has Beens and Pixies 15, Green Berets and Pea Soups 14½, Iron Men and Pro-Five 14, Big O's and Show-Men 11½, Tim's Tigers and Tornados 11, Jack's Pack 10½ and Gravel Gerties 10.

FLAG DEDICATION — The new flag pole at the Highland Golf Club was dedicated last night before play in the Tuesday night Twilight League in an impressive ceremony conducted by Leo Knauf and Henry Boyle, representing the Rheaume-Knauf American Legion Post 438 of Bark River. The flag was presented to club president Hazen Hengesh, center, by Boyle, right, and was donated to the Highland by the family of the late Robert Boucher, who was one of the club's most ardent members. The pole was donated by Runar Beck and was raised chiefly through the efforts of Einar Beck and Joe Langlois. Knauf is shown at the left watching the presentation. (Dialy Press Photo).

Celtics Bought For $6 Million

BOSTON (AP) — "The Celtics are synonomous with championships. Red Auerbach is synonymous with championships. We think it's a privelege to pay $6 million for the team."

Thus the president of a New York holding company explains his group's thinking in paying what he believes to be the highest price ever for a basketball franchise—topping the $5 million spent by Jack Kent Cooke to bring the Lakers to Los Angeles several years ago.

"Our confidence is based on the market location, the historical support of the franchise and the management team," E. E. "Woody" Erdman, board chairman and president of Trans National Communications Inc. added at a news conference announcing the transaction Tuesday.

Erdman and his associates said they couldn't understand anyone even thinking in terms of moving the team from the city where it has flourished over the past dozen years or so as probably the greatest dynasty in pro sports history.

"We'll keep them here, of course," said George Kokines, another official of the company. "Where else would be put them? The tradition is here."

Kokines also expressed the hope that the change in ownership might be a factor in influencing Bill Russell to reconsider his recently announced retirement as player-coach.

"I like to think that there's a greater chance of his coming back now," he said. "Our company has a lot of things to offer to a man in his position."

Auerbach was described by Erdman as a key to the firm's interest.

"Players come and go, but Red is always there and he's always been successful," Erdman said.

He added that his firm wants to lengthen the current contracts of both Auerbach, who holds the title of general manager and executive vice president of the Celtics, and Jack Waldron, president of the team, and to make both men vice presidents of the parent company.

Trans National is a relatively new firm which owns the Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League. It has various other holdings and has indicated it is in the market for more major league sports franchises.

The acquisition of the Celtics involves a complicated financial transaction with cash, stock and chases, and no one was commenting on the actual amount of cash involved.

The deal became possible when P. Ballantine & Sons Brewery Co., which bought the Celtics about a year ago, was taken over as a wholly owned subsidiary by Investors Funding Corp.

Investors Funding was anxious to sell the basketball team, while Ballantine wanted to remain in the sports picture and even step up its sports promotional activities.

Essentially, Trans National has acquired 100 per cent ownership of the Celtics, turning over cash and stock plus stock warrants to Ballantine and also agreeing to provide various sports films and other services to the brewery.

Martin Claims Brawl Is 'A Closed Matter'

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Martin, fiery manager of Minnesota's embattled Twins, said Tuesday night his brawl with pitcher Dave Boswell was a "closed matter" and denied a published report that All-Star second baseman Rod Carew took himself out of a recent game without permission.

Martin, who knocked out Boswell with a flurry of punches outside a Detroit tavern last Wednesday night after the pitcher flattened outfielder Bob Allison, said he had not suspended the pitcher, who was sent home from Baltimore over the weekend with 20 stitches in his battered face.

"It's a closed matter as far as I am concerned," said the manager, who discussed the incident with his players in a closed clubhouse meeting before Tuesday night's game against the New York Yankees.

Martin said a determination of Boswell's status with the club was in the hands of Twins president Calvin Griffith. Griffith was in Seattle for an owners meeting.

"I've just been waiting to hear from Calvin," Martin said. "There's been no word yet. I'll probably try to reach him tomorrow. I hope we'll all be able to sit down like men and straighten this out. I want to get it over with as soon as possible. When he (Boswell) is ready to pitch again, to help the club, then I don't see why he shouldn't."

The St. Paul Dispatch reported that Carew, who rejoined the Twins Tuesday night after spending the weekend on Army Reserve duty, pulled himself out of the lineup last Thursday in Detroit because he was reportedly upset over his parents' marital problem.

"He didn't take himself out of the ballgame," Martin said. "I did. He does have personal problems, but this had nothing to do with them.

"He hurt himself the night before—pulled something under his right shoulder swinging the bat—and asked to come out. He played the next day but hurt himself again in the same place. He was hurting, so I told him to go ahead."

Carew, who leads the American League in batting with a .356 average and has been a major force in the Twins rise to first place in the West Division, confirmed Martin's explanation but appeared disconsolate.

"If that's what he (Martin) says, that's the way it was," the infielder said. "Yes, I hurt myself swinging.

"It seems like everybody has me jumping the club all the time."

Martin, however, said he didn't expect the Boswell incident to have an adverse affect on the performance of the Twins, who have lost four in a row going into Tuesday night's game. "I think the morale on this club was always great," he said. "Remember, this was just one guy, and it isn't the first time he's been involved in something this year. This time it just came out in the open."

Sgt. Phillip LaLonde's Body Found In Korea

The body of a former Manistique soldier reported missing in action in Korea in 1951 was recently discovered in a ravine in South Korea and is being returned to Michigan for burial.

On May 23, 1951, Sgt. Phillip A. LaLonde was reported missing in action. On Dec. 31, 1953, he was listed as "officially presumed dead," and his father, Rosaire LaLonde of Warren, was so notified.

During a post-war search, the Army made every attempt to locate the remains of servicemen listed as missing-in-action and deceased but were unsuccessful in the cast of Sgt. LaLonde.

Recently, two Korean Nationals found his remains in the vicinity of Kwandra-Ri, South Korea and reported the discovery to the U. S. Army in Korea. A military team made the recovery and the remains were taken to the U. S. Army Mortuary in Japan for further processing.

Confirmation

After painstaking research of records and scientific processing of the remains, the final determination of the identity was made. An identification tag imprinted "LaLonde, Phillip A." and physical characteristics — age, height and dentition — helped confirm the identity.

Mr. Rosaire J. LaLonde was notified recently that his son's body would be returned this month to Michigan. A funeral with military honors will be held in Warren on Aug. 20. The body will be received by the Jones Funeral Home.

Re-enlisted

Sgt. LaLonde was born in Manistique July 18, 1929 and attended St. Francis de Sales School until he was in the sixth grade. The family moved to the Detroit area in 1940. He first enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1948 and re-enlisted in 1950 at the outbreak of the Korean conflict.

Survivors, in addition to his father Rosaire J. LaLonde, 8490 Jewett St., Warren, include two brothers, John and Roland of Utica; four sisters, Mrs. Lloyd (Gladys) Sherrill, Lakeville, Mich.; Mrs. Lee (Florence) Mudloff and Mrs. Robert (Sally) Stevanka, both of Utica; and Mrs. Duane (Sharon) Thruner ,Bonduell, Wis.

An aunt, Mrs. Jennie Beaudry, 142 N. Fifth St., and an uncle, Carl LaLonde, 128 S. Fifth St., both of Manistique, also survive.

REV. ROY PITTS, First Baptist minister who is leaving Manistique later this month to accept a call in Casper, Wyoming, was honored by the Community School Advisory Board at their Tuesday luncheon meeting and presented with a remembrance from the group. Rev. Pitts, first chairman of the Advisory Board, received his gift from Mrs. Earl H. LeBrasseur, present chairman. (Daily Press Photo)

County Receives Sales Tax Funds

County Treasurer William Cowman has received $26,315.94 in sales tax diversion funds for the quarter ending June 30, 1969. The monies will be distributed to the City of Manistique and the eight townships in the county in the following amounts:

Doyle, $1,722.84; Germfask, $1,911.00; Hiawatha, $2,043.30; Inwood, $1,834.56; Manistique, $1,896.30; Mueller, $973.14; Seney, $693.84; Thompson, $914.34; City of Manistique, $14,326.62.

GAGE — Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gage of Curtis are the parents of an 8 pound daughter born Aug. 11 at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Gage is the former Nora Hartley.

Hospital

Admitted to the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital on Monday were Leonard Donaldson, Janet Smith, Sylvia Raredon, Gloria Pawley, Joseph Tursh, William Trombley, Franklin Hatch and Helen Chaperon.

Discharged Monday were Gavin Berthume, Franklin Hatch, John Brady, Phyllis Burse, Leonard Donaldson, Nellie Raredon, Leona Morin and Janet Smith.

City Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lambert and son Larry and daughters Beka and Cella left for Denver, Colo. by car, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Lambert and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Dennis Jr. Beka will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Lambert until Sept. 10 and Cella will stay with her sister, Mrs. Joseph Dennis.

Medical First Aided Young Girl

QUINCY (AP) — Amy Marie Geishert, who received the first successful prenatal transfusion in the United States, today is a healthy 5-year-old who will start school next month.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles A Geishert of Quincy, Amy Marie was born Feb. 23, 1964, in the University of Michigan Hospital at Ann Arbor.

Her premature birth came 11 days after she underwent a transfusion in which adult blood replaced most of her abdominal fluid because of what doctors described as an RH factor complication.

She was placed in an incubator until her weight reached 4 pounds, 11 ounces in April 1964, and hospital officials agreed to release her in the care of her mother, who was a nurse.

Craig May Seek Governorship

DETROIT (AP) — State Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn, says he will decide next January or February whether to seek the governorship of Michigan.

The liberal, two-term state senator said Tuesday night that a major factor in his decision would be who else sought the position. He said he would not run against either of Michigan's two previous Democratic governors, G. Mennen Williams and John B. Swainson.

He also said he thought a contest between himself and State Sen. Sander Levin, D-Berkeley, senate minority leader, would be "silly" because their political views are so close.

Craig chided published reports that he already has decided to run for governor, although he did say he was taking a "hard look" at what he would do next year.

However, "Craig in '70" bumper stickers are now floating around Lansing and he already has an office and a campaign manager for next year.

He said the bumper stickers went out merely as a trial balloon to determine if he would have much support if he sought state-wide office.

The office is near the Wayne State University campus in Detroit, in a suite shared with the Michigan Stop-ABM Committee. And the campaign manager is Otto Feinstein, who headed the anti-ABM committee and was state chairman last year of the McCarthy for President committee.

Gov. William Milliken, a Republican, is expected to seek re-election.

Democratic Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley also has been mentioned as a possible contender for a gubernatorial race, along with Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh.

Sgt. Phillip LaLonde's Body Found In Korea

The body of a former Manistique soldier reported missing in action in Korea in 1951 was recently discovered in a ravine in South Korea and is being returned to Michigan for burial.

On May 23, 1951, Sgt. Phillip A. LaLonde was reported missing in action. On Dec. 31, 1953, he was listed as "officially presumed dead," and his father, Rosaire LaLonde of Warren, was so notified.

During a post-war search, the Army made every attempt to locate the remains of servicemen listed as missing-in-action and deceased but were unsuccessful in the cast of Sgt. LaLonde.

Recently, two Korean Nationals found his remains in the vicinity of Kwandra-Ri, South Korea and reported the discovery to the U. S. Army in Korea. A military team made the recovery and the remains were taken to the U. S. Army Mortuary in Japan for further processing.

Confirmation

After painstaking research of records and scientific processing of the remains, the final determination of the identity was made. An identification tag imprinted "LaLonde, Phillip A." and physical characteristics — age, height and dentition — helped confirm the identity.

Mr. Rosaire J. LaLonde was notified recently that his son's body would be returned this month to Michigan. A funeral with military honors will be held in Warren on Aug. 20. The body will be received by the Jones Funeral Home.

Re-enlisted

Sgt. LaLonde was born in Manistique July 18, 1929 and attended St. Francis de Sales School until he was in the sixth grade. The family moved to the Detroit area in 1940. He first enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1948 and re-enlisted in 1950 at the outbreak of the Korean conflict.

Survivors, in addition to his father Rosaire J. LaLonde, 8490 Jewett St., Warren, include two brothers, John and Roland of Utica; four sisters, Mrs. Lloyd (Gladys) Sherrill, Lakeville, Mich.; Mrs. Lee (Florence) Mudloff and Mrs. Robert (Sally) Stevanka, both of Utica; and Mrs. Duane (Sharon) Thruner ,Bonduell, Wis.

An aunt, Mrs. Jennie Beaudry, 142 N. Fifth St., and an uncle, Carl LaLonde, 128 S. Fifth St., both of Manistique, also survive.

REV. ROY PITTS, First Baptist minister who is leaving Manistique later this month to accept a call in Casper, Wyoming, was honored by the Community School Advisory Board at their Tuesday luncheon meeting and presented with a remembrance from the group. Rev. Pitts, first chairman of the Advisory Board, received his gift from Mrs. Earl H. LeBrasseur, present chairman. (Daily Press Photo)

Islanders Fight Reconstruction

DRUMMOND ISLAND (AP)—Some 150 Drummond Island property owners have joined together to fight the proposed reconstruction of old Fort Drummond, last occupied in 1828.

The summer and year-around residents of the western end of the island, off the east tip of the Upper Peninsula, say the reconstruction would be historically inaccurate. They also contend it would be a "tourist trap" spoiling an otherwise pleasant island.

"Drummonders are faced with a crass commercial hoax which will cost taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars and will destroy the natural beauty of this wonderful vacation area," the group said.

The original site has been largely excavated for a quarry, and the land now under consideration was offered to the state for a park five years ago and turned down.

Reconstruction of the fort has been urged by a township commission, which sought state and federal funds for the project.

PEDIGREES POPULAR

LONDON (AP)—More than 50 per cent of all dogs owned in Britain are thoroughbred pedigrees, the Animal Welfare organization said in a report. The number of dogs in Britain was listed at about five million, a million more than in 1950.

LEROY VAN DYKE AND "The Auctioneers" will be the top attraction at the free grandstand show both afternoon and evening at the U.P. State Fair on Thursday. Showtimes are 2 and 8 p.m. and there's no admission charge to the grandstand.

FIDDLING ALONG

HONOLULU (AP)—"Fiddler on the Roof," the hit musical which opened in Hawaii in June, now has played in 41 states, in addition to the District of Columbia. There are now two national touring companies, as well as the original production on Broadway — where it played its 2,000th performance July 9.

Puzzled By Words, Use A Dictionary

The school bus has just pulled away with your last school-age child and the house is so quiet you can't believe it. You may have a smitch of nostalgia, but a second cup of coffee and the luxury of having the morning paper all to yourself cures that quickly.

Usually the paper — crumpled and jelly-stained — is something you retrieve from under the dog's paw about ten a.m. By that time you're usually too tired to read it and you don't feel terribly guilty about lining the garbage pail with it, then going to bed.

This morning you have time to study it, through, and you are amazed to find out how it's changed. Well, maybe it's just the words which have changed. On the front page alone there are words like "secular," "reciprocity," "abrogation," "malaise," and "module." Further on there are words like "compendium" and "efficacy."

You begin to grow uneasy. It occurs to you that if these are words which appear in the daily paper, your children are exposed to them too.. You recall that ten-year-old Johnny has a standing assignment to read the paper — cover to cover — each day. It begins to look as if your hardest job as a parent from this point on may be keeping up with the kids.

Most educators would agree with you. They would also probably advise you to get some help. One of the best allies you could have is a new dictionary.

The best place for a dictionary is wherever the family is going to use it most. That means smack in the middle of the dining room table if that is where homework is done.

Second, consult it yourself. Keep the dictionary with you when you are reading your daily paper and regular magazines. Don't skim over words which are unfamiliar to you—

Northern Gets Library Grant

MARQUETTE—Northern Michigan University has received a $19,043 grant from the U. S. Office of Education to purchase library materials, it was announced today.

The funds, made available under the Higher Education Act of 1965, will enable Northern to purchase approximately 1,800 books, according to head librarian Helvi Walkonen.

We Thank You For Raising Our Sights:

Nixon Toasts Brave Astronauts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Nixon has toasted the Apollo 11 lunar explorers as "three brave men" who penetrated the shadows of space and carried humanity to new heights of imagination.

Holding aloft a glass of champagne at an extraordinary state dinner Wednesday night, he told Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins, "We thank you for your courage. We thank you for raising our sights ... The sky is no longer the limit."

The boyish-looking Armstrong —mission commander and first man on the moon—responded in a sometimes quavering voice before 1,440 of the nation's elite: "We were very privileged to leave on the moon a plaque endorsed by you Mr. President, saying it was for all mankind."

Honor Dead

The glittering banquet was capped by presentation of special medals to the pioneering trio and, posthumously, to three astronauts fatally burned in a spacecraft fire in 1967.

The affair climaxed a triumphant day of tours through New York and Chicago, a day devoted to an outpouring of American appreciation for the feat.

Armstrong noted that during the New York ticker-tape tribute he saw a sign telling the astronauts, "Tnrough you we touched the moon." Then he said: "It was our privilege today to cross the country to touch America."

Guests at the elaborate state dinner, the first ever held outside Washington, included members of the Cabinet and the Supreme Court, 44 of 50 governors, representatives of the diplomatic corps and the aerospace business, aviation heroes, military leaders and friends and relatives of the astronauts.

Seven-Course Meal

The 2½-hour, seven-course feast in a lavishly decorated ballroom of the Century Plaza Hotel broke up after a great roar of cheers and claps for the astronauts who spoke modestly of their accomplishments.

Earlier, they were cheered by an estimated 4 million in New York City and 2 million in Chicago.

Nixon hinted that the astronauts may travel overseas after their return today to Houston. "When they go abroad they will also get a welcome," the President grinned.

Outside, several thousand demonstrated peacefully against the war in Vietnam. Marching along the Avenue of the Stars in front of the half-moon shaped, 16-story, $32 million hotel they waved signs and chanted, "Stop the war" and, "Power to the people."

Nixon said toasting the tuxedo-clad astronauts was "the highest privilege I could have ... Let's raise our glasses to America's astronauts."

As Vice President Spiro T. Agnew read citations, Nixon presented the trio with the Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian honor.

Warm Crowds

Said Armstrong: "I suspect that perhaps the most warm, genuine feeling that all of us could receive came through the cheers and shouts, and most of

Fairgoers To Greet Governor On Friday

Crowds at the U. P. State Fair on Friday will greet Gov. William G. Milliken, who is making his first visit to the Fair as Governor of Michigan in the "traditional" rite called Governor's Day.

But because the Governor's schedule is limited by time, there will be no luncheon program this year, said Cliff Perras, Fair manager.

Gov. Milliken will arrive at the city airport about 1:30 p. m. to be greeted by the Fair Board, local officials, and friends, and will be escorted to the Fairgrounds.

There he will speak to the grandstand audience and will then tour the grounds, meeting the public and viewing the exhibits. Although this will be Gov. Milliken's first visit to the fair as Michigan's chief executive, he has been here frequently in the past, for he served as lieutenant governor for four years with Gov. Romney.

Record Of Service

Gov. Milliken was born in Traverse City 47 years ago, is a graduate of Yale University, and before his election and reelection as lieutenant governor had served in several public capacities, including membership on the Michigan Waterways Commission, and as a trustee of Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City. He was in the Michigan Senate for four years and was majority floor leader for two years.

He served as a waist gunner in World War II, flying more than 50 combat missions; was wounded and received the Purple Heart and other military honors. He is married and has two children.

Gov. Milliken's stay at the Fair, while brief, will be the highlight of the program for the day.

Grandstand Shows

The many scheduled events include outstanding free grandstand attraction starring Sonny James and the Southern Gentlemen and Connie Smith and the Sundowners. The shows are at 2 and 8 p. m.

Both of the country and western stars are well known for their recordings, television and stage appearances.

Connie Smith's is a return engagement to the Fair, and her popular recordings include "Once a Day," "Invisible Tears" and "Then and Only Then."

The Sonny James show features the singing star, of course, who has appeared on TV with Lawrence Welk, Bob Hope, Joey Bishop and Ed Sullivan. His recording of "Young Love" sold into the million among many other hits are "Take Good Care of Her" and "World of Our Own."

The Connie Smith - Sonny James shows are one of the outstanding attractions among the Fair week's free grandstand schedule.

Set Up Field Hospitals Near Street Fighting

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops moved into this Northern Irish city today to halt religious rioting that raged unabated after Ulster's worst night of violence in years.

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — Irish Republic troops moved up to the border of riot-torn Northern Ireland today within a mile of the street fighting here that raged on unabated after Ulster's worst night of violence in years.

The government information office in Dublin said the troops from southern Ireland were moving to the border area to support five field hospitals for treating any injured Northerners wanting to cross over. The mobilization included transport and other support units in combat gear. The number of men involved was not announced.

The mobilization underscored the stunned reaction of the predominantly Roman Catholic Irish Republic to the violence in predominantly Protestant Northern Ireland which is still part of Britain. There was special concern in the south for Londonderry where the fighting has centered in the Bogside, the Roman Catholic community here.

Emergency Talks

Dublin made the announcement shortly after Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain and his home secretary, James Callaghan, cut short vacations and flew to the Royal Air Force base at St. Mawgan, Cornwall, in southwest England, for emergency talks on the Irish situation. They were expected to consider the use of British troops in quieting the disorders.

The Southern Irish troops set up a headquarters at Letterkenny, about 15 miles from Londonderry where Roman Catholics in the Bogside District fought from behind barricades against police.

Rioting in Londonderry has been virtually uncontrollable since Tuesday, when a traditional Protestant parade set off the religious warfare.

The Northern Ireland government has called for help from British troops to stop the bloodshed. The Dublin government has proposed a U.N. peace force.

Mile Away

Although Dublin's announcement said the troops in trucks and jeeps moved to the border area to lend medical assistance, the army men carried weapons. A spokesman said the men normally deal with "communications, logistics and other support." The units, he added, are "being supplied by the appropriate army units."

Reports from the border area said the Southern Irish troops were in positions only about a mile from the Bogside District of Londonderry, which is near the border.

The units are part of Ireland's 13,000-man permanent armed forces, which have seen duty in U.N. peace forces in the Congo and Cyprus.

Dublin's announcement said some reserve officers were being called up and others placed on alert.

Russia, China Quiet On Clash; U.S. Is Neutral

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China's official radio said today its military patrols on the Soviet-Sinkiang border withdrew under Soviet attack Wednesday "to prevent worsening of the situation." But the Chinese gave no further information on the border clash reported in central Asia.

The Soviet press and radio in Moscow also confined itself to repeating previous communiques which gave no details of the clash nor any count of the casualties.

The Soviet announcement said only that several persons were killed or wounded but did not disclose on which side or how many.

Each side traded sharp protest notes, with Peking warning of "serious consequences" if there are further provocations and Moscow promising "a decisive rebuff" to any Chinese action.

The U.S. State Department stressed the United States will avoid taking sides in the dispute and will continue efforts to improve relations with both Moscow and Peking.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers spelled out U.S. policy in a television interview Wednesday night: "I don't like to say we're neutral. Our position is that we are going to attempt to become more friendly with both the Soviet Union and Communist China and we're not going to play one against the other. We are ... going to see if we can relieve tensions by becoming friendly with both of them."

Israel, Lebanon Swap Charges

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab machine gunners fired on an Israeli army position near the Lebanese border during the night as Israel and Lebanon swapped charges at U.N. headquarters in New York, Israeli spokesman reported today.

The spokesman said Israeli troops returned the fire, and later mortars on the Lebanese side of the border opened up.

No casualties were reported.

Israeli jets struck inside Egypt and Jordan earlier in the day.

In the exchange before the U.N. Security Council, Lebanon demanded censure of Israel and compensation for damage to property and casualties suffered in Israel's air attack Monday on southeast Lebanon in the Mt. Hermon sector.

Isreali Ambassador Yosef Te-Edouard Ghorra said four civilians were killed and three seriously wounded in the 30-minute air raid. He reported four villages were attacked.

Isreali Ambassador Yosef Tekoah countered that the raid singled out Arab guerrilla positions and said such military action was justified because Lebanese territory "has become a base for terror warfare" against Israel.

The debate was to continue today.

Witness Says Coed Rode With Collins

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A prosecution witness testified today that she saw John Norman Collins, 22, riding on a motorcycle with an 18-year-old Eastern Michigan University coed four days before she was found murdered.

The witness, Mrs. Diana Joan Goshe, said she had sold a wig to the coed, Karen Sue Beineman, and then saw the girl get on the motorcycle behind Collins and ride down a street in nearby Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Goshe testified at the preliminary examination of Collins, an Eastern Michigan University senior who is charged with first-degree murder in Miss Beineman's death.

Miss Beineman was the latest of seven young women killed in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the past two years.

Mrs. Goshe positively identified the defendant, who was sitting in the court room as the man on the motorcycle.

Hearsay

She said she went outside of her wig shop to look at him twice—once while Miss Beneman was inside completing the purchase of the wig and again after Miss Beneman left the shop and climbed on the motorcycle.

Asked by defense attorney Richard Ryan why she did this, Mrs. Goshe replied, "Because of a statement Karen had made."

The defense attorney objected to the witness' testimony at this point as being hearsay, and she was not allowed to explain.

However, Mrs. Goshe has been quoted as having told investigators that Miss Beneman said to her.

"I've only done two foolish things in my life—buy this wig and accept a ride from a stranger on a motorcycle."

Mrs. Goshe was one of nine prosecution witnesses called to testify at the examination, at which a judge decides whether enough evidence has been presented to hold defendant for formal trial.

Strangled

Another witness, Dr. Robert Hendrix, deputy county medical examiner, testified that an autopsy disclosed Miss Beineman probably died of strangulation.

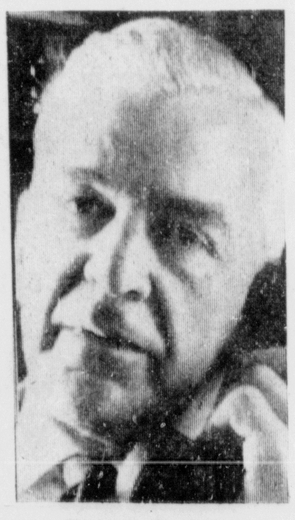

Hendrix said her head was badly battered but not beyond recognition, and there were definite signs of sexual molestation.

The examination, originally scheduled for last Thursday in Ypsilanti District Court, was postponed for one week when Collins asked for a court-appointed attorney. He told District Judge Edward Deake he could not afford to pay for his own legal defense.

The court named Richard Ryan, a member of one of the oldest law firms in Ann Arbor, to defend Collins. At the same time, the examination was moved from Ypsilanti to larger courtroom facilities in Ann Arbor.

Ryan said he hoped to use Collins' original two attorneys —Robert Francis and John Toomey—as part of the legal team handling the defense. Francis and Toomey initially were retained by the defendant's mother.

"If it were not for the benefit of their investigation of the case, I would not be able to proceed immediately with it," Ryan explained to newsmen.

Mental Patient Lennon Suspect

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A "very, very sloppy looking" man armed with a high-powered rifle was sought by police today for questioning in the fatal shooting of the father of the singing Lennon Sisters.

Investigators refused to disclose the man's name. They described him as 40 years old, Caucasian, 6-foot-2, 210 pounds, with brown, unkempt hair.

He is reportedly armed with a .30-caliber rifle, police said. A picture of the man has been circulated to police agencies, investigators said.

William Lennon, 54, father of 11, including the quartet that has appeared on the Lawrence Welk television show for 13 years, was slain Tuesday in the parking lot of the Marina Del Rey golf course, where he worked as an instructor.

Jimmy Lennon, a boxing instructor and brother of the dead man, has told police he believes the slayer was a former Colorado mental patient who had harassed the Lennon family for several years.

'At Peace With Self': Kennedy

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says he is privately at peace with himself about the automobile accident in which Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, a secretary to his late brother Robert, was killed.

"I can live with myself," the Massachusetts Democrat said in an interview with Matthew V. Storin of the Boston Globe's Washington staff.

"I feel the tragedy of the girl's death. That's on my mind. That's what I will always have to live with," Kennedy said. "But what I don't have to live with are the whispers and innuendoes and falsehoods, because these have no basis in fact."

Phone Calls

In other developments involving the July 18 accident on the Chappaquiddick Island section of Martha's Vineyard:

—The Manchester (N.H.) Union Leader said that in the hours immediately after the accident, when Kennedy said he was in shock, 17 telephone calls were charged to his credit card. In Boston, a spokesman for New England Telephone Co. said legal restrictions prevented him from confirming or denying the report, but he said the use of the card did not necessarily mean that the senator made the calls.

—In Washington, Kennedy denied as "categorically untrue" a statement by columnist Jack Anderson that after the accident Kennedy did not swim the channel between Chappaquiddick Island and Edgartown, as the senator said he did. Anderson said Kennedy intimates told him that Kennedy was taken across in a boat by two associates.

In the Boston Globe story published today, Storin said Kennedy "particularly resents charges that he may have thought of his political future and left the scene of the accident while there was still a chance Miss Kopechne was alive."

Restraints

He said Kennedy "admits in conversation that he may have made a mistake in not going beyond the televised explanation," but said the senator cited "legal restraints and the current rumor-filled atmosphere" as reasons for declining to say more about the accident than he did in his July 25 television appearance.

In its story, from Edgartown, the Union Leader said five calls charged to Kennedy's credit card were made before midnight July 18 from a telephone on Chappaquiddick listed to Sidney Lawrence, owner of a cottage rented to Kennedy associates at the time. It said 12 others were made after midnight, all from a pay telephone at the Shiretown Inn in Edgartown, where Kennedy had rooms while attending the Edgartown Yacht Club regatta.

Extend Search For Lansing Trio

PORTAGE (AP) — Coast Guard and State Police officers extended their search for three missing persons of a Lansing family to all of Lake Superior Wednesday and asked the aid of Canadian Coast Guard and harbor authorities.

Missing are John L. Carver, 30, his 27-year-old wife, Ellen, and their son, Christopher, 6. The three were last seen July 30 in Rock Harbor near Isle Royale in their 18-foot boat, Lady Lisa.

"The time that has elapsed since they were last seen would allow them to be anywhere on the lake," a Coast Guard spokesman said.

Officials are checking each harbor and marina along the entire lake shore to determine if the family was seen there recently than July 30.

Another son, 8-year-old John Jr., was left in YMCA camp at Harrison.

Johnstown Trio Tops At Fair's Battle Of Bands

BY JANET VERTREES

The Young Rascals, The Beatles, Crazy Elephant and the Four Tops were among the artists chosen to be interpreted by five of the bands in the 4th annual Upper Peninsula State Fair — Battle of the Combo Bands.

Eight bands started in the contest which began at the afternoon grandstand show yesterday. The five finalists competed for cash prizes at the 8 p.m. show following the crowning of the queen.

Winners were selected on personal appeal, stage appearance, showmanship, musicianship, special musical effects and arrangements. These were all non-union bands.

Judges for the contest were Gene Smiltneck, Mrs. Ruth Chase and Robert Shepich, all of Escanaba. Master of ceremonies was Mr. John Chown, director of the Escanaba Area High School Band.

Due to technical difficulties, time permitted only two songs per band. Bands were from Escanaba, "The Johnston Flood" and "The Chocolate Ash Can," Gladstone, "Pandora", Manistique, "The Union Of People" and Sault Ste. Marie, "The Outer Limits."

First place of $150 went to the "Johnston Flood" from Escanaba. Their three member band played "Come On Up" by the Young Rascals and "Land of 1,000 Dances." They were the only band to encourage audience participation with a request for a little soul clapping.

Members of the "Johnston" combo are Mark Olivares, lead guitar; Tom Vardigan, bass guitar; and Terry Steede, drums.

"The Chocolate Ash Can" took second place honors and $130 to divide between their five members. "Reach Out" by the Four Tops and "Back in the USSR" by the Beatles were their prize winning numbers.

Gold Shirts and flowered pants were won by the third place winners, "The Outer Limits." A four member band with ages ranging from 11-13 took home $110. They were the youngest band to enter in the competition.

From the land of Georgia—"The Union Of People" took fourth place honors and $90 in competition last night with their prize winning song by the Crazy Elephant.

$70 was won by the fifth place band the "Pandora" from Gladstone. They opened their portion of the show by unveiling their new uniforms which were plain everyday ordinary white tee shirts.

As the bands were performing, young people were dancing in their seats, tapping their feet and singing to the tunes of their favorite songs.

Services Set For Pfc. Lewis

Funeral arrangements for Pfc. Richard K. Lewis, recent Vietnam war casualty, have been completed as follows: friends may call at the Allo Funeral Home from 3 to 9:30 p. m. Friday and parish prayers will be recited at 8 p. m.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. Saturday at St. Joseph's Church with the Rev. Fabian Gerstle officiating. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery. Military personnel from K. I. Sawyer AFB will be present to conduct full military rites.

Ships Take Coal On At Dollar Bay

HOUGHTON (AP) — Four ships of the Pickans Mather fleet have arrived at Dollar Bay to take on part of the some 12,000 tons of coal left over by the closing of operations by the Calumet Division of Universal Oil Products Co.

The coal was hauled by rail from Lake Linden and deposited for the refueling of lake carriers. Originally bought for mining, smelting and railroad purposes, the fuel had to be disposed of after the Calumet Division ceased operations following a strike.

It is expected about 40 ships will pick up coal at Dollar Bay in August and September before proceeding on to the iron ore ports of Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Truitt Guilty Of Air Piracy

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A grandson of the late Vice President Alben Barkley has been sentenced to 20 years in jail for air piracy and kidnaping in the hijacking of a light plane to Cuba.

"I feel sympathetic ... but you did do an inexcusable act," Judge William Mehrtens told William Alben Truitt, 35, Wednesday.

The air piracy charge carried a possible death penalty, but the federal jury of 10 women and two men that found Truitt guilty specified that its verdict was "without capital punishment."

Truitt, dressed in a light blue suit, stood quietly while the judge spoke. Throughout the three-day trial, he had calmly watched as his lawyers tried to prove he was temporarily insane during the hijacking last Oct. 23.

Barkley, who served under President Harry S. Truman, was the father of Truitt's mother, Marian Triutt. She and Truitt's wife, Alison, 42, testified at the trial. Both appeared stunned at the verdict.

300 Tons Of Paper Fallout

NEW YORK (AP) — A special force of 500 sanitation men has scooped up 300 tons of ticker tape, confetti and shredded paper showered on the Apollo 11 astronauts during their ride from the Battery to City Hall.

The sanitation department predicted a "paper fallout" would continue in lower Manhattan for several days after the Wednesday parade, as winds stir up paper that settled on window ledges and building setbacks.

An estimate of the cost was not available.

Sheep Show 'Best' Ever At U.P. Fair

Marian Avery of Brampton and Arthur Liubakka of Limestone shared the honors as the top sheep farmers at Wednesday's open sheep competition at the U. P. State Fair.

In a show which superintendent Henry Wylie called "the most interesting exhibit in years," Arthur Liubakka took 14 first place ribbons in the Hampshire Purebred and Grade Hampshire categories and Marian Arvey captured 10 championships in the Shropshire Purebred class.

"The sheep in the competition were in better shape than they've ever been," said Wylie. He added that the premium list had been re-written last winter. "This brought out more competitors," Wylie said.

Speaking of Mrs. Arvey, Wylie said, "she has brought in some of the finest sheep I've ever seen to be placed in competition." Wylie added that this year's sheep were of the highest quality the fair has ever had.

Luibakka and Arvey also took several titles in the market class and all other breeds class. The only other person to capture an open sheep title was Jane Chandler of Houghton who took the Ewe, over 2 years; and Champion Ewe classes in the all other breeds category.

Sidney Derusha Taken By Death

Sidney Derusha, 62, of Rte. 2, Escanaba (Hyde) died Wednesday at St. Francis Hospital following a lengthy illness.

He was born May 19, 1907 in Hyde and had resided there all his life. Mr. Derusha was a member of St. Anne's Church and had been employed by the Harnischfeger Corp. for many years. He retired in May of this year.

He is survived by his widow, the former Helen Wellman; two foster sons, Marvin and Jerry Arnold; one daughter, Mrs. Fred (Mary Lee) Bowden of Rte. 2 Escanaba; four sisters, Mrs. Alex (Rose) Derouin, Mrs. Joseph (Anna) Berube, Mrs. Margaret LaPalm and Mrs. Louis (Ida) Wallin, all of Escanaba; two brothers, Alfred and Jerry Derusha of Escanaba and nine grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Allo Funeral Home from 4 to 9:30 p. m. Friday and parish prayers will be recited at 8:30 p. m. Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday at St. Anne's Church with the Rev. Louis Cappo officiating. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

ABOLISH SUNDAYS?

CHICAGO (AP)—With Sundays widely used for recreation rather than rest and worship, the Rev. Dr. Leroy C. Hodapp, a Bloomington, Ind., Methodist leader, suggests in the weekly Christian Advocate that the church abandon its weekly worship custom, and substitute 10 or 15 "Christ-Days" per year in large centers of worship.

Junior Steers Bring Record Fair Prices

The price of beef is going up and it showed Wednesday night at the Upper Peninsula State Fair.

All-time record highs were set for average price per pound and for the grand champion in the auction of 31 junior market steers in the beef ring.

The Grand Champion, owned by Ronald Mueller of Carney, sold for 70 cents a pound to Anglili's Super Market of Menominee, bringing the young owner $637 for his 910-pound animal.

Average price per pound for 25,865 pounds of beef on the hoof was 44.1 cents, nearly six cents per pound higher than the previous record of 37.84 cents in the 1967 auction. A year ago, 31 steers brought an average of 35.96 cents per pound.

Total of the sale was $11,417, highest total since 1959 when 54 animals sold for a total of $15,686.

Average weight of the 31 steers auctioned Wednesday was 835 pounds.

Nude At Fair Wins Ribbon

The photography department at the U. P. State Fair this year features an increased selection. It is also notable for the greater use of color, a trend that has been developing over the past few years.

"I enjoyed judging the whole show this year," said Millie Olson, "but I wish more young people would exhibit. It is remarkable what some of them can do with a small camera."

In the amateur class the grand prize was awarded to "By The Sea" by Agnes Gleich of Escanaba.

Blue ribbon winner in the portraits, "Figure Study" by William Puckelwartz, Escanaba, is the first nude to make the show. Puckelwartz also had a first on "Siesta" in marines, a second in color with "Fayette" and a third with "Fall Harvest" in landscapes.

Second went to "Portrait of Bride" by Mrs. Fred Hoyler, Escanaba, who also had a third in the open class with "The Agony and Ecstacy". A service man's portrait by William Berglund of Rapid River rounds out the portrait class.

Clara Beauchamp, Ironwood, shows two winners, "Little Girl's Point," tops in landscapes and "Shadows" red ribbon winner in marines. "Summer Place in December" by Peter Priniski, Escanaba Rte. 2, was the second place winner in landscapes. Third in marines is "Rushing Waters" by Leo Beauchamp, Ironwood.

"Fall in Japan," was first in color for Jan Watson, Gladstone, and Viola Olson, Escanaba, claimed third with "Christmas Belle."

The open class was won by "Wright's Wheel" for Mark Williams and "Sea Scouts" entered by Barbara Nebel, Kipling, won second.

The professional class in the photography department was a family affair—Lee, Shirley and Jerry Wiles The prizes went like this: grand, "Senior Girl," by Shirley; portraits; "Jean Worth" first, by Lee; "Queen," second, by Shirley. Shirley took the first two places in the open class with "Bride" and "Christian Brother" and Lee had third with "Casual Senior." Lee was alone with "Spring Up," in the marines. In color "Wedding Group" won for Jerry and "Wedding Couple" was second for Lee.

Flat Rock Opposes Renewed Bluff Bid

The Board of Education of the Flat Rock Consolidated Schools through its attorney Nino E. Green today voiced "vigorous opposition" to the proposed transfer of Lake Bluff Estates from the Flat Rock to the Escanaba Area school district.

Green issued the following statement:

"The Flat Rock School Board has asked me to express its most vigorous opposition to renewal by the Escanaba Area Public Schools of an effort to transfer property known as the Lake Bluff Estates from the Flat Rock School District to the Escanaba School District. It is appalling to witness the ease with which a public body, such as the Escanaba School Board can allow itself to be manipulated by a private, special interest group.

"The real interest for whom the Escanaba School Board speaks is Lake Bluff Development, Inc., a private organization engaged in seling real estate and country club memberships. The righteous plea to give the residents of Lake Bluff 'the right to choose their own school system' is a hoax. The fact of the matter is, there are no residents of Lake Bluff.

Valuations Compared

"The Flat Rock District is presently supported by a state equalized land valuation amounting to approximately $6,600 per student, while the Escanaba School District has a valuation of approximately $13,000 per student.

"The Escanaba School Board is now on record, publicly, in support of a proposal to increase its tax base by taking from the Flat Rock District, among other property, the site of a proposed golf course and country club. Lake Bluff Development, Inc., is on record as seeking the transfer of not only Lake Bluff Estates, but any and all other property which it may develop in the future, to the Escanaba School District: In support of this effort, the promoters of Lake Bluff have offered to donate lands for new school construction. No such offer has been made to the Flat Rock District.

"When the Escanaba Board first petitioned to acquire Lake Bluff Estates, the Flat Rock Board responded by filing a petition to acquire in exchange property on which the Escanaba Paper Co. is situated. When the Escanaba Board withdrew its request, the Flat Rock Board also withdrew in an effort to strike a gentlemen's agreement.

No Decision

"At present, there has been no decision to renew the effort to transfer the Escanaba Paper Co. property from the Escanaba District. The earlier request, which the Flat Rock Board withdrew, served its purpose to dramatize the gross unfairness of the transfer sought by the Escanaba Board. The Flat Rock Board, however, does plan to resist this new takeover effort by making all the facts known to the public so that this and all future attempts to manipulate school boundaries for private advantage can be convincingly rejected."

It is expected that a joint public hearing and meeting of the Boards of Education of the Delta - Schoolcraft Intermediate School District and the Marquette-Alger Intermediate School District will be scheduled to consider the proposed property transfer.

(The Marquette-Alger board would be involved because the Escanaba Area district presently includes property in Marquette County)

A meeting previously scheduled on the question in Gladstone was cancelled when Delta-Schoolcraft Supt. Walter McClintock was notified that the Escanaba Area petition was being withdrawn. Tuesday night, however, by a 5-1 vote, the Escanaba Area Board of Education approved going ahead with the petition.

Kleins Capture Dairy Titles

The Klein family from Wallace swept most of the ribbons in Wednesday's Guernsey competition at the U.P. State Fair.

The Guernsey breed originated in France, and was later fully developed on the British Isle of Guernsey. Guenseys give a rich milk and dairy farmers favor it because of its large butterfat percentage.

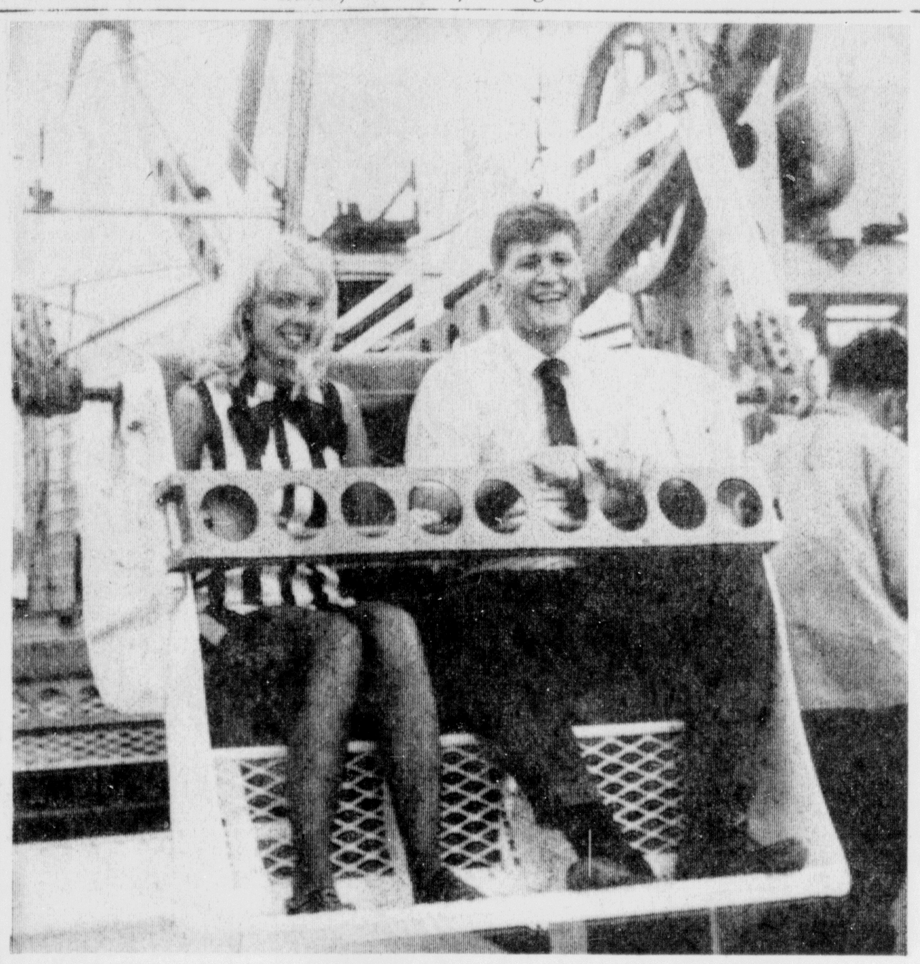

The Klein family captured 14 championships during yesterday's Guernsey competition including Junior Heifer Calf; Junior Yearling Heifer; Senior Yearling Heifer; Junior Champion; Cow — 2 years; Cow — 3 years; Cow 5-8 years; Senior Champion; Grand Champion; Get-Of-Sire, Senior and Junior; Produce of Dam; Three Females; and Best Dairy Herd.

Elmer Johnson of Escanaba won six first place premium awards in the Guersey battle with victories in the following categories: Bull, over 2 years; Junior Champion Bull; Senior Champion Bull, Grand Champion Bull; Cow — 2 years; and Reserve Champion.

Other winners in the Guernsey judging were Mrs. Bertha Lee Seger of Wells, Mrs. Betty Lou Johnson of Escanaba and Roger Beauchamp of Gladstone.

The event was judged by Ed Wright, MSU Guernsey field man.

The Orient Express first chugged out of Paris' Gare de l'est in 1883. It has provided the plot for some 400 novels and short stories and the scenarios for 100 films.

300-Pound Boar Ends Boring Job

DETROIT (AP) — Miss Donna Bullis says she became bored with her job as telephone operator for the Michigan Humane Society and wanted to get out "where the action is."

Miss Bullis, 22, finally got her chance Wednesday when Society Director Frank Andrews encountered a shortage of help because of vacations.

It was a typical day, collaring stray dogs and coaxing cats out of trees, until the last call.

Answering a report of "a dog with his head buried in the sand," Miss Bullis found not a dog, but a 300 - pound boar with three-inch tusks. The animal, it later turned out, had escaped from the Superior Provision Co. nearby.

Her first attempt at catching the animal ended with her chasing the animal down the street until it took refuge in some bushes.

An elderly man offered to help the lass. "I'll get your doggie, young lady," he said, but he was no more successful as the animal once again fled.

The much sought after boar eventually got to the Wayne County Juvenile Home where two deputies answered a frantic call reporting "a wild animal loose in the parking lot."

Six shots out of eleven fired by the deputies wounded the animal. Dr. William Bayle, Humane Society veterinarian, arrived to administer tranqualizers to it.

The report the two deputies turned in left their commanding officer a little surprised: the two "city boys" said they had shot a "wild bear."

Restriction On Bridge Opening

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth has asked U.S. Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe to restrict opening of the Zilwaukee Bridge across the Saginaw River during peak travel time on the I 75 freeway.

Stafseth said travel of vehicles across the bridge during weekends often has been seriously interrupted by raising of the drawbridge for river vessels.

Gov. William G. Milliken, Secretary of State James M. Hare, as well as State Police Director Fredrick E. Davids are to join in the appeal to Volep, Stafseth said.

A $34.9 million, higher bridge is not expected to be open before 1975 and an alternate route, I 675 through Saginaw, is scheduled for completion in 1971.

Trophy Awards Presented To 2 Young Riders

Two Upper Peninsula riders rode off with the grand champion trophies at the Junior Horse Show at the Fairgrounds on Wednesday, part of a show that was rated the best so far in the Fair's history.

There were 88 junior horsemen entered, and each was permitted to pick two classes in the senior and junior divisions, bringing the participation to a total of 176 in the day's events.

Riders 10 through 12 years old were in junior class, while those 13 and over were senior class.

Miss Joyce Hietala of Chassell, riding Flairy, won the grand championship and a trophy in fitting and showing—the "beauty contest" of the horse show.

Judge Gives Praise

Jack Filkins of Skandia is the grand champion in horsemanship, in which the rider is judged on his ability in showing his mount in walking, trotting and cantering.

John Bishop of Houghton, the Junior Horse Show superintendent, expressed satisfaction at the number of entries and appreciation to Wayne Servant of Wittemore, Mich., the show judge. The contestants were given reasons why they placed or did not place in the events, and how they could improve.

Judging of the Junior Sheep Division at the Fair was held Wednesday afternoon.

"We had four children entering sheep this year, where last year we only had one," said Henry Wylie, Assistant Superintendent of the division.

Sheep Chases Cars

In Class 1865, ewes two years old and over, first place winner was Tommy Liubakka of Limestone.

Second place winner in Class 1865 was Cindy Luibakka, Tommy's sister.

Jane Chandler of Houghton, 1st place, Tommy Luibakka, 2nd place, and Cindy Luibakka, 3rd place, were winners in Class 1866, ewes one year and under two.

"Jane's sheep thinks he's a dog," said Wylie. "He chases cars and has to be kept on a collar."

Class 1867 winners with ewe lambs under one year were Tommy Luibakka, 1st place, Cindy Labakka, 2nd place, and Judy DeVooght of Marquette 3rd place.

Cindy Luibakka and Judy DeVooght were first and second place winners, respectively, in Class 1869, pen lambs.

Cindy Liubakka was also the winner for having the best three market lambs, grade or purebred, in class 1872.

Sharp Rise In Personal Income

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income rose sharply in July with a federal pay increase the largest component, the Commerce Department said today.

The department's Office of Business Economics said the $6 billion July advance, to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $752.3 billion, matched its revised June increase and was about $1 billion higher than the average monthly gain in the first half of the year.

For the first seven months, the nation's personal income averaged $735.3 billion at an annul rate, $60.4 billion or 9 per cent above the comparable period last year.

QUESTION:

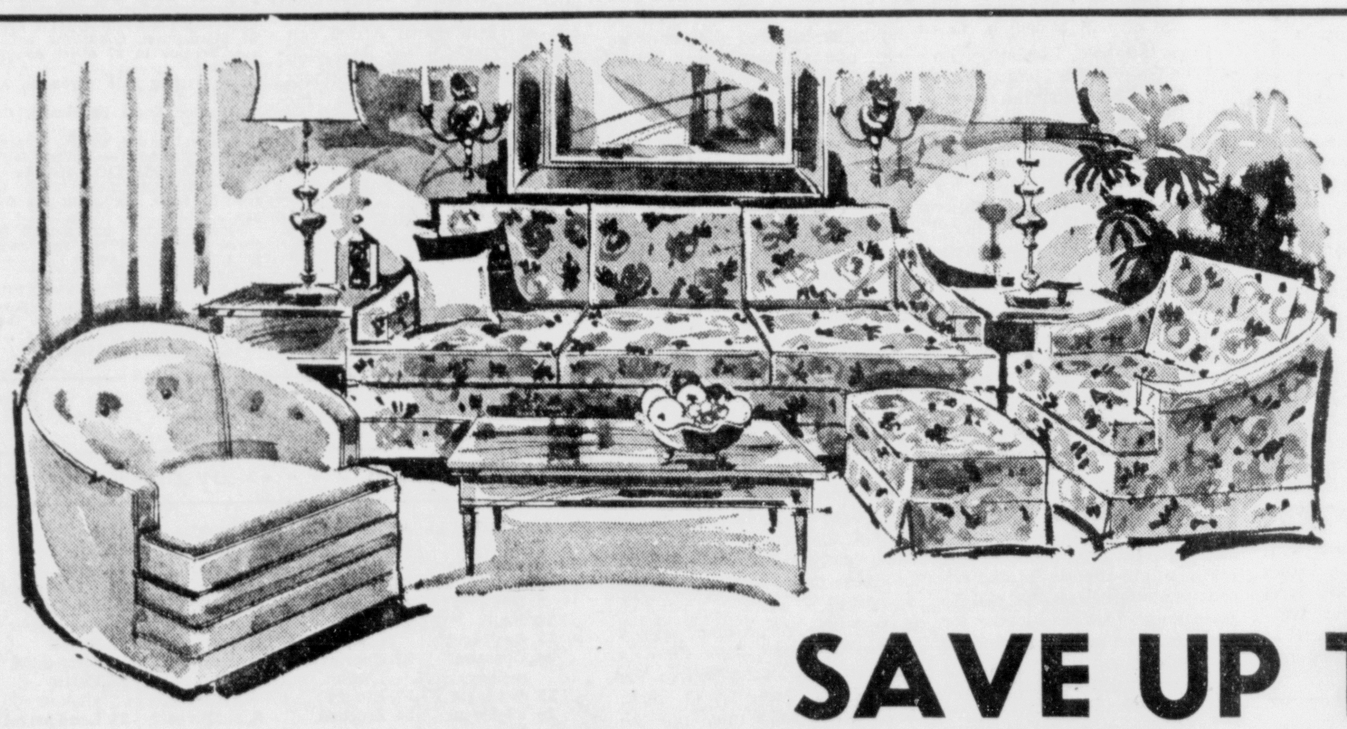

How does air pollution affect safety?

ANSWER:

A special study by the Civil Aeronautics Board listed "obstruction to vision" by smoke, haze, sand and dust as contributing to six aircraft accidents in 1962. The same reduced visibility is believed to contribute to highway accidents. The New Jersey Turnpike was "blacked out" by fog and air pollution 23 times in 1965.

Varnum In 1970?

Rep. Charles H. Varnum surprised members of the Upper Peninsula press corps Monday night when he announced at the U. P. State Fair Board's news media banquet that he is "seriously considering" not running for public office again next year.

The Manistique Republican, a former schoolteacher who upset Einar Erlandsen of Escanaba for the 107th District seat in the 1966 election and beat him by an even larger margin in 1968, said present "circumstances" and a feeling of obligation to his wife and family have caused him to honestly think about retiring from public life.

Varnum said he would leave it open to the news media to "speculate" about his future plans and later added that his statements "in no way" mean he won't be a candidate, but the fact that he elected to make any statement at all at this point — more than a year before the actual Legislative election — is somewhat significant.

★ ★ ★

There has been some speculation that Varnum, at the apparent height of his popularity in the district, might be a candidate for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Thomas Schweigert, a Petoskey Republican, who by virtue of his position as presiding officer over the Senate was made acting Lieutenant Governor this year, if Schweigert is chosen by Gov. William Milliken as his runing mate next year. But despite Schweigert's position now and his reputation as a highly capable senator some political observers discount the thought that a Milliken-Schweigert ticket is possible in 1970 because both men hail from the same area. (Milliken is from Traverse City). To balance the GOP ticket between the out-state and metropolitan areas, the feeling has been expressed that Milliken is more likely to lean toward a running mate from the Wayne County area.

On that basis, assuming Schweigert elects to seek another term, it does not appear likely that Varnum would challenge a respected colleague for the Republican nomination.

Looking in another direction, Varnum could have made the statement to "test the atmosphere" toward him in the district. As Joe Namath demonstrated in his recent feud with Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League and ballplayer Ken Harrelson proved with his brief "retirement" from baseball after a trade from Boston to Cleveland, a lot of mileage is possible through the news media. Announcements of that type also tend to bring friends out of the forests.

And then, there remains the distinct possibiilty that the 36-year-old Varnum is really serious about getting out.

The Legislature recently ended a difficult session with highly controversial bills on parochiaid, interest rates and distribution of recreational bond money.

Few people would dispute that the life of a state representative is not an easy one. There are pressures from all sides and pressures from within. And once a vote is cast the record is public and must be defended.

Varnum may simply be tired now and when the game begins in earnest again this fall in the scheduled special session or in the campaign for next year's election he may return to the politcal arena with the zest he has displayed in winning two elections and serving his district.

Whatever Varnum's final decision, it will be difficult to make. Only he can make the determination.

Ignoring A Maxim

The United States since World War II has usually ignored the foreign policy maxim that power seeks a vacuum, with disastrous consequences for the free world.

No place is that lesson better illustrated than in the Mideast and Northern Africa, along the Mediterranean coast. Beginning with Franklin Delano Rosevelt, the State Department has pressured the countries of Western Europe to divest themselves of their colonial possessions. As the British and French were forced out, Communist influence began to filter into the area with the result that the southern flank of NATO lies exposed to the Soviet navy.

Egypt's Nasser has practically turned over Port Said and Alexandria to the Soviets. Syria has opened Latakia to Communist warships. The Kremlin is also negotiating for the use of port facilities on the island of Malta, formerly a major defense post for the British. Mer-el-Kebir, in once French Algeria where Paris used to station a large part of its Mediterranean fleet, is rumored to be a seabase for the Soviet fleet.

The Red navy is backed upon land by squadrons of jet fighters and bombers carrying the markings primarily of Egypt but manned by Russians. The Soviets also have provided training personnel and arms to the Arab armies.

While the U. S. Sixth Fleet is still the strongest naval force in the Mediterranean, there is considerable cause for alarm. The sea was once an American preserve and our monopoly enabled us to maintain a certain stability in the area. There is now the danger of a direct confrontation between the two super powers because of the Kremlin's efforts to infiltrate the Mideast and Northern Africa.

Moscow has tipped the scales against the Free World by throwing its weight and power into a vacuum the United States helped create. That lesson should not be forgotten by the Nixon administrtion as it ponders the course of foreign policy, particularly in Vietnam.

Peninsula Potpourri

Sault Ste. Marie may be headed for a record tourist year with more than 1,000,000 visitors if the present rate continues. As of early August, a total of 568,213 sightseers had been recorded on the three overlook platforms on the south side of the MacArthur Lock wall, some 85,641 more than a year ago. Visitors in August have averaged about 10,000 per day and on Aug. 5 an all-time one-day record was set with 14,896 persons registered.

Marchi's Campaign Levels With Voter

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Very few of the world's statesmen or politicians (call them what you may) dare to sit down with a reporter to explore a subject in its philosophic ramifications.

But John Marchi, the Republican nominee for Mayor of New York, who stands a good chance of winning in a three-way election, is a revelation: he can't seem to talk in crudely partisan terms on any of the problems that are agitating the voters. For those who enjoy the dying art of good conversation—and good thinking—this is a pure delight. Whether it will win an election in New York City next November is another question. It depends on whether the voters are "fed up to here" (to quote Richard Nixon) with hokum, balderdash, nonsense, and the various assorted idiocies that seem to possess even the most rational of men once they are out on the campaign circuit.

Marchi, in an interview, insists on leveling with you far beyond the call of conventional political duty. He is the complete anti-demagogue. Hence his reproving words, directed at John Lindsay and Mario Procaccino, his rival candidates for Mayor, on the subject of their own most recent demagogy in the matter of financing the 20 cent subway fare.

Both Lindsay, the Liberal, and Procaccino, the organization Democrat, have struck noble poses and called for transit subsidies from somewhere "out there." But there isn't any "out there" in the State of New York that stands willing to help New York subway riders at the expense of themselves.

It's foolish to think, so Marchi says, that people who pay 25, 30—and even 40 cents to get them to work in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse or wherever might be willing to tax themselves to help subway riders retain a lower fare in Harlem or the Bronx.

What Marchi is saying is that human beings have human natures, and one should be candid about normal expectancies. There won't be any "out there" state subsidy for the New York City subway rider unless there is a quid pro quo that gives equal relief to the bus riders upstate. If the national Secretary of Transportation, John Volpe, has ideas for improving the all-over quality of the commuting services that cross city, borough and county lines, that would be something else again.

How do you solve the transportation problems of New York City in the context of a general philosophy that would promise equity to Mamaroneck, Jamestown, and Skaneateles? You certainly don't do it by saying that Albany must cough up the dough for New York City, or else. Albany isn't going to cough up the dough; as Governor Nelson Rockefeller has said, "the cupboard is bare."

But you might get somewhere if you know something about the big picture. It so happens that John Marchi, as a State Senator, has been a member of the Executive Committee of the Council of State Governments. He is also the chairman of this particular committee's subcommittee on State - Urban Relations. As such, he has been meeting with representatives from 50 state governments to discuss such problems as transport in and out of cities. He meets with Vice President Agnew, with Secretary Volpe, and with Health, Education, and Welfare Secretary Bob Finch at conferences in Ohio, Washington, and elsewhere.

If there is any money for subway riders from a national "out there," Marchi would be the first of the three candidates for Mayor to spot it. This isn't to say that he could get it in time to win an election. But from his experience, which has been wider than Lindsay's or Procaccino's, he knows that disillusionment must come to any City Hall regime that indulges in the wishfulfillment dream of "budgeting on expectations."

★ ★ ★

The question that Marchi faces as a campaigner is one of finding the most effective way of entering into rational discourse with New York City's eight million people. He can't handshake and philosophize and talk plain common sense with each voter individually. He did get around in the last 13 days of his primary campaign, logging 5,000 miles inside the city in a rented car.

Since he beat Lindsay, who specializes in street corner appearances, he must have been effective. In his temperamental inability to use the meat-axe and the blunderbus, John Marchi has his job cut out for him this autumn. But maybe the voters are "fed up to here" with candidates who tear passions to tatters and yowl like animals in a zoo.

Letters To The Press

LAWMAKERS

After several debates on Capital Hill the sur-tax was extended, despite the promises made by our congressman to have meaningful tax reform first. In my opinion these gentlemen should be awarded an Oscar for the best performance of the year, and I only hope that even the most die hard among us realize that we (the average person) are being taken by the very people we elect to office.

Our congressmen all said that they would not extend the sur-tax unless there was meaningful tax reform first, such as making millionaires pay taxes (and doesn't that bring tears to your eyes?) They were also going to change the tax laws on the big oil industries who now receive almost one-third of their gross profit tax free, but despite all these promises they went ahead and extended the sur-tax anyway and forgot all about the little man.

We were once called a nation of sheep but that was the understatement of the year.

We are really sadistic, in that the more we get slapped around by the people we elect to office the better we seem to like it and we turn right around and vote them back in again.

Some of our lawmakers here in the State of Michigan voted to raise the interest rate from 7 to 8½ per cent and we all know what happens then — our young married couples cannot buy a home with 8½ per cent interest and they are forced to pay anywhere from $100 to $200 a month rent for something worth half that much.

Make no mistake, this inflation is caused by tremendous profits and tremendous profits only and taxing the little man still further will not put the brakes on inflation and you lawmakers know this as well as I do.

We are often told to write to our lawmakers when we feel something is wrong. This is ridiculous as these men we elect know right from wrong, but they use this excuse knowing full well that the average person hates to write any letters, let alone a letter to a lawmaker. Certainly, if we have personal problems we should write to our lawmakers as they are not mindreaders, but for problems like taxes there is no excuse for not knowing what is right and what is wrong and they (the lawmakers) should be held responsible for their votes.

I've said it before and I'll say it again: We should demand that every lawmaker publish his voting record on all major bills and tax bills at least one month before election in every local newspaper and then we could see in black and white what is going on in our modern political jungle of today.

Federal Spending Produced Inflation

NEW YORK (AP) — In the current anti-inflation program, which has caused home mortgages to be priced out of the reach of thousands of Americans and threatens an end to government backed loans for students, it is wise to remember the causes.

A popular conception is that inflation resulted from the greedy demands by ordinary citizens for more goods and services, and that this overly great demand drove up prices and caused the government to apply economy measures.

Something nearly the opposite is true. It was government spending that produced the first twist in the spiral. And it was, to a large extent, the complaints of ordinary citizens that brought about the economies.

Tug-O-War

The history of the present tug-o-war between wages and prices began in 1965. At that time the federal government went on a spending spree. Like an irresponsible consumer with a credit card, it spent money far beyond its means.

This would have been permissable if the government went out and raised more revenue, just as the customer would have been better off if he had taken on a part-time job to bring in more money to finance his spending.

The Johnson administration, however, did not raise taxes immediately. It escalated the war in Vietnam without employing compensating economies in other areas of the budget or raising taxes to finance the spending. The deficit reached $25 billion.

Contributed

Congress also contributed to the problem. While the primary damage was done by the president's failure to raise more revenue, Congress added to the problem when it, too, failed to increase taxes in 1967.

But, although the failure to take remedial action was a mistake by Congress, it doesn't change the cause. And the primary cause, disguised quite a bit these days, was government spending.

When the government spends money it doesn't have there is an inevitable consequence: the tax of inflation. Every man, woman and child must pay the bill through higher prices just as the bill should have been paid by conventional taxes.

The results have become obvious to most Americans.

Opening lead—king of clubs.

Good card reading is the most important single asset of the competent dummy player. Once declarer diagnoses the make-up of the opponent's hands, the battle is already half won.

There are two main sources that help declarer to determine how the defenders' cards are divided. One is the defenders' bidding, if any; the other is the knowledge he gains from the plays already made.

Take this case where, in effect, South played as though he had locked at the opponents' cards. At the critical point he made an unusual play that proved to be the key to the contract, but it was a key play based on sound reasoning.

West led the king of clubs and East overtook it with the ace to return a club. West won with the nine and continued with the queen, East discarding a spade. Declarer ruffed, then drew three rounds of trumps, learning in the process that West had started with precisely three hearts and six clubs.

South now cashed the A-K of spades, everyone following suit, and led a low diamond. When West followed low, declarer played dummy's nine, which lost to the ten.

This unusual finesse paid off extremely well. East returned a spade and South ruffed. Declarer then played a low diamond to the ace, nailing West's king, and finessed the eight on the return, thus holding himself to only one diamond loser to make the contract.

This unusual method of handling the diamond combination became clearly marked once South had learned, from the play of the other suits, that West held no more than two diamonds. West was likely to hold the king of diamonds as part of his overcall, and it was therefore correct to play him for precisely K-x.

Teen-Ager Requests List Of Privileges

Dear Ann Landers: What have you got against plumbers? It seems that whenever you want to make a comparison you use plumbers as the dumbest segment of society.

On the other hand you seem to love psychiatrists. I'll bet if you took a survey you'd find more nutty psychiatrists than nutty plumbers.

When you call a plumber to fix something he doesn't leave until it is fixed. But I have two cousins who have been going to a headshrinker for five years and they are no better off than when they started. In fact, one seems worse.

Please say something nice about plumbers, Ann. They work hard and the world couldn't get along without them.—Married To One

Dear One: I did say something nice about plumbers, and they made me an honorary member of the Chicago Plumbers Journeymen Union, Local 130. Now, aren't you ashamed?

Dear Ann Landers: Last week I became a member of that very special group called teen-agers. Don't you think a person should have freedom of speech when he leaves his baby days behind? I don't mean mouthing off, I mean expressing opinions out in the open when he doesn't happen to agree with his parents.

I feel a lot older than I did a week ago when I was only a child of 12. What are the special privileges of a teen-ager? Please answer in your newspaper column because a lot of kids are having this problem lately. — Highland Park

Dear Hi: A lot of parents are having this problem lately, too.

I'm in favor of kids expressing opinions—even before they are teen-agers, but I assume you know the difference between expressing an opinion and being a smart-mouth kid.

As for the privileges of a teen-ager, I believe they should be in direct proportion to his ability to handle responsibility. The more reliable, industrious and trustworthy he is, the more privileges he should have.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a wonderful guy but he has a rather rotund shape. I want him to buy trousers large enough to go around his waist. My husband likes to wear his trousers under his stomach. What is your preference?—Mrs. M. P.

Dear Mrs. M. P.: I'm sure your husband couldn't care less about my preference. Seeing as how it is his stomach I'm perfectly willing to let him wear his trousers any way that seems most comfortable to him. And I suggest you do likewise, honey.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann: I had guests for dinner last night. One of the women whom I thought was a good friend said in a loud voice, "This is delicious potato salad. Did you buy it yourself?" Everyone laughed. She quickly said, "You know I meant MAKE not buy." Freud says people mean what they say the first time. Do you agree?—Elmhurst

Dear Elm: Some of Freud's theories have been discredited, but I'd say he was probably right in this instance. (If I had a sample of that potato salad I could tell you for sure.)

MEN BARRED

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Anyone over the age of 18 in South Africa can see the German sex education film "Helga" except members of the sex responsible for Helga's pregnancy.

In other words: All men are barred, and the women are up in arms about the ban. Nearly all of them want their menfolk to see "Helga" so they can "see what a women goes through."

South Africa is the only country in the world where men are barred.

Voters Will Decide Housing Bond Issue

LANSING (AP) — Michigan voters will be asked to approve a $100 million, low-cost housing bond issue in the November 1970 general election under terms of a bill signed into law by Gov. William Milliken.

The bill was among a number signed or vetoed Tuesday as Milliken completed action on the 315th measure put before him by the Legislature this year. Some 20 measures still face executive action.

The bond bill was sponsored by Sen. Coleman Young, D - Detroit. It provides that the $100 million would be used for grants, loans and advances to municipalities and redevelopment corporations for increased "decent, safe and sanitary low income housing and eliminating slums and blight."

Milliken also signed an administrative procedures bill that he said gives Michigan "a new bill of rights for citizens" in their dealing with state agencies.

"Rulemaking procedure has been refined and improved, complex administrative hearing procedures have been streamlined and new public rights to information and administrative due process have been secured," Milliken explained. The bill was sponsored by Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy.

Vetoes

Milliken vetoed two bills, one providing for regulation and control of the altering of automobile odometer mileage.

"This is unquestionably greatly needed consumer protection legislation," the governor said in his veto message.

But, he added, another section of the bill would "substantially impair the ability of the state to regulate the storage of fireworks, particularly with reference to the location of storage buildings and their distances from other structures."

Fireworks are "devices of great explosive power," Milliken continued, "and should continue to be regulated and treated by the state fire marshal as explosives."

The second bill vetoed by Milliken would have required that no health officer, inspector, investigator, sanitary engineer or other representative of city, county or district health departments be personally liable for damages sustained by any person resulting from the action of a department employe—except where such action is negligent.

Legal Costs

The measure also provided that the city, county or district shall pay the costs of legal defense and judgment rendered in any case where such a department employe is a defendant for actions arising out of the performance of his legal duties.

Milliken said he vetoed the bill because "it creates an immunity from personal liability in the event that the enumerated public health personnel are found guilty of wrongdoing."

Such a result, Milliken said, "violates sound public policy by creating for a particular group of public employes immunity.... when they are acting under cover of law and as public officers.

"In addition, this bill would force upon local units of government a burden greater than the state itself has been willing to assume—that of a legal requirement to defend members of public health departments who are defendants...."

Appropriation

Other bills signed by the governor, many of them given immediate effect (IE), include those to:

—Appropriate $36.96 million for the State Education Department for the current fiscal year, $12.2 million more than the department received last year.

—Amend the state penal code to provide for penalties for a man convicted of soliciting a prostitute.

—Provide for approval of gifts or contributions "in the public interest" from the operating revenues of a publicly owned utility, subject to the approval of the legislative body of the municipality.

—Provide for an antidiscrimination clause in all listing agreements (IE).

—Provide that the Department of Education administer an incentive awards program (IE).

—Amend the revised Judicature Act to allow common pleas court judges to charge a $10 fee for marriages performed in their courtrooms and increase the court's informal conciliation jurisdiction from $100 to $300.

Widowers

—Provide that a minor 17 years of age with a valid high school diploma shall be exempt from the privisions of the Hittle Juvenile Employment Act (IE).

—Amend the Probate Judges Retirement Act to allow a widower, in addition to a widow, of a probate judge to receive benefits and provide other allowances (IE).

—Amend the insurance code to define and prohibit the issuance in Michigan of profit sharing, charter, founder, coupon and certain endowment policies after Jan. 1, 1971, and provide other changes (effective Jan. 1, 1971).

—Amend the motor vehicle code to clarify procedures to notify the holder of a secured interest when a vehicle is registered for title.

—Amend the school code to allow intermediate school districts to operate area vocational education programs (IE).

Cancel Title

— Establish a higher education facilities authority and prescribe its responsibilities (IE).

—Provide for school district reorganization effective on the date of a successful election for a school district reorganization plan (IE).

—Amend the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund Act to allow the secretary of state to cancel the title and "junk" any vehicle "totaled" in an auto accident where the owner receivers payment from the fund (IE).

—Amend the revised Judicature Act to give district court witnesses the same fee and mileage allowances as in circuit court (effective Sept. 1).

—Amend the Savings and Loan Act to give state-chartered associations the same powers as federally chartered associations (IE).

—Establish the Wayne County Community College and allow it to operate. Existing legislation does not allow the Wayne County Community College to tax, borrow, purchase, lease, or contract for the purposes of capital outlay or for operations (IE).

—Amend the Snowmobile Registration Act to exempt from the filing requirement snowmobiles used in "special snowmobile events."

Reduce Ballot

—Amend the election code to reduce the size of paper ballot precincts by allowing division into two precincts of any paper ballot precinct which has less than 400 registered voters (IE).

—Amend the Motor Vehicle Act to prohibit anyone under 21 from driving a school bus at any time.

—Amend the revised Judicature Act to substitute the term "referees" for "circuit court commissioners" (IE).

—Clarify the jurisdiction of district courts to include misdemeanors punishable by a fine or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both (effective Sept. 1).

—Provide for combining the 5th and 6th District courts in Berrien County (effective Sept. 1).

—Amend the revised Judicature Act to increase fees for circuit court jury trials to $20 (effective Sept. 1).

—Remove a civil action to a lower court where the circuit court determines that actual damages are less than those claimed (IE).

—Amend the revised Judicature Act to preclude as sole defense in a garnishee action the fact that the principal defendant has been sued in his own right.

Retirement Likened To Mail Order Bride

By JOE WING

NEW YORK (AP) — Approaching retirement must be something like approaching a mail order bride. You hope she lives up to her advance billing, but you have mental reservations.

As soon as I announced that I would retire this summer, friends and acquaintenances told me: "You lucky dog. No more commuting, or office hours, or back breaking projects. You can just loaf and enjoy yourself."

I guess so. That's what I have had in mind for quite a while. But I notice that my most enthusiastic well wishers are middle aged men caught up in the tensions of their drives for success or for providing family funds. The ones nearing my age just say, "Good luck."

Change In Life

Retirement is going to be as much a change in life, I doubt not, as is marriage itself. After 50 years on the treadmill, what does an old hoss like me do when turned out to pasture?

I've been putting that question recently to a lot of oldtimers who have managed to survive retirement traumas.

One in particular was so discouraged at the outset that he was talking about trying to enter an old folks' home. Since then he has gotten into local politics and volunteer work and can't find time to do all the things he wants to do.

That seems to be a common refrain—"There never are enough hours in the day."

Some add there never is enough money. After all, neither your boss nor Uncle Sam ever contracted to support you in the style to which you have become accustomed.

Trailer Hitch

But I used to live on hardly more than pennies, and in a pinch can do so again. And I get to thinking of all the places I've dreamed of and never visited ... all the books I've meant to read and never read ... the stories I've never written, the gardens I have left unmade, the friends I've never really talked to, the strange foods uneaten, the strange seas unsailed ...

As a starter I've acquired a car with a trailer hitch. Now all I need to find out what it's all about, this lure of the open road, is a second hand trailer.

Surely some of the projects in such an assortment will work into the pattern of this marriage-to-be. And perhaps I won't do too badly as a mail order husband.

Agencies Ask No Change In State Forest Policies

MARQUETTE — Developmental agencies of Northern Michigan today asked the Michigan Natural Resources Commission not to put wildlife interests ahead of human interests in the management of the state's forests.

The presentation to the commission was made for the Coordinating Council of Operation Action-U. P. and the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress, with Forum on Resources of Upper Michigan cooperating.

The presentation was made by William Veeser, chairman, Michigan State Chamber of Commerce and Jean Worth of Panax Newspapers with a backup panel including Dr. Eric Bourdo, dean of the School of Forestry and Wood Products of Michigan Technological University; Robert Schmeling, chairman, Forest Resource Committee of Michigan Manufacturers' Association; Bruce Buell of FORUM; William Wilson of Operation Action; Lee Meyers of UPCAP and John Riippa, Ontonagon sawmill operator.

Public Interest

The panel's suggestion that public interest would be best served by management of Michigan's 4 million acres of state forests for multiple usage, as at present, was prompted by Michigan Department of Natural Resources game biologists' suggestion that state forest plans stress wildlife management.

Keeping some forest areas in a brushy status as deer pastures was suggested "because a policy which will permit the utmost in recreational needs sems to be the wisest, even though a possible sacrifice in timber production may be required. A restatement of land management policies should be made to meet modern needs of forest lands for outdoor recreation."

The memorandum on forest management policy was written by DNR Biologists John D. Byelich and David D. Arnold at department request and administrators announced that it was not state policy, but one of several divisional position papers submitted for guidance in policy-making.

The reply of the developmental agencies was, in effect, that the commission should consider Game Division pleading in a context of general forest usage to supply timber for industry and general recreation and not just deer hunting.

Expanding Industry

The Coordinating Council said there are "two imperatives in forest recreation in Michigan—fire suppression in the forests, and commercial cutting of timber, to renew and upgrade the forests and provide feed for wildlife.

Effective wood-cutting is, in turn, dependent upon an adequate wood market and this is now in sight for Northern Michigan. It would be a gross miscarriage of planning if a great new industrial request for wood from the state forests should coincide with adoption of a state policy giving wildlife priority over timber production and retiring substantial areas from the growing of trees. And specially so because the two usages are, in most cases, not only compatible, but complementary."

The servicing of 20 new or enlarged sawmills by Upper Peninsula Power Co. in the past five years and Escanaba Paper Co. plans for a new pulp mill which will use 1,000 cords of wood a day—10 times its present usage—were cited as examples of expanding wood industry.

Magic For Deer

The 35 larger wood-using industries in Northern Michigan—representing 75 per cent of this part of the state's economy—plan sale of products with a wholesale value of $311 million in 1970.

They had payrolls of $50 million in 1968 and expect to make capital investments of $100 million in the next 5 years on top of a current depreciated value of $400 million.

The area protest on a forests-for-deer policy noted that the three counties which sell more pulpwood than any others in Michigan — Menominee, Dickinson and Iron—also consistently lead the entire state in buck kills. They're on the border of Wisconsin with its highly-developed paper mill industry and Worth suggested: "Proximity to manufacture is magic in forestry and logging is magic in making good deer hunting."

Creates Second 'Earth Garden'

MUSKEGON (AP)—"To each his own," Muskegon Mayor Walter H. Brooks said philosophically about art in general and a new work of art—some call it junk—by Mrs. J. Kelly Kaufman.

Mrs. Kaufman's project, an "earth garden" constructed on a vacant lot, is her second this year and the new work has elicited as much criticism as the first. The work is a huge metal pipe which Mrs. Kaufman described as a symbol of man's conquest of space.

"It looks like a city dump," complained Mrs. Marshall Kay, who took a list of 28 signatures of residents who dislike the work to Monday's Muskegon City Commission meeting.

"And it's dangerous," she added. "I sent a child to get one of these shavings (used in the earth garden) and she cut her finger on it."

There's more.

"And it's a traffic hazard, all those cars driving by to look at the thing," said Mrs. Marshall.

The new earth garden has a large metal pipe set amidst the lot's piles of rubble. It represents man's conquest of space, with the pipe symbolizing a rocket to the moon.

The first project — composed of foundry clinkers, transformers, metal shavings and railroad ties—raised a small but bitter ruckus until Mrs. Kaufman, despite support from some artists across the nation, agreed to dismantle it.

She returned it to its original state—strewn with rubbish and garbage cans.

Complaints from neighbors may have had something to do with her decision. She reportedly switched her phone to an unlisted number because of the calls she got in reaction to the work.

Mayor Brooks tactfully said there was "a difference of opinion whether it was art or junk." He said "none of the very impressed by it, however.

The commission resolved the latest problem temporarily be referring it to the city police department to determine if the lot is a safety hazard. After that, Brooks said, the commission may be forced to decide whether it's art or junk.

Bay View College Closing Its Doors

BAY VIEW (AP) — A Methodist summer college which has operated in this Emmet County community for 52 years in closing for good Sept. 1.

The Rev. Russell King president of the Bay View Association, said the Bay View College of Liberal Arts is closing because of a lack of accreditation and Albion College's decision to drop its link with the summer school.

The Michigan Department of Education told college officials last year that the association's charter does not permit it to operate a college outside state regulations.

The Rev. Dr. King said Bay View cannot meet state requirements for buildings and housing because of the expense since the college operates only eight weeks per year.

Hoffa Making Freedom Bid

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —Imprisoned Teamsters President James Hoffa was scheduled to arrive here today to begin another bid to secure his freedom from prison.

Hoffa will begin preparing for a Supreme Court ordered hearing to determine whether governmental eavesdropping tainted his conviction on charges of jury tampering.

Presiding over the case will be U.S. District Judge Frank W. Wilson, the same jurist who conducted Hoffa's trial here in 1964.

The union leader, who is in the middle of an eight year prison stint, will be lodged in the Hamilton County Jail, "just like any other prisoner," authorities say.

"They can put him in with the rest," said U.S. Marshal Harry Mansfield. "As far as I'm concerned, he is just another federal prisoner."

Hoffa lost a bid to overturn a five-year federal fraud conviction in Chicago recently when a judge ruled that the wiretapping in that case did not disclose any information which relevant to his conviction.

The hearings were ordered by the U. S. Supreme Court following a high court ruling that eavesdropping by the Justice Department could produce information which would invalidate a conviction.

Sunday Magazine To End Publication

NEW YORK (AP) — This Week magazine, which calls itself the country's oldest nationally distributed Sunday newspaper supplement, may cease publication with its Nov. 2 issue due to falling circulation and advertising.

The management of the 34-year-old supplement recommended Wednesday in a letter to 42 distributing newspapers that the Nov. 2 issue be the last one.

Agreement from client newspapers is needed before the supplement can halt operation. A spokesman for the magazine said a definite decision is expected early next week.

Senate Source Says:

Haynsworth To Replace Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. is reported by Senate sources to be President Nixon's choice to fill the Supreme Court vacancy created by the resignation of Abe Fortas.

Sources say Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell researched the rulings of circuit court judges before recommending the elevation of Haynsworth from chief judge of the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va., to a seat on the nation's highest tribunal.

Fortas quit in mid-May amid a controversy over his ties to the family foundation of jailed financier Louis E. Wolfson.

Haynsworth, a Democrat who was born in South Carolina, declines to discuss the report of the pending nomination. He told a reporter who reached him Tuesday at his Greenville, S.C., home: "I can't answer anything that will cause you to guess." He added that if and when there is an announcement on Fortas' successor "it is up to the White House to make it."

Switch possible

A Senate source cautioned that a last-minute switch was always possible. Others most frequently mentioned include California Supreme Court Justice Louis H. Burke, former American Bar Association President Lewis F. Powell Jr. of Richmond, Va.; Judge Henry J. Friendly Jr. of the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, New York, and Judge Charles D. Breitel of the New York State Court of Appeals.

Haynsworth, 56, a graduate of Furman University and Harvard Law School, was named to the circuit court in 1957 by then-President Dwight D. Eisenhower and has been chief judge since 1964. He is described as fitting the mold for the type of Supreme Court justice Nixon wants.

Middle Course

The nomination, Nixon's second appointment to the Supreme Court, is expected to be submitted to the Senate on Thursday. The Senate Judiciary Committee plans a hearing Sept. 9, following the congressional recess.

Clement Haynsworth

The choice of Haynsworth would be in line with Nixon's action in tagging another circuit court judge—Warren E. Burger—to succeed Earl Warren as the nation's chief justice. The President told newsmen he picked Burger because Burger's opinions as a judge of the circuit court here and his public speeches indicated he would be strict in interpreting the Constitution.

Haynsworth has taken what most observers consider a middle-of-the-road course on the appeals court that has jurisdiction over North Carolina, South Carolina, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Sunrise Worship At State Fair

DETROIT (AP) — Sunrise worship services will be held on both Sundays which fall within the period of the Michigan State Fair according to state fair manager E. J. Keirns. Arranged by the Detroit Council of Churches, the services will be held at 8 a. m., Sunday, Aug. 24 and Aug. 31.

State Dinner's Cost Runs High

LOS ANGELES (AP) — No one is saying just how much the state dinner for the Apollo 11 astronauts cost, but the best estimates put the expense to taxpayers at upwards of $43,000.

An official of the Century Plaza Hotel, site of the affair Wednesday night, said a dinner similar to the seven-course meal probably would cost $30. That would come to $43,200 for the 1,440 guests, but would not include other costs such as renting the mammoth ballroom and the conference rooms used by those who made the arrangements.

The White House said the bulk of the bill would be paid by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, with the rest coming from the President's entertainment allowance.

Astronauts May Go On World Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — A foreign good-will tour by the Apollo 11 astronauts reportedly is under consideration by the Nixon administration.

Officials said Wednesday no decision had been made but such a trip appeared to be a possibility.

Carl Bartch, a State Department spokesman, said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has informed him "there are no firm plans at the present time" for such a trip.

Milliken Praises Apollo 11 Crew

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. William Milliken praised the Apollo 11 astronauts Wednesday and touted Michigan's role in the American moon flight at the same time.

In a statement prepared in connection with President Nixon's dinner honoring the astronauts, Milliken said:

"I am truly honored to represent Michigan in the national tribute to these brave men—Neil Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin and Michael Collins.

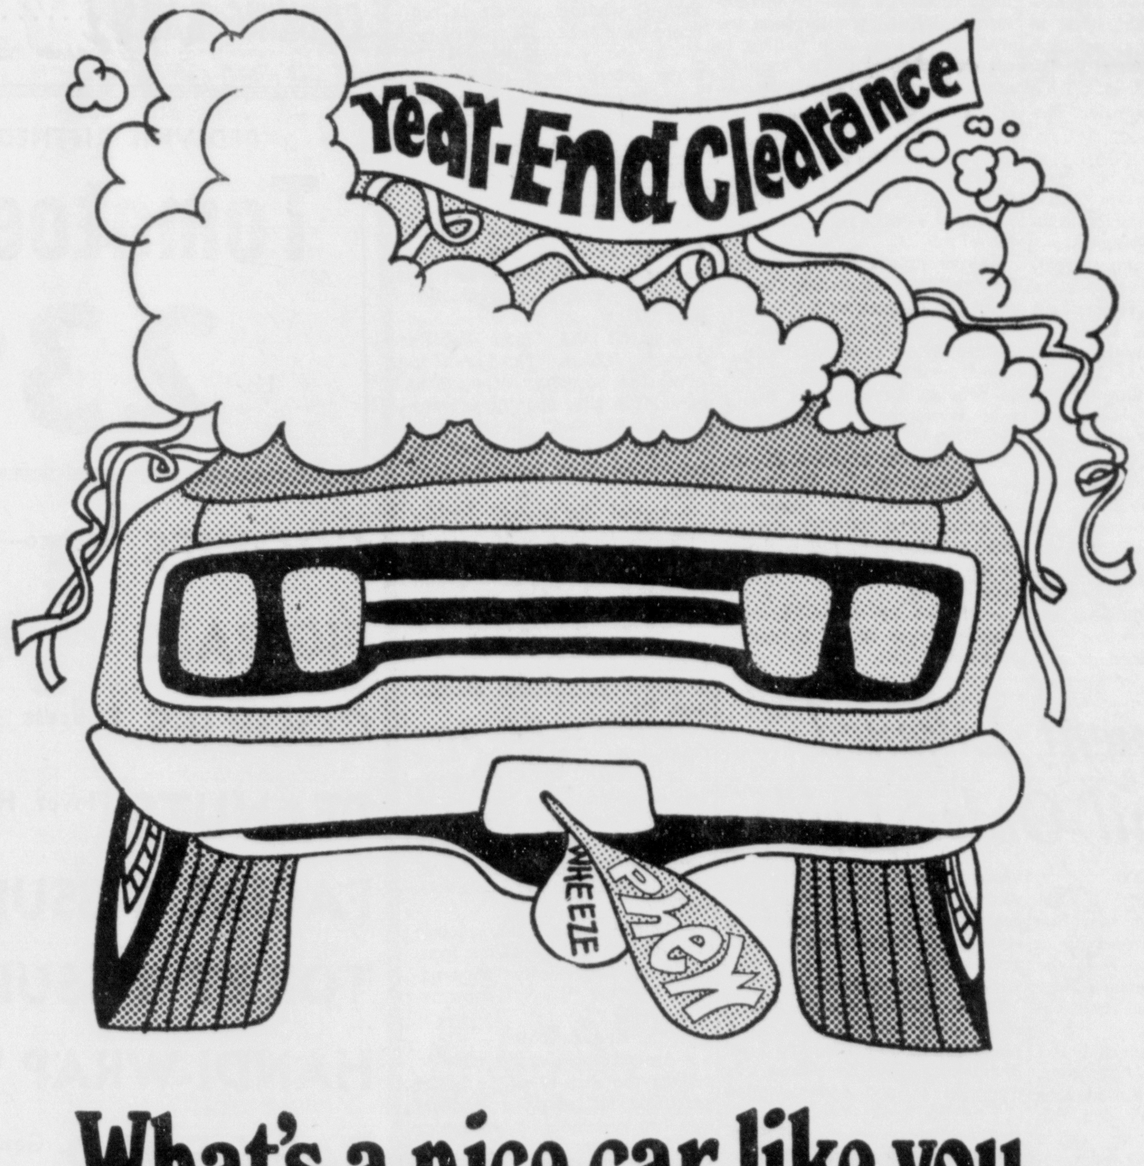

"In behalf of the people of Michigan I congratulate the astronauts for all their courageous accomplishment in establishing a new frontier for all mankind."

Milliken termed it "impossible to think of the Apollo 11 triumph without remembering that a Michigan man, Col. JAMES McDivitt, commanded the successful Apollo 9 mission on the 10-day orbital flight around the moon, which helped set the stage for Apollo 11."

Milliken said NASA officials have awarded contracts to 3,756 Michigan firms during the last eight years. They include contracts for scientific devices left on the moon and the food eaten by the astronauts, he said.

"Michigan is proud of its role in the Apollo space program and grateful to have been given an opportunity to contribute its skills and resources to this historic venture."

Consumers Clamor For Drug Refunds

NEW YORK (AP) — Consumers across the country are trying to get part of a $100 million fund set up by five drug firms for users of certain wonder drugs between 1954 and 1966.

The refund program is an outgrowth of a price-rigging case, pressed by the federal government involving five leading pharmaceutical companies. The mailing deadline for claims is Aug. 16.

Several thousand claims have been picked up daily at a Bronx post office by the law firm of Dickstein, Shapiro, Dennis and Galligan since July 1, when the drug companies' advertisement publicizing the refund program appeared in about 1,500 newspapers.

Along with legitimate claims, the mail also has included claims accompanied by old death certificates and false teeth, and claims whose conditions make them obviously ineligible.

Not Produced

"One man is seeking a refund on a certain drug he purchased in 1947," commented Arthur Galligan, partner in the firm. "Not only is he not within the specified time period, but that particular drug was not produced until 1948."

Other persons are listing drugs bought after 1966, which makes them ineligible.

The $100 million fund is being provided by the drug firms of Chas. Pfizer & Co., American Cyanamid, Bristol-Myers, E.R. Squibb, and Upjohn Co. American Cyanamid, Bristol-Myers and Pfizer were convicted of the charge Dec. 29, 1967. Upjohn and Squibb were not defendants, but were named as co-conspirators in the Justice Department suit.

About 33 drug products marketed under different names, all containing tetracycline, were involved in the refund program, according to Galligan's office. The federal government had charged that tetracycline, regarded as one of most effective antibiotics, was produced for as little as 1.6 cents a capsule but retailed for 51 cents each.

$1 A Capsule

Claimants say they spent an average of 50 cents to 85 cents per capsule, with some paying as high as a $1.

The government suit said that $1.7 billion of the drugs were sold over the 13-year period.

The convictions, now under appeal, opened the door to a number of civil law suits, all for triple damages.

The five drug firms pooled $100 million to settle claims by states, counties, cities, wholesalers, retailers and individual consumers. An added $20 million was offered for claims by private hospitals, and claimants such as hospital plans, the companies said Feb. 6.

All mailed claims are being handled, under authorization of the federal court, by the Dickstein firm, which is representing 20 states and two cities, including New York, in the drug refund case.

Screened

The attorneys general in each state, as well as consumer protection agencies in some large municipalities such as New York are serving as coordinators of the nationwide refund program. The firms' multimillion-dollar offer is one of the largest in antitrust history.

The claims must be screened by both the federal court and individual attorneys general, and eligible claimants cannot expect payment for another six to eight months, Galligan said.

Persons making claims, said Galligan must name the drugs purchased, when and where the purchases were made and whether any reimbursement was made by an insurance company under a health plan.

The information can be mailed to Clerk of the U.S. Court, P.O. Box 752, Bronx, N.Y.,

The prices that individuals claim they have spent on the drugs in those 13 years range from 67 cents for one consumer to $15,000 for another. For the parents of a child using antibiotics daily, the windfall in refunds could be substantial, said Galligan.

Philibecks Take Holstein Prizes

Philibeck Farms of Menominee took top honors during Wednesday's Holstein competition at the U. P. State Fair. The competition was stiff, as almost 150 Holsteins were entered in toughest dairy cattle event at the Fair.

"Holsteins are the most numerous dairy cows in the United States. These large black & white cows are the best milk producers of all breeds, but their butterfat percentage is less than other breeds," said Jack Little, Dairy Superintendent at the Fair.

Philibeck Farms captured first place ribbons in ten different Holstein categories including bull, under 2 years; Junior Champion bull; Grand Champion bull; cow, 2 years, milking; cow, 3 years; cow, 5-8 years; Senior Champion; Grand Champion; three females; and best dairy herd.

Henry Wender of Iron Mountain took six first place ribbons with wins in the following classes: Senior yearling heifer; cow, 4 years; Reserve Champion; Get-of-Sire, Junior and Senior; and Produce of dam.

Other winners in the Holstein classes were Peggy Breclaw of Vulcan, Carol and Ed Magnuson also of Vulcan and Ralph Paulson of Daggett.

The event was judged by Dr. Peter Spike, MSU professor.

Collins Explains Lack Of Mustache

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Why did astronaut Michael Collins shave off his mustache?

"Take your pick," Collins quipped before the celebrity-studded state dinner Wednesday. "My wife didn't like it, my kids didn't like it, or it itched."

Collins, who piloted the orbiting command ship Columbia while Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., were on the moon, grew the mustache during the lunar odyssey and the quarantine period that ended Sunday. He shaved it off Tuesday after spending time with his family.

Castro's Aide Dies Of Stroke

HAVANA (AP) — Maj. Rene Vallejo, 49, a confidant of Prime Minister Fidel Castro and his personal physician, died Wednesday night of a stroke, the official newspaper Granma reported today.

Often described as the man closest to Castro, Vallejo had been in a coma since the stroke July 3. He had been almost constantly at Castro's side although he held no official position.

Board Approves College Building Units 3 And 4

Authorization to proceed with designs for the third and fourth buildings on the new campus was approved by Bay de Noc Community College Board last night.

The Health Education-Convocation building and Campus Center designs were discussed at length and approval to proceed with the buildings was granted subject to the sale of bonds. The financing for the buildings will be within the voted millage for the College.

The Health Education-Convocation building will provide space for teaching physical education and for major lectures and arts programs to be offered by the College, as well as providing space for intramural activities and recreation for students.

Cost $240,000

Dr. Richard Rinehart stressed that the College has had to settle for teaching physical education outdoors during the few months of the year possible and that attempts to use other community facilities have not been satisfactory. The needs for teaching physical education had been given a lower priority than the needs for general classroms and laboratories, and it was recommended that this should now be rectified before building costs would rise any further. The building would not provide space for public attendance at basketball games but would satisfy major College purposes, he said.

It was decided that Daverman Associates, of Grand Rapids, campus planners for the College, should prepare a design that would use pre-engineered components and an inexpensive structural system of the necessary form to fit into the campus architectural style.

It was estimated that the cost of such a facility would be approximately $200,000, with a total project cost of $240,000 including fees, equipment, utility extensions, and landscaping. This amount would fit into the long range plans of financing.

The decision was made to proceed with the construction of this facility as soon as the bond issue was sold, with the hopes that it would be available for use next fall.

Budget Is Revised

The Campus Center will receive state funding assistance and, in order to follow the state procedures, would require delay of construction until the following year. Preliminary planning monies had been approved by the legislature this year. This building will provide counseling and student services space, general administrative offices, and some classrooms.

In other actions the Board ratified general policies regarding faculty participation in the governance of the College and student organization policies.

The Board also approved a revised budget which recognized the actual appropriations made by the state legislature. The budget adopted earlier was based on the minimum estimate of state funds and had omitted several courses and areas of activity.

The higher appropriation actually received from the state made it possible to restore some of these items, which included initiation of a Dental Assistant program later in the year, additional courses in the summer and interim terms, an additional faculty secretary position, and improvements to the roof of the existing building for better maintenance.

Set Up Field Hospitals Near Street Fighting

Col. T.M. Elliott, director of the Southern Irish Medical Corps, flew by helicopter to Letterkenny to establish headquarters for five mobile hospitals.

Reluctance

Officials said the hospitals with army staffs are ready to function and that mobile patrols of medical transports and security personnel were operating along the border.

A Southern military spokesman declined to say how many troops were involved, but he said there has been no general mobilization order. He explained that only certain key officers have been recalled from military leave.

Explaining the reason for setting up military hospitals near the border, one southern Irish official said that many of the Catholics hurt or wounded in the rioting are reluctant to subject themselves to Northern Irish medical care.

The fighting continued today and in Belfast, Northern Ireland's capital. John Cardinal Conway called on all Catholics to "do everything to avoid further escalation of violence." He is the Roman Catholic primate of Ireland.

He criticized the Northern Irish government for permitting the so-called Apprentice Boys parade to be staged Tuesday. The parade marks a standoff by Protestants against Roman Catholic battalions at Londonderry nearly 300 years ago.

U. N. Appeal

"This is not the time to apportion precise responsibility for what has happened but certainly a heavy burden rests on those who remained silent for over 40 years in the face of manifest injustice," the cardinal said.

"It is quite obvious that the memory of those earlier nights of terror is still very much alive and due cognizance should be taken of that fact.

"There are many other things which I would like to say but for the present I refrain. In the name of the God who loves all men, Catholic and Protestant, Jew and Gentile, let no more wood be piled on this destructive fire."

The fighting spread from Londonderry Wednesday night to nine cities and towns.

It was during these outbursts that the Irish Republic appealed to the British government to call for a U.N. peace force to restore order.

But Britain replied that Northern Ireland was no business of Dublin's or the United Nations.

President Toasts Astronauts

all. the smiles of our fellow Americans."

Aldrin took note of the faith he said Americans put in the Apollo flight and its meaning for the future.

"We flew Eagle and Columbia with your hands helping us on the controls and your spirit behind us," he told the guests and a national television audience, referring to the moon-lander Eagle and the main spacecraft Columbia. "When Neil and I saluted the flag, all Americans, I think, saluted it with us."

Collins rose and turned to Nixon, saying, "Mr. President, here stands one proud American."

The trio appeared chipper despite the grueling day which began with a flight in the presidential jet to New York City and a mammoth welcome along Broadway, traditional canyon of heroes.

Visit Chicago

After a visit to the United Nations, the astronauts and their families flew to Chicago.

They rode down Michigan Avenue and through The Loop to the Civic Center where they received medals from Mayor Richard J. Daley and an expression of gratitude from the people of Illinois from their governor, Richard B. Ogilvie.

Then it was on to Los Angeles, to complete touching the nation's three largest cities.

At the hotel, as the band broke into "Hail to the Chief," traditional presidential entrance march, Nixon strode briskly into the mammoth rust-color ballroom followed by his wife, Agnew and the astronauts and their wives. The crowd—most celebrities in their own right—rose in applause.

After finishing the filet of beef entree, and before a dessert called Clair de Lune (moonlight), Nixon and Agnew escorted Armstrong, 39, Aldrin, 39, and Collins, 38, on a round of guest tables, shaking hands and chatting.

Pioneers

Many in the audience were aviation pioneers who forged the way to the threshold of space.

They included Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky, aviation designer; rocket expert Wernher Von Braun; and German airplane designer Willy Messerschmitt.

Hollywood stars included Bob Hope, Red Skelton, James Stewart and Dan Rowan and Dick Martin.

There were diplomats from 83 countries—"the greatest representation at a state dinner ever held in the United States of America," the President said.

Man Drowns In Gogebic County

WATERSMEET (AP) — A Milwaukee man drowned Wednesday when he and two fishing companions tumbled into Big Duck Lake after their motorboat swamped in rough water.

Two youngsters saw the men's plight and went to their aid in a motorboat but were unable to save Emil Poetter, 82.

His companions—Cris Smith, 79, of Chicago, and Edward Hynes, 12, of Wilmette, Ill.—were rescued by Renny Le Vally, 13, of Lake Bluff, Ill., and his 12-year-old sister, Ann.

The three fishermen were staying at a resort in nearby Three Lakes, Wis. The Le Vally youngsters also were on vacation.

Duck Lake is southwest of Watersmeet in Gogebic County in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Escanaba Native Commands Team For Mars Probe

YUMA, Ariz. — Chief Warrant Officer Harold J. McLaughlin, a native of Escanaba, Mich., is the U.S. Army meteorological team commander at the Yuma Proving Ground here that helped scientists in the Mariner 6 and 7 space probes.

A son of the Harold McLaughlins of 512 N. 19th St., he is an Army 20-year man who plans on retirement in 1970.

His wife is the former Betty Ness, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ness of 1613 11th Ave. S. They have three children, Colleen, Cindy and Danny.

The Army Meteorological team headed by CWO McLaughlin has received the praise of Dr. John Ondrasik, research engineer of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, Calif., for its assistance in accurately setting a standard base for the transmission coming back from Mariner 6 and 7 space probes.

An error of approximately 3 feet on earth means a discrepancy of 25 miles on Mars, it was pointed out. It was the responsibility of the McLaughlin team to reduce this error to its minimum, and thus obtain exact data from the Mariner series in order to determine the mass of the red planet.

McLaughlin credits his team's excellent record of performance as the reason for the request for the scientific support being given to MASA and the JPL on the Mariner program.

Exactness will be even more essential when NASA starts its pioneer probes to Jupiter in the early 1970's and to the later probes of Saturn, due to the multiplied distances. (Jupiter is 9 to 10 times as far away as Mars.)

Readings from here are part of a pattern correlated by Goldstone Tracking Facility in California, to come up with a final reading that compares with other stations around the world.

"We'll be ready to give any assistance we can on the Jupiter and Saturn probes also," McLaughlin said.

Menominee Pair Sweep Department At U.P. Fair

Gary and Gail Wright, a husband and wife team from Menominee, captured all 14 first place ribbons in the swine competition held Wednesday at the U.P. State Fair.

"This was the first time in five years that we've had pigs in competition," said Henry Wylie, department superintendent. Wylie said the Wrights brought in some excellent swine and put on quite a good show for the many interested spectators.

The Wrights promised Wylie that they would return next year with an even larger entry.

In judging swine, the judges tend to favor a long, lean look to the pig.

"Pigs are no longer judged by their size," said Carl White of Soo Hill, a pig expert at the fair. White added that judges look for more meat and less fat on today's swine.

Lightning Kills Boy Scout, Leader

CIMARRON, N.M. (AP) — A 15-year-old Boy Scout and a 52-year-old scout leader, both from Kalamazoo, Mich., were struck and killed by lightning Wednesday in a remote area of the Philmont scout ranch in northern New Mexico.

The dead were identified by Philmont officials as David Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Carlson (7040 W. Michigan Dr.), and Herbert I. Duthie (609 Prosperity Dr.).

Two other youths were injured in the searing flash, neither seriously. One was Duthie's son, James, 15, who received minor lacerations.

Dickinson Fair Events Scheduled

A total of $15,000 in premiums and race winnings will be awarded at the annual Dickinson County Fair scheduled Aug. 29, 30, 31 and Sept. 1 at the fairgrounds in Norway.

Horses from four states are expected to the harness racing programs scheduled Friday, Aug. 29 and Sunday, Aug. 31.

Stock car races are scheduled both Saturday, Aug. 30 and Sunday, Aug. 31.

The midway will feature shows and rides of Skerbeck's Carnival.

Is This YOU?

Strange as it may seem . . . The person who would not leave on a two week vacation without first making arrangements for someone to water and mow his lawn will many times leave on that same vacation with only 5 or 6 days supply of a much needed medication.

Here are a few vacation tips:

1 — Make sure you have an ample supply of all your medication.

2 — If you take a medication that must be refrigerated or renewed periodically, carry an extra prescription with you.

3 — Carry identification indicating your sickness and allergies, also your doctor's name, address and phone in case of accidents or emergency.

Kathryn Madden Is 1969 U.P. Fair Queen

BY JANET MARTIN

Miss Delta County 4-H, Kathryn Ann Madden of Gladstone, is the 1969 Upper Peninsula State Fair Queen.

Miss Madden was selected from a field of 15 lovely queens from all over the Upper Peninsula during ceremonies at the Wednesday evening grandstand show.

"I'm just so excited, I can't believe it, this is the greatest experience of my life, and all the girls are so nice," said Queen Kathy, upon hearing her name, as the new queen. "I just never thought I would get it, she said."

Mink Capelet

The lovely new queen was presented with a trophy, a dozen red roses, courtesy of Millers Floral of Gladstone, a silver mink capelet, presented by William Schoen, on behalf of the Upper Michigan Mink Breeders Association, and a full tuition scholarship to Bay de Noc Community College, presented by Peter Mitchell of Escanaba, standing in for college president Richard Rinehart, who was unable to attend.

Both the queen and the runnersup were also presented savings bonds. Queen Kathy received a $100 bond and the first and second runners-up, $50 and $25 bonds, respectively. Each girl also received a gift certificate, courtesy of the Gladstone merchants and a pearl necklace.

Kathy is the daughter of State Trooper and Mrs. Robert Madden, 1224 Minnesota Ave., Gladstone, is 17 years of age and will be a senior this fall at Gladstone High School.

Active in 4-H

She is 5' 4" tall, has honey blond hair and blue eyes. Her hobbies include water skiing, swimming, snowmobiling and skiing. Kathy has also been very active in 4-H activities during her school years.

Queen Kathy said she plans to use the scholarship to Bay de Noc College and added that she was very happy that she lived in the area, so that she is able to use this gift.

Miss Scholcraft County

Selected as the first runnerup was Pamela Jean Putvin of Manistique, the 1969 Miss Schoolcraft County. Pamela is 18 years old and a graduate of Manistique High School. She is 6' 2" tall, has brown eyes and dark brown hair.

Pamela plans to attend Michigan Technological University in Houghton, this fall, where she will major in chemistry.

Second runner-up is Betsy Boyer of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. and her title is Miss Honorary Cadet Major of 1969. Miss Boyer has blond hair and blue eyes and is 5' 6" tall.

Honorary Cadet Major

As Honorary Cadet Major for the Sault High School Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps, she takes part in all inspections, paardes and all ROTC functions throughout the year.

Betsy is 17 years of age and will be a senior at Sault High School this fall.

Miss Congeniality

The 1969 Miss Congeniality Award was presented to Sandra Lee Carlson of Menominee, Miss Menominee Fun-O-Rama. She is 17 years old and a graduate of Menominee High School. She plans to attend Northern Michigan University at Marquette this fall where she will be a history major.

Sandy is 5' 5" tall, and has blond hair and green eyes.

Miss Madden competed with 14 other girls for her title and the competition consisted of a brief speech at the Queen's luncheon at the Old Town Restaurant, an appearance at the afternoon grandstand show, personal interviews with the judges and evening gown competition at the Queen's Banquet at Marco's.

Theme Costumes

In the afternoon the girls appeared on stage attired in the costumes representing their individual themes and were interviewed by Tom Elegeert of Gladstone, master of ceremonies for all the queen events.

Kathy was attired in a green and white checked gingham culotte-pantdress and a green and white checked brimmed sun hat. She carried a wicker basket of four leaf clovers symbolizing 4-H.

Soloist at both grandstand performances was Miss Yvonne Van Roeyan of Loretto, the 1960 State American Legion Queen. Organ music was provided by Bill VanEffen Jr.

Queen for a Day

Serving as Queen For the Day was Miss Linda Schinderle of Iron River, the first runner-up in last year's Fair Queen contest. Nancy Weldum of Rock, last year's Fair Queen, was unable to attend as she is presently on a student-stay in Spain and won't return home until this fall.

Also introduced was Miss Cynthia Rahoi, Miss Delta County, who served as host queen during the day.

Escorts for the young ladies were David Maskart and Tom Cretens, both of Gladstone and the pages were Trudy and Kailie Hagman, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hagman of Gladstone.

The capable judges for this year's pageant were: Mrs. John Greis of Escanaba, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wicklund of Iron River, Thomas Gibbs of Perkins and Dale Teinert of Masonville. Presenting the trophies to the queen, runners-up and Miss Congeniality was Mrs. Ruth Butler of Marquette, a member of the Fair Board of Managers.

The queen pageant director this year was Mrs. Robert Winchester and she was assisted in her many duties by Miss Diane Maskart of Gladstone.

MISS KATHRYN ANN MADDEN of Gladstone, Miss Delta County 4-H was crowned queen of the 1969 Upper Peninsula State Fair during impressive ceremonies at the Wednesday evening grandstand show. MANISTIQUE

School Board OK's Operating Budget

The Manistique Area Schools adopted a $1,340,343 operating budget for the 1969-70 school year at their regular August meeting Tuesday night.

The budget, an estimated figure subject to revision throughout the coming year, is based on State Equalized Valuation (SEV) of $28,153,350 and a projected enrollment of 1,892. Not included in the total budget figure are the salary increases expected for both certified and auxiliary service school employes presently in the negotiating stage.

The SEV figure for the current year reflects an increase from last year's $24,346,630 to the present $28,153,350 due to the pipeline assessment. The valuation of two townships — Seney and Inwood — are not included since they are allied with other school districts.

Annual Audit

Supt. Edwin E. Wuehle said that Ernst and Ernst of Marquette were completing the annual audit and estimated the June 30 balance at approximately $55,000 and an accrued balance figure of $20,000. These figures will not be exact until the audit is completed, he said.

Blacktopping of the drives and parking lots at both the Central and new Lakeside schools will begin this week. The board approved the project at a total cost of $23,250 based on 25-cents per foot. The work will be done by the Lake-Howell Construction Company with the Central School project to begin first, probably Thursday.

Blacktop Drives

Before deciding to completely blacktop the school drives, the board discussed but rejected a partial 30-foot blacktop project based on a cost estimate of 45-cents per square foot for a total estimate of $13,160. Also discussed was a gravel and grading project for the Doyle and Germfask schools.

The vote on the $23,250 blacktopping project was 5-1 with Robert Knoph voting against the proposal. Trustee Leon Wood was absent from Tuesday night's meeting.

A $4,600 offer from William Males, 107 Lake St., for the Putnam property was accepted by the board. Males agreed to a 90-day vacancy agreement which will allow the Senior Citizens Service Center, presently occupying the property on the corner of Cedar and Main Sts., to find other quarters. Males also agreed to pay a $486.50 curbing assessment on the property.

The money realized from the property transaction will not go into the general fund, the board announced, but will be used for other purposes. The property was willed the school by the late Mrs. Jennie Putnam.

Hire Secretary

The hiring of a full-time secretary in the Central School business office was okayed at an annual estimated salary of $4,500. An additional person is necessary, Wuehle told the board, since the business office will soon convert to the accrual accounting system and the coordination work of the Highway Safety Project will make increased demands on the present staff.

The resignation of William Miller, elementary teacher at the Germfask School, was accepted. Contract authorization was extended the administration for John Hanlon to replace Miller as a third and fourth grade teacher.

Hanlon, a Massachusetts resident, is a Northern Michigan University graduate and will be offered a half-year contract, pending certification.

ESEA Title I application has been written and approved by a citizens advisory board, Wuehle said. Jan Strasma, former VISTA worker, was hired at substitute rates to write the project application which requests approximately $37,000 in federal funds for special reinforcement teaching programs, teacher aids, enrichment activities and a home visitation service.

Insurances

In other business, the board accepted the low bid of Denny's Insurance Agency for Workmen's Compensation Insurance at a one-year annual premium of $3,164.00; approved a $9,000 loan from the First National Bank, at 4.35 per cent interest, for a new bus; okayed a $1,600 carpeting expenditure for the first floor high school corridor from the library to junior high division; referred a request from bus driver Ernest Neff for a 60-day leave of absence to the administration for decision; and heard a comprehensive analysis from Mrs. Waters of "The Equal Quality Plan of School Financing" recommended by the Michigan Association of Professors of Educational Administration.

Before adjourning their three and one-half hour meeting the board discussed school policy, transportation of students living within the city limits, and a less cumbersome approach to the present system of checking school bills which is done by the board treasurer.

Bills approved for payment included $29,175.43, general fund; $625.67, library; $3.25 audio; $582.28, ESEA Five, Title I; $883.68, Title 3; and $58.86, hot lunch.

School Books In Agreement

Mrs. Margaret Waters, secretary of the Manistique Area Board of Education, reported she had checked the books at the Court House against the school's books and both were in absolute agreement as to funds paid the school by the county and credited by the school.

Mrs. Waters also said she had checked the beginning and ending figures of the annual audits for the past six years and found perfect agreement.

Trustee Leon Wood was sent a copy of delinquent tax payments credited to the schools by County Treasurer William Cowman, she said.

Wood, who was absent from the Tuesday night meeting, questioned the accounting procedures at a recent meeting between the board and its auditors and indicated he intended to make a comparison study of county and school books to ascertain that all accounts were accurately compiled.

MHS Classes Start Sept. 3

Manistique High School students will report for regular classes on Wednesday, Sept. 3, Principal Marvin Frederickson has announced. A general assembly in the high school auditorium at 8:10 a. m. will officially open the 1969-70 school year.

Students in grades 9-12 may pick up their class schedules and pay their book fines during the week of Aug. 25-29 in the principal's office of the high school.

District Court

William H. Henry, 214 S. Maple St., was found guilty of three charges on Aug. 11 by a District Court jury. He was found not guilty on a fourth charge, driving while under the influence of intoxicants. Henry was sentenced to five days in jail and assessed $60 and $40 for driving with a suspended license; assessed $20 and $15 or 10 days for improper parking on a roadway; and assessed $10 and $5 or 30 days for an unlighted registration plate.

Lyle J. Sangraw Jr., 725 Garden Ave., was sentenced to two days in jail and fined $20 and costs of $40 for trespassing in the nighttime. On a second charge of failure to have vehicle under control, Sangraw wahs fined $5 costs. He pleaded guilty on both counts at an Aug. 6 arraignment.

Dwight Rutherford of Germfask was sentenced to three days in jail and assessed a $40 fine and costs of $20 for driving with a revoked license.

Drag Racing

Frederick O. Jasmin, Englewood, Colo. paid $25 and $10 for drag racing.

William Males, 107 Lake St., and R. K. Tufnell, N. First St., each paid $7 and $3 for violation of the city dog ordinance.

Paying fines and costs for speeding were the following motorists:

Douglas A. Snyder, Berkley, and Peter J. Fleury, Farmington, each $35 and $15; Barbara J. Pelland, Flint, $20 and $10; Joyce L. Plowman, Escanaba; Daniel J. Rutherford, Germfask; Leslie Wallace, Roseville; Michael Ray, Royal Oak; and Louis N. Beerman, Southfield, each $15 and $10. Robert D. Duncan, Sault Ste. Marie, and Karl A. Funke, L'Anse, each paid $10 and $10.

Paying $10 and $8 for speeding were David M. Becker, Marquette; Joseph Supanich, Detroit; Steven Chiger, Fairlawn, N. J.; Gordon G. Cowan, Don Mills, Ont.; William J. Bennett, K. I. Sawyer AFB; J. Richard Smith, Boyne City; Dale G. Rupprecht, Reese; Alvina M. Vanatta, Germfask; Leo A. Perez, K. I. Sawyer AFB; and Jesse L. Bowers, Sidnaw, found guilty of speeding in a court trial on Aug. 11. David R. Varga, Birmingham, paid $10 and $5.

Insecure Load

In other cases: Dolores Aebersoll, Birmingham, and John Benson, Southgate, both failure to have vehicle under control, each $10 and $8; Homer Joslin III, Rte. 1, driving left of centerline, $5 and $5; Homer Joslin Jr., Rte. 1, violation city parking ordinance, $3 and $3; Floyd J. Kuras, Detroit, allowing unlicensed person to drive, $5 and $5; Cora Kuras, Detroit, no operator's license, $5 and $5; Kay Wood, Star Rte., insecure load, $5 costs; Robert L. LeBresh, Pontiac, squealing tires, $10 and $8; Albert H. Smith, Batavia, N. Y., following too closely, $5 and $5; Nellie J. Strieler, L'Anse, failure to stop from private drive, $7 and $3; Wayne E. Boomer, Bay City, no fishing license, $5 and $9.

License Plates Get New Look

A "new look" in Michigan license plates is the order for the 1970 plates which go on sale November 15.

Schoolcraft County motorists will find the familiar "UT" replaced by a three-letter series of BHG-BHH-BHJ-BHK with a three digit number following.

BHG-000 will be the lowest plate and follow up to BHG-999. BHH-000 will continue the pattern through BHJ and BHK up to 999.

The three-letter series will be assigned to license bureaus by sales volumes rather than by county as in past years. The new three-letter, three number approach reduces accountin and inventory costs and is much more efficient, says the Secretary of State's office.

The 1970 plates, which will expire March 31, 1971, are being issued as commemorative plates honoring the 10th anniversary of Oakland University, an affiliate of Michigan State University. The new plates will be gold and white.

The current plates went on sale November 1 and will expire February 28. The shift to a March 31 expiration is due to the later issuing date, according to Mrs. Margaret Johnson, local branch manager of the Secretary of State's office.

There have been 3,711 passenger plates issued to date in Schoolcraft County; 888 commercial plates; 926 trailer plates; and 134 motorcycle plates, Mrs. Johnson said.

Snowmobile registrations reveal 568 permits while 181 boats have been registered for permits.

Mystery Ship's Identity Found

MARINETTE, Wis. (AP) — The crew that raised Green Bay's mystery ship last month thinks it has come as close as possible to identifying the old two-masted schooner, now tied up at a dock in the Marinette River, as the Alvin Clark which sank in a storm June 29, 1864.

"When we cleaned out the chain locker forward, there were bunks for two in there and we retrieved some personal items," said Jim Quinn, director of Green Bay's Nevelle Museum, one of the divers who worked nearly two years to raise the vessel.

"One was a stencil, it looked like a stencil, anyway, it was cut all the way through. It said 'Mich. Cray, Toronto, C.W.," Quinn said.

Cray Survivor

Quinn said a Michael J. Cray was one of two reported survivors of the Clark. Quinn said researchers have talked to Cray's descendants who live in Benton Harbor, Mich.

Cray was born in Toronto, Ont., in 1843, began sailing at 13 and served a year in the Union Army, 1862-63, in the Civil War, Quinn said.

"We have picked up some Union Civil war infantry buttons from the forward locker," Quinn said. "He also had told of the lifeboat being lost in the storm. There is no lifeboat with this ship."

Quinn said that according to Cray's grandchildren, the ship was running empty and under full sail when she went down. The captain and the mate apparently went over the rail in the storm.

"This is the only evidence we found that we can associate directly with a crew member," Quinn said.

Records

The museum director said a search of records, including the National Archives in Washington, showed the Clark's port of issue as Milwaukee and Detroit, Mich. She was built in 1847 in Truago, Mich. The record showed her at 218.34 tons. She is 105 feet, 8 inches long and 25 feet, 4 inches wide and was used extensively in the lumber trade.

Workers now are preparing to "kiln-dry" the ship in her berth at Marinette Marine Corp.

Carpenters are building a frame, with a plywood roof and sheet plastic sides over the 120-year-old hull.

"What we're going to do is try her out slowly with controlled humidity," Quinn said. "Then next year we'll be able to put her on display."

Cut Pentagon, College Ties Says Mansfield

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said that "it would be a healthy thing to break the umbilical cord" between the Pentagon and research at the nation's colleges and universities.

He made the comment in praising an amendment by Sen. J. W. Fullbright, D-Ark., to cut $45.6 million for social science research from the $20 billion military procurement authorization bill.

"It looks like a reasonable amendment," Mansfield said, adding he has long been opposed to the Pentagon sponsoring "research in other fields which should be properly handled by other departments."

Fulbright's amendment scheduled to be voted on later in the day is aimed specifically at "think tanks" supported by Pentagon funds.

"I think a few of these 'think tanks' should be less dependent on military funds and also these colleges and universities," Mansfield said. "I think it would be a healthy thing to break the umbilical cord between the two," he added.

He noted that there are many nonmilitary areas such as air and water pollution, mass transit and other urban problems in which universities and other research groups can make a significant contribution.

BY BOB GREGG

I've caught dozens of smallmouth bass in my young life, and I have to admit that the smallmouth is one of the most vicious-striking fish I've ever seen. Almost everytime, whether he strikes on top or bottom, the smallmouth will rush a lure with the fury of a runaway freight train.

That's how it was the other day when I tried my hand at some local smallmouth fishing in Big and Little Bays de Noc. I was bringing a Mepps Bucktail spinner across a rocky shoal near Ludington Park in Escanaba when a nice fish slapped that lure like a lion grabbing a zebra. A few seconds later that same fish came tailwalking out from the boulder-strewn bottom like a tarpon.

The small, but valiant, 15-incher fought hard but I finally brought him to net. The fish was a bronze-green color all over—back, belly, fins and head. It was one of the prettiest smallmouths I have ever seen.

Over the next few hours I hooked a total of eight nice bass running from 10-16 inches. Needless to say, I didn't land them all.

During the period I fished along the rocky areas near the head of Little Bay de Noc I did not see one bass fishermen to keep me company. This seemed awfully strange, considering how good the bass fishing is.

★ ★ ★

Elmer White, owner of White's Bayshore Cabins in Gladstone, and an expert bass angler, told me that bass fishing should start picking up in Little Bay de Noc now that the alewives have left the bay.

"When the alewives are out in the bay in heavy numbers the bass are too well fed to be partial to anglers," White said in an interview earlier this year.

White also said he makes some excellent catches of large bass using live minnows during late August and September.

Max Fenby, district conservation officer, says that fine catches of smallmouths are being made in Ogontz Bay and off the mouth of the Fishdam River. "Anglers are catching some of the biggest bass I've ever seen," Fenby said, describing the fish that are being caught.

Lake Michigan smallmouth fishing has only one drawback—it's not very reliable. Except for early summer when the bass are spawning, smallmouths move about quite frequently everytime the wind, current, or weather changes.

The better smallmouth anglers are the ones who know where to consistantly find bass. "You find them first, then you fish for them," is the way one veteran bass fishermen sums it up.

★ ★ ★

The best way for weekend bass anglers to find out where the hotsopts are is to ask the successful anglers on local docks, who come in with some good catches, where they caught their fish. Most anglers will be more than happy to share their success with another fishermen.

Once you've found the hotspot, make sure you fish with a reliable bass-catching lure or bait. Nightcrawlers on a harness are probably the best smallmouth bait around. Properly bounced along a rocky shoal area the crawler harness is a sure fish-getter. Another good smallmouth lure is a small Mepps Bucktail spinner in either brass or copper. Fish these spinners with a steady retrieve.

Fairly good smallmouth fishing can be found at almost anytime of the day, but I've found late afternoon to be best during the summer months.

If you are forced to find your own hotspot for bass here are some good tips. Look for a protected rocky shoal with a nice dropoff on one of the sides. Big boulders, in water over five feet deep, are also good haunts for smallmouth. Some nice lunker bass can also be found at the edge of large weed beds.

Big and Little Bays de Noc smallmouths are virtually a neglected fish. So let's get out in the Bay one of these days and give them a good try.

"Give Kids Chance"

McLain Notches 18th Win As Bengals Blank Angels

DETROIT (AP) —A benevolent Denny McLain says he's willing to give up his shot for another 30 - game year to improve chances for a Detroit pennant in 1970.

"Why don't we let the kids pitch in September?" We've got to think about next year," said McLain who shut out the California Angels Wednesday night on three hits for a 3-0 victory.

It was his 18th of the season, making him the winningest pitcher in the major leagues.

"I'd like to see Mike Kilkenny and (Fred) Scherman get some shots," said McLain who could start as many as 12 games before the end of the season, working his customary every fourth day. Kilkenny and Scherman are promising rookies.

It was the sixth victory in seven starts for the Tigers who leave today for Oakland and a West Coast series. McLain, who has lost six times, got all the runs he needed in the fourth inning when Jim Northrup lofted his 14th home run of the year into the right field upper deck.

Denny McLain

Angels pitcher Jim McGlothlin now 5-12 had held the Tigers hitless until Northrup leaned on an inside fast ball.

McGlothlin and Hoyt Wilhelm who entered the game in the seventh, held Detroit to just four hits.

"I've had trouble with my arm," said McGlothlin after the game." This was the first time its really felt good this year.

"But I ran into the best here tonight." he said.

The Tigers struck again in the fifth with Tom Matchik singled to center and advanced on Bill Freehan's single to right. Both runners moved up on Ike Brown's well-placed bunt down the third base line.

McLain lunged for an outside pitch which blooped to right field for an out allowing Matchick to score from third after the catch.

Freehan, who moved to third on the throw home, scored on Tom Tresh's single to center. Tresh was later thrown out trying to steal second.

After the fifth, the Tigers were held hitless.

McGlothlin said he felt he made only two bad pitches during his stint—the first a faltering curve to Matchick in the fifth and the other in the same inning to Tresh. Each resulted in a hit.

McLain said after the game that his arm feels better this season than a year ago when he ended with 31 victories.

He said he was given a cortisone injection Tuesday after he noticed his right arm "getting a little dead." He said his last previous cortisone shot was 12 or 14 weeks ago.

Last year McLain complained of more-or-less chronic arm trouble and was given numerous shots to ease the stiffness and pain.

He said he feels he's doing real well on the mound this season and hinted he might ask the Tigers for another raise after the season.

"Let's put it this way," he said, "anybody who can pitch 300 innings for you and win 20 games deserves top money."

The Tigers meet Oakland Friday with Mickey Lolich, 15-5, scheduled for mound duty.

Tovar Far Away, So Palmer No-Hits A's

By The Associated Press

Jim Palmer's no-hitter was never in doubt. Not with Cesar Tovar a couple of hundred miles away.

Tovar, Minnesota's pesky handyman, has twice wrecked no-hit bids by Baltimore pitchers Dave McNally and Mike Cuellar with ninth inning hits this season, so Palmer smartly picked on the Oakland A's for his masterpiece. Tovar was with the Twins in New York and couldn't do any damage this time.

Palmer, 11-2, who has spent more of the last three season on disabled lists than he has on pitching mounds, suffered some control problems but held the upperhand throughout, beating the A's 8-0 for the first American League no-hitter in more than a year.

The 23-year-old right-hander, limited to only 120 innings pitched—most of them in the minors—over the last two seasons because of shoulder and back trouble, had just returned to active duty Saturday after another 5½ weeks on the disabled list. But the only things disabled Wednesday night were Oakland's bats.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit blanked California 3-0, Minnesota clipped New York 5-2, Kansas City took Washington 7-3, Seattle dropped Cleveland 5-3, and Chicago defeated Boston 5-3.

Palmer struck out eight and walked six—three of them in the ninth inning when he had his shakiest moment of the game. But ex-batterymate Larry Haney bounced into a game-ending force out to clinch the no-hitter.

It was the fourth major league no-hitter this season but first in the American League since Catfish Hunter pitched a perfect game against Minnesota on May 8, 1968.

Palmer didn't have much time to think about his no-hitter in the dugout. He was on the bases too much. He tagged a single and double and also drew a walk. Don Buford had three hits and Brooks Robinson slugged a three-run homer for the Orioles.

Overshadowed by Palmer's achievement was Denny McLain's 18th victory. The Detroit right-hander, who won 31 last year, allowed just five hits and got the only run he needed when Jim Northrup hit a towering fourth inning homer.

McLain, the majors' first 18-game winner, also drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.

Rich Reese did a one-man job on New York, smacking four hits including two home runs as the Twins snapped a five-game losing streak by whipping the Yankees.

It was Reese's fifth four-hit game this season and helped Tom Hall win his fifth. Hall limited New York to seven hits and beat Mel Stottlemyre.

Jackie Hernandez tripled home two runs and shoddy Washington fielding helped Kansas City beat the Senators. Bob Oliver slashed three straight hits for the Royals.

George Brunet won his first game for Seattle as the Pilots, held hitless for five innings by Steve Hargan, bounced back to wipe out a three-run lead and whip the Indians.

Danny Murphy, an ex-bonus baby outfielder, pitched out of a ninth inning jam to save Joe Horlen's victory over Boston—the first time in almost a month the White Sox have won two consecutive games. Murphy got Russ Nixon on a double play and then retired Tom Satriano to end the game.

Civic Boosters Trip Varieties

In what can hardly called a pitchers' duel, the Civic Boosters nipped the Varieties 30-28 in a Girls Softball League game played last night.

Carol Fox and Mary Walbridge handled the pitching chores for the winners while Kay Ness was tagged with the loss. Mary Walbridge and Darlene Skradski had home runs in the contest.

Cards Move Into Second After Blanking Dodgers

By The Associated Press

Something old and something new has been injected into the National League's division races.

The St. Louis Cardinals, veteran campaigners and pennant-winners the past two years, moved into second place in the NL East Wednesday night as rookie Chuck Taylor blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-0.

And the Houston Astros, cellar-dwellers in last season's 10-team league and newcomers to the wonderful world of pennant races, leaped from fifth to third in the NL West by trouncing the New York Mets 8-2.

Elsewhere, Cincinnati overcame Montreal 8-3 in 11 innings, Atlanta took Philadelphia 4-2 before losing 7-0, the Chicago Cubs tripped San Diego 4-2 and Pittsburgh whomped San Francisco 10-5.

Tough Road

The Cardinals' triumph, coupled with New York's defeat, dropped the amazing Mets out of the runner-up spot for the first time since June 3. But St. Louis is finding it difficult to pick up ground on the highflying Cubs.

The Cards have won 28 of 36 games since they got hot on July 5, when they trailed the Cubs by 15½ games. But they've managed to pick up only 1½ games since the All-Star break, even though they've won 16 of 20 in that span, and still trail Chicago by 8½.

"The first half of the season we just couldn't get started," said Manager Red Schoendienst. "We couldn't do anything right. At exactly the halfway point it was like day and night. We started playing good ball, getting base hits and scoring with two out, which we weren't doing before."

Informed that he was the manager of a second-place team, Schoendienst replied: "It's not first place. There's a long way to go, but we have seven games left with the Cubs and we'll have to win them all."

First Shutout

Taylor, the pride of Bell Buckel, Tenn., has compiled a 5-1 mark since he came up from Tulsa on May 25. It was his first big league shutout—he hurled a six-hitter—and avenged his only loss—to the Dodgers earlier this month.

Dal Maxvill drove in two runs for the Cards and Joe Torre, Curt Flood and Mike Shannon one each as the Dodgers dropped into a tie for fourth in the West with the Giants.

The only bad news for Houston is that the season series with the Mets is over. The Astros made it nine in a row over their big city cousins and took the series 10-2. They trail Cincinnati by three games and second-place Atlanta by one-half game, with the Dodgers and Giants another half-game behind the Astros.

Denis Menke's three-run homer in the first inning started Larry Dierker to his 14th victory and the Astros wrapped it up with five more in the third as they ran their winning streak to six games. Tommie Agee socked his 20th homer for the Mets.

Expos Threaten

Lowly Montreal was threatening to make it three in a row over the Reds until Pete Rose singled with one out in the ninth and Jim Stewart, subbing for Pvt. Bobby Tolan, tied the game 3-3 with his fourth home run of the season.

Then the Reds poured five runs across the plate in the 11th on a bases-loaded wild pitch by Dick Radatz and Johnny Bench's grand slam homer, No. 19, off Elroy Face. Rusty Staub and Ron Fairly hit solo homers for the Expos.

Hank Aaron slammed his 30th and 31st homers for the Braves in their opener, good for three runs, but Deron Johnson hit a solo homer, Larry Hisle belted a three-run shot and Jerry Johnson fired a six-hitter for the Phillies in the nightcap, the first triumph in six games for new skipper George Myatt. Deron Johnson also homered in the first game, as did Atlanta's Tony Gonzalez.

Williams Sparkles

Billy Williams, who lined into a triple play in the first inning, doubled home two runs in the third to start the Cubs to their win over the hapless Padres, who have lost six in a row and 15 of 16. Ron Santo doubled Williams home and Jim Hickman's sacrifice fly produced the final run against former Cub Joe Niekro. Nate Colbert homered for San Diego, the only earned run off Bill Hands, who hurled a five-hitter.

The triple play came after Don Kessinger and Glenn Beckert opened the game with singles. Williams lined back to Niekro for the first out and he threw to shortstop Tommy Dean, who stepped on second for out No. 2 and then tagged Beckert coming down from first to complete the triple play.

Robert Clemente powered the Pirates past San Francisco, hitting three home runs, driving in four runs and scoring four times. Gene Alley also connected for Pittsburgh.

Jolly Roger Loses Opener

MARQUETTE — The Jolly Roger Bar of Escanaba lost its opening round game in the U.P. Class C softball tournament last night to V & B Bar of Chatham by a score of 6-1.

Veteran Cliff Johnson pitched a six-hitter for the winners while Jug Bourdeau, Bob Irish and Jim Almonroder shared the pitching chores for the Jolly Roger, giving up seven hits, with Bourdeau taking the loss.

The Chatham team scored three runs in the second inning, two in the fourth and one in the fifth. Jolly Roger scored its only run in the seventh inning on singles by Jim Bourdeau and Dennis Lancour and a double by Tony Kutches.

Floyd's Service of Trenary, another of the Escanaba Softball Association's entries in the tourney, will play Jacob Motors of Iron Mountain tonight at 7:30 and the Hillcrest Dairy of Marquette will tangle with Hancock Office Supply in the nightcap.

Jolly Roger will take on the loser of tonight's first game at 1:30 Saturday afternoon in the losers bracket and Mead, the third Escanaba entry in the event, will play the winner of tonight's second game Friday at 7:30.

Kuhn Receives Top Baseball Job

SEATTLE (AP) — Bowie Kuhn, who is 6-feet-5 to begin with, stands today as the tallest figure in America's national pastime after his election as commissioner of baseball at the top salary ever paid a holder of the office.

"It was an election by acclimation," said Joe Cronin, president of the American League, as the announcement was made Wednesday following the summer meeting of baseball's two major leagues.

President Warren Giles of the National League said the contract would run seven years but refused to name the exact sum to be paid the tall, 250-pound, 43-year-old, slightly graying New York attorney who had been commissioner pro tem since February.

"Yes," said Giles, "it will be substantially more than the $100,000 a year of his pro-tem contract. It's more than I thought any commissioner ever would get."

The salary of William Eckert, whom Kuhn succeeded under a one-year pact, was $65,000.

"At last winter's meeting the owners had planned to give the next commissioner a four-year contract," said Cronin, "but now, with a man so capable and knowledgeable, they decided to make it seven years.

"We think he can be one of baseball's great men. We are looking for great progress."

"I never felt inhibited by the one-year contract, but the seven-year term should make it easier for me to get things done," said Kuhn, expressing delight at the results of the election.

He was a compromise candidate last February when the two leagues reached an impasse over a successor to Eckert. The American League backed Mike Burke, president of the New York Yankees; the National League was voting for Charles (Chub) Feeney, vice president of the San Francisco Giants.

The name of Kuhn, who had served as National League attorney for 10 years, came up during a caucus of club owners and he was elected unanimously on the first ballot after his nomination.

Kuhn agreed to leave the New York law firm with which he was associated but the owners gave him only a one-year contract—which had five months to run when it was replaced by the newer and more lucrative pact Wednesday.

Net 61 Wins Pari-Mutuel

GLADSTONE — The team of Dean Roddy, Bob Skellenger, Wayne Marmalick and Claire Hoehn wrapped up first place honors in the pari-mutuel event held yesterday at the Gladstone Golf Club with a net 61 score.

Following in second place, one stroke behind the leaders, was the team of J. C. Miller, Sam Beck, Lloyd Johnson and Bob Richards. Mike Damitz had the low net score in the pari-mutuel with a 31 and Phil LeGault and Dean Roddy had the low gross scores, each coming in with a 37. Ron Anderson was closest to the circles on No. 4 and No. 6.

In regular men's league action, Jim Sundalius paced all scorers with a 35 while Norm Butler carded a 36. Norm Butler had a 31 to set the pace for the low net scorers and Bob Skellenger had a 32. Other low scorers were Dean Roddy 37, Pete Peterson and Gene Harris 39 and Bob Skellenger 40. John Gilbert made the inner circle on No. 4 and Bud Kenneally made the outer circle on the same hole.

Team standings: Playboys 421, Sandbaggers 427, Professionals 431, Unusuals 436, Hackers 445, Youngsters 456 and Optimists 472.

Costley Strokes Remain In First

Vicki Beck and Carolyn Nelson topped all scorers at the Highland Golf Club yesterday during play in the Women's League, each coming in with a 45.

Vicki also carded a 48 on the back nine while other low scorers were Elaine Fairchild with a 46-48, Elaine Nelson with a 47, Dorothy Loodeen 48 and Gladys Hansen and Martha Friets 49's.

Golf ball winners were Carolyn Nelson, Judy Ambeau, Betty Fassbender, Pat McCarthy, Millie Hall and Doris Fitzpatrick.

All ladies interested in golfing in the club tournament are reminded that the deadline for entry is Saturday, Aug. 16. Those wishing to enter are asked to call Carol Davidson at 786-4273.

Team standings: Costley Strokes 65, 19th Holers 61½, Highland Flingers 59½, Beck's Bombers 54½, Handi-Caps 52, Glad Bags 51, Friets Funnies 48½ and Fairway Swingers 48.

Unitas, Colts Go On Rampage

By The Associated Press

Johnny Unitas and the Baltimore Colts appear to be on a trail of vengeance against American Football League clubs as they gun for their third straight pre-season victory over the rival league.

The National Football League champions, who lost to the AFL New York Jets in the Super Bowl, have zipped to consecutive triumphs over San Diego and Oakland. The Houston Oilers are next Friday night in the Astrodome as the exhibition season rolls into its third week.

The loss to the Jets last January has probably given the Colts all the incentive they need against the AFL, but a healthy Unitas has also given Baltimore a lift.

Last week, Unitas, who missed most of last season with arm problems, connected on his first six passes and 12 of 19 for 147 yards and a touchdown in helping Baltimore to 17 points during the second quarter in the 34-30 victory over Oakland. That was the only action John saw.

In the Colts opener against San Diego, Unitas again played only the second quarter. But he hit on seven of eight passes and 86 yards, helping Baltimore to an easy 26-6 victory.

So in two games the masterful Unitas, playing less than 24 minutes, completed 19 of 27 passes for 233 yards and produced 27 points.

In the only other Friday night game, the AFL Buffalo Bills, with heralded Heisman Trophy winner O. J. Simpson possibly making his pro debut, face the Lions of the NFL in Detroit.

Buffalo 1-1, whipped Washington, NFL, last week 21-17 as quarterback Tom Flores tossed a winning TD pass to Haven Moses. The Lions, 0-1, lost to the Kansas City Chiefs, AFL, 38-13.

Over-all the NFL has taken six of nine games over the AFL so far with four other intra-league games coming up this weekend as all teams see action except the NFL Minnesota Vikings and Redskins.

Saturday in NFL games, Chicago plays Green Bay at Milwaukee, Cleveland is at Los Angeles and Pittsburgh plays St. Louis at Norfolk, Va. in AFL clashes, Oakland is at San Diego and Cincinnati plays Kansas City at Jackson, Miss.

In intra-league battles, New Orleans, NFL, is at Denver, AFL and Philadhlphia, NFL plays at Miami, AFL.

Sunday the Jets face the NFL New York Giants at New Haven, Conn.; Atlanta, NFL, plays at Boston, AFL; and Dallas is at San Francisco in an NFL affair.

Meanwhile, Clifton McNeil, 29-year-old flanker with the 49ers continues his holdout. The former Cleveland pass catcher, who led the NFL in receiving last year with 71 catches, is believed looking for a contract of about $40,000 per year. Last season he reportedly got $22,000.

MAJOR ODDS

LAS VEGAS (NEA)—The Cardinals, Giants, Tigers and A's will win their respective division titles this baseball season.

Who says? Jimmy (The Greek) Snyder, the Las Vegas oddsmaker, that's who. He lists the Cards at 5-2 in the NL East; the Giants 6-5 in the NL West; the Tigers 5-2 in the AL East, and the A's 2-1 in the AL West.

The longest odds are on the NL expansion teams, the Expos and Padres, both 300-1 shots.

SHOELESS TOSSER

DENVER (AP)—When Mrs. Gerald Phipps, wife of a team official, tossed out the first ball at an exhibition baseball game between the Minnesota Twins and the Denver Bears, she first kicked off her high-heeled slippers, then made a creditable throw.

Toledo Drops 4-2 Decision

By The Associated Press

A spectacular catch by Dick Smith helped Bill Gogolewski win his first game since April 29 Wednesday night, as Buffalo trimmed the Toledo Mud Hens 4-2 in International League play.

Gogolewski needed ninth inning relief help from Dick Lines, who retired the last three batters.

The loss dropped Toledo three games behind league - leading Columbus, which whipped Louisville 8-4, but the Hens trail second-place Louisville by just one-half game.

In other action Richmond topped Tidewater 2-1 and Rochester split with Syracuse, winning the first game 3-0 and dropping the second 10-8.

RETURNS TO GYMNASTICS

NHA TRANG, Vietnam (AP)—Maj. Karl K. Schwenzfeier, 35, of Philadelphia, a phycholological warfare pilot with more than 200 combat missions, will coach the Air Force Academy gymnastics team when his Vietnam tour ends.

Schwenzfeier was 13 when he competed in YMCA meets in the Philadelphia area. When he was 21 and a junior at Penn State he won the Eastern collegiate, National collegiate and AAU competitions.

The Air Force veteran was selected for the 1956 Olympic team but leg injuries prevented him from competing in the games.

Player Planning To Quit Playing Tournament Golf

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — South Africa's Gary Player has set a new goal for himself—a second grand slam—and then, he vows, he will quit tournament golf for good.

"I am deadly serious," the 33-year-old international star from Johannesburg, said today before teeing off in the 51st PGA Golf Championship.

"That's why this tournament means so much to me. I have a chance to get the second leg. Then I'll go after the other two legs—the U.S. Open and Masters.

"I think I am playing better than I have in my life. If things go well, I believe I have an excellent chance here."

Player is one of four giants of the game to have won all of the four major pro championships —the U.S. and British opens, the Masters and American PGA. Theters are Gene Sarazen, Ben Hogan and Jack Nicklaus.

No man has made the sweep two times around. Nicklaus has won only one PGA and one British Open. Sarazen won only one Masters. Hogan won only one British Open.

Player captured his second British Open crown last year and now has his wide, brown eyes glued on the other three.

"This is my burning ambition —it would be something no man has ever done," he said. "I am young enough to do it. I could retire, fully happy at achieving my goal."

Player was one of the prime favorites among the 143 pros starting at 7:30 a.m., EDT, today the first round of the strictly pro championship, threatened with disruption by a group of civil rights demonstrators.

No one ever discounts him in any tournament but he is regarded particularly formidable in this tournament over the 6,910-yard, par 71 NCR course where gun-barrel fairways put a premium on driving accuracy and massive greens favor the daring putter.

Player is a siege gun off the tee. He has few equals in getting the ball in the hole once on the putting surface.

Perhaps no man in sports has wrung more out of his physical attributes than this 5-foot-7, 150-pound parttime rancher from Johannesburg

Player lifted weights to put more strength in his long, wagon tongue wrists and arms. He has a fetish for odd diets, gorging himself on bananas. Once he suffered a back injury doing a head-stand in his bath tub.

He has a trigger mind and a faculty like that of Ben Hogan for thinking his way around a golf course. He is a shot manager rather than a slugger.

With the men who know golf the best, the pros themselves, the word is out: "Watch Gary Player in the PGA."

AMC's Answer To Small Car

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp.'s principal challenge to major imports such as the Volkswagen and Toyota will be unveiled next April in a car 10 inches shorter than the new compact Hornet, which it displayed Wednesday at a national press preview.

The Gremlin, however, still will be 9.1 inches longer than the standard Volkswagen, the leader among imports, which now accounts for one out of every nine new car purchases in the United States.

AMC expects to beat Ford's upcoming subcompact Phoenix to the market as well as General Motors experimental XP -887 which is expected in mid-1970.

Chrysler, which imports the Simca, hasn't indicated yet whether it will try for a slice of the subcompact market with U.S.-built cars.

An American Motors source confirmed size, named and introduction date after William V. Luneburg, AMC president, told a news conference as the Hornet was unveiled at Lake Geneva, Wis.:

"We do not see the Hornet as a direct answer to the rising import sales, although we are confident it will provide a welcome alternative to many of these (import) buyers. However, I can assure you that we will be coming up with a positive, well-targeted answer to the imports in the near future."

Lake Ontario Oil Slick Spreads

KINGSTON, Ont. (AP) — A giant oil slick off the northeast tip of Amherst Island in Lake Ontario has spread over a six-mile stretch, washing into bays on the island and mainland.

L. G. South, Ontario Water Resources Commission district engineer, said today the spill has continued to grow since it was first spotted Sunday. The slick was 500 feet long by 100 feet wide originally, but grew Monday to one and one-half miles long and one-half mile wide.

He said no reports of damaged drinking water or waterfowl have been received. The slick is not expected to affect fish unless waves churn up the water deeply.

"An Equal Opportunity Employer"

Home Interest Rate Of 8 To 8½% Emerging

LANSING (AP) — An interest rate ranging from 8 to 8½ per cent for home loan mortgages appeared to be emerging today as Michigan bankers expressed cautious optimism over a temporary withdrawal of the state's 114-year-old 7 per cent interest ceiling.

Gov. William Milliken's signature Tuesday on the interest rate measure sent bank officials across the state into strategy sesions where they began close scrutiny of legal implications of the measure and market prospects. While the measure's constitutionality was questioned in some quarters, most bankers indicated an intention to raise rates promptly, if cautiously.

"If I should commit a mortgate tomorrow, we would tell a fellow the interest would be 8½," said Dean Richardson, executive vice president of Manufacturer's National Bank of Detroit.

Referendum

State AFL-CIO President August Scholle, who has opposed the rate hike as inflationary and usurious, said he would ask his labor alliance to initiate a petition calling for a referendum to overturn the new law.

Unless the Legislature acts further, the new law specifies the state's lending rate must revert to the previous 7 per cent on Jan. 1, 1971. In the interval, Michigan money lenders have an open market with no maximum rate.

"I have the best possible information from our outstanding economists that this is the most inflationary kind of thing that could occur," Scholle said.

Milliken, in signing the bill which won legislative approval only after several specific rate changes were defeated, said he could not "turn my back on reality and veto" it.

"While it is unfortunate that some home buyers will have to pay somewhat higher interest costs, it is more unfortunate when they cannot borrow at all because there are no willing lenders," Milliken said.

Objections

"My reasons for signing relate importantly to one of the major emphasis of this administration — housing....they relate also to jobs in the home building industry," Milliken said.

He vetoed a similar financial bill, however, that would have allowed small loan companies to charge 30 per cent annual interest rates for loans of less than $300 and 18 per cent for loans from $300 to $1,000.

Milliken cited several "substantial objections" beside "numerous technical deficiencies" which he called "contrary to consumer interests" and a result from late session pressure and carelessness. The measure would not have become law until sometime next March.

Bank officials, in viewing the home loan market, seemed to place greater confidence in Milliken's supprt for the interest increase than in Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's concern for possible constitutional challenges.

"I think he's been convinced it is constitutional or the governor wouldn't have signed it," said Manufacturer's Richardson. "We're not going to make a lot of mortgages in any event. The interest rate doesn't give you any more dollars to lend, anyway."

No Rush

But Howard J. Stoddard, board chairman of Michigan National Bank, ranked among the country's top 50 banks by Fortune Magazine, said his group would be in "no rush" to raise rates or lend money.

"It's high rate money, but banks are pretty loaded up," Stoddard said.

A self-styled "country" banker, Harold A. Elgas, president of the Gaylord State Bank and a vice president of the Michigan Bank Association, reflected a different position.

"We will have some money available," Elgas said. "Conventional financing is our biggest field. There seems to be a legal question, but I don't sense any great fear of that being a problem."

The rate, Elgas said, would likely be 8½ per cent, although corporate borrowers, "depending on many other things," might "get less."

"I think we're all tied to the tails of international finance and the gold outflow," Elgas said. "But anybody we talk to wants to be on the waiting list for 8½ per cent."

MBA President H. Andrew Hays of Lansing's American Bank and Trust Co., said rates for loans on single - family homes and duplexes would move soon to the level of Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and Veterans Administration rates which fluctuate at around 8⅜ per cent when extra "point" charges are added. "I think tomorrow," he said when asked the earliest likely date for such a rate increase.

AMC Unveils New Hornet

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP)— The new compact Hornet displayed for the first time yesterday by American Motors, is exactly the same length as Ford's new fast selling Maverick, but has a wheel base five inches longer.

Both are 179.3 inches overall, while the Hornet has a 108 inch wheel base compared with the Maverick's 103 inches. The mini-car Volkswagen has an overall length of 160.2 inches and a wheel base of 94.5 inches.

The Hornet's basic engine is a 128 horsepower six-cylinder, with two optional sixes and a V-8 of 210 horsepower.

The Maverick's basic engine generates 105 horsepower and has only one optional—a 120 horsepower six-cylinder.

The Hornet's width is 71.1 inches, compared with the Maverick's 70.6 and the Volkswagen's 60.6.

The Hornet's height is 52.6 inches; the Maverick's 52.3 and the Volkswagen's 59.1, or seven inches higher than the Hornet.

CONNIE SMITH AND "The Sundowners" will be among headliners at the U. P. State Fair's free grandstand show Friday afternoon and evening, along with Sonny James and "The Southern Gentlemen." There's no grandstand admission charge and showtimes are at 2 and 8 p.m.

State Agencies Are Circulating DDT Guidelines

LANSING (AP) — State agencies are circulating guidelines advising Michigan residents how to bury DDT products so the dangerous concentrations of the pesticide can be reduced at public disposal sites, such as streams and lakes.

Specific directions for homeowners, commercial, agricultural and municipal users of DDT are included in the guidelines being distributed through the news media and in a specially prepared brochure.

The guidelines stem from a decision by the Michigan Commission of Agriculture April 16 to cancel registration of DDT products in Michigan.

Michian departments of agriculture, natural resources and public health in cooperation with Michigan State University prepared the guidelines.The brochures will be available at the agencies' offices across the state and at MSU.

Disposing

Homeowners are advised that in getting rid of DDT products such as aerosol bombs, liquid sprays, powders and dusts, to bury them on their own property.

"If each homeowner does so, these products will be safely dispersed," the guidelines say.

Six steps are proposed on disposing of the homeowners products.

1. Select a place away from trees and other desirable shrubs or plants and at least 50 feet from any well or surface water such as a lake, stream, pond or drain.
2. Dig a hole deep enough to cover the DDT products and containers with three feet of dirt.
3. Aerosol (pressurized) cans should not be punctured but put in the hole intact.
4. Glass and metal containers should be opened and put in the hole tilted down to allow drainage. The glass should not be broken.
5. Bags and boxes should be buried intact.
6. The hole should not be left open. It should be filled with three feet of dirt immediately.

Don't Flush Out

The only exception to the recommendations is if the water table on the property is less than five feet below the ground. In those cases, homeowners are asked to contact their local health departments for advice.

DDT and other toxic products should not be flushed down the toilet, poured down a drain, put in the garbage or trash can or taken to a public dump or landfill, the guidelines say.

A separate set of guidelines is contained for agricultural, commercial and municipal users in burying of large quantities of DDT:

They include:

1. Select a site at least six feet above the highest groundwater table in an area not likely to be used for crops or building purposes. The site should be at least 300 feet from any well or surface body of water including lakes, streams, ponds and drainage ditches.
2. Dig a hole deep enough to cover the insecticides and containers with three feet of soil.
3. Open containers of liquids before placing them in the hole so as to permit drainage of the insecticide from the containers.
4. Place bags or cartons containing wettable powder or dusts in the hole intact.
5. Fill in the hole with soil immediately.

Products — particularly those in 30 and 55 gallon drum lots— also can be disposed of by contacting the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' field offices, which will take them to central collection facilities.

Fireman Dies At The Wheel

HOUGHTON (AP) — A fire truck driver collapsed and died at the wheel Tuesday night as the vehicle sped to a blaze.

Fireman Richard Verran, 49, a volunteer with the Hurontown Fire Department, slumped over the wheel and the fire truck ran into a ditch and crashed. No ohter firemen aboard the truck were injured.

The truck was en route to a blaze at the site of an old mill near Freda, about 12 miles west of Houghton.

After the crash, which disabled the truck, the Houghton Fire Department dispatched one of its trucks to fight the flames.

Open Meetings For Universities, Colleges: Kelley

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley Wednesday said he thought that governing boards of state supported colleges and universities should adopt an open door policy for formal meetings.

Private or executive sessions are "rarely necessary," Kelley added.

"And the spirit of our Constitution, the tradition of our democracy, and the need for public access to the workings of public institutions and agencies compel the conclusion they (closed door sessions) should be actively discouraged," he said.

Kelley issued the opinion at the request of Rep. Philip O. Pittenger, R-Lansing.

Some criticism has been leveled at the Michigan State University Board of Trustees for meeting in secret to formulate policies and then granting approval at formal meetings with little or no debate.

Sources said Kelley's opinion could not force the boards to discontinue private meetings. Rather, sources said, it simply could be viewed as the voice of a high official calling for open meetings.
